SMITHFIELD, Jan. 31.—The handsome new home of Congregational and Mrs. E. W. Pond was thrown open to members of the Bridge club and a few others recently when Mrs. Pond delightfully entertained in honor of Miss Sarah Sanders, whose engagement to Mr. William Bailey Jones, of Raleigh, was recently announced. The drawing room, living room and dining room were thrown together and spring flowers gave the needed touch to complete a perfect setting for the nine tables placed for bridge.

Bridge was played for some time, the highest score being made by Mrs. E. E. Wright. Mrs. Troy Myatt was presented the trophy. At the close of the game the hostess served delicious refreshments, consisting of creamed chicken, sliced tomatoes, saltines and hot tea.

THEATRICAL

"THE FLIRT" TODAY

There is a new photoplay at the Grand theatre this week that will appeal to everyone. It is a film drama story, "The Flirt," with which thousands are familiar, as the book was one of the best sellers of its period. This picture is especially recommended for:

Girls like Cora who think that it doesn't hurt to flirt if you don't flirt to hurt.
Fathers like John Madison, who are headed for the poorhouse with the family in high gear.
Mothers like Mrs. Madison, who would rather do the work herself than fight about it.

"The Flirt" was filmed at Universal City under the direction of Hobart Henley. It is offered by Carl Laemmle as the year's most appealing blend of laughter and tears, and lives up to all its advance notices. It boasts a real all-star cast, including Eileen Percy as the flirting Cora, Helen Jerome Eddy as the elder sister, George Nichols as the father, Lydia Knott as the mother, Buddy Messenger, the wonder-boy of the screen as the pesky kid brother, and Nell Craig, Tom Kennedy, Harold Goodwin, Lloyd Whitlock, Bert Roach, Edward Hearn, Dorothea Wolgeat and William Welsh in other roles.

"His Bridal Night" is playing. A picture that will keep you smiling from start to finish, with a star that will fascinate you and a story that will thrill you, can be seen on today at the Royal theatre, where Alice Brady, in "His Bridal Night," is playing.

"His Bridal Night" is one of the lightest little farces the screen has seen in some time. Miss Brady in the dual role of Vi and Tiny Playfair, twins, reaches the zenith of her screen acting. Never has she done more natural or enthusiastic work. She is real, vivid, living. With her spontaneity and irresistible personality, her characterization of Vi, the gay, heartless little flirt, is superb. And as Tiny, the demure, faithful soul, she is equally as splendid.

Edward Earle and James Crane lend Miss Brady excellent support, and Kenneth Webb, with his splendid direction, has done his share toward making the picture the success it is.

"OMAR THE TENTMAKER" However staid and prosaic a person may appear on the surface, he or she succumbs to the fascination which the Orient holds for the Occidental. Oriental tales have been in vogue through all the centuries, increasing rather than receding in popularity.

Ah, love, could you and I with him conspire;
To grasp the sorry scheme of things entire!

Would we not shatter it to bits and then—remould it, nearer to the heart's desire!

Scene from "THE FLIRT" UNIVERSAL-JEWEL PICTURE WITH AN ALL-STAR CAST

Tully, its author, which is coming to the Grand theatre on Monday, is a story of the Persia of old, when that country was conceded to be the center of civilization, the home of romance, luxury and adventure. The central figure is Omar the Tentmaker, whose fame has descended to us and whose Rukhshat is still classed as a masterpiece of literature and philosophy.

Around this captivating personage Mr. Tully has woven a drama that is irresistible in its appeal to the lovers of tales of the Orient, and Mr. Post gives us a characterization of Omar that has been characterized a histrionic masterpiece.

"RIP VAN WINKLE" "Rip Van Winkle," the newest Hodgkinson release, which opened last night at the Victoria theatre, where it will fulfill a two-day engagement, is a picture which will certainly delight every type of theatregoer, for it contains every single element that makes for success.

There is comedy, clean, fast-moving, side-splitting, and tense drama to hold you engrossed. The choice of players was a singularly fortunate one, for each artist is admirably suited to his or her role.

Thomas Jefferson as "Rip" gives a masterful performance—one which attitles him to a place beside Joseph Downing—"The Miracle Man" of illustrious memory—or Frank Bacon, of "Lightnin'" fame. And his supporting cast, which includes Milla Davenport, Pietro Sosso, Francis Carpenter—the child actor—Max Asher and Daisy Robinson is almost equally gifted.

As the whole world knows, "Rip Van Winkle" was written by Washington Irving. For many years "Joe" Jefferson played it upon the stage and now Thomas Jefferson, his son, under the masterful direction of Ward Lascelle, has given the screen a characterization which will long endure. Great credit is due Mr. Jefferson for his splendid work. Ward Lascelle, who produced and directed the picture, and the Hodgkinson organization, who released it.

SEVERE PAINS AND SO WEAK

Florida Lady Says She Suffered Greatly, But Found That Cardui Helped Her, and She Got "Stout and Well."

Dady, Fla.—"For a long time I had trouble each month, and suffered a great deal, evidently some womanly weakness," says Mrs. E. E. Pagett, who resides here on Route 1. "I would have very severe pains down on each side and across my back, and feel so weak I would have to lie down, and then have a bad headache.

I knew there was trouble somewhere and with all the doctoring I had done, I didn't get relief. Teas and such did not reach my trouble, so I decided to take Cardui.

"I found as the time came around, the pain was less, but I kept on till I took six bottles. I am stout and well . . . and give Cardui all the praise."

Thousands of other women praise Cardui, for beneficial results.

Cardui is a mild, harmless, vegetable tonic medicine, found valuable in the treatment of many common womanly ailments. If you suffer as many women do, don't let your troubles run on without doing anything for yourself. Take Cardui. Since it has helped so many, Cardui may be of valuable assistance to you in regaining your health.
