MRS. O'KEEFE WILL PLAY
The recital at Trinity church this afternoon will be by Mrs. H. E. O'Keefe, organist, and Mrs. E. S. Cellins, soprano, both of the Trinity church choir. The standard already sat by these Sunday afternoon recitals will be fully maintained by these two artists, judging from the selections which they have made for this service. It is of particular interest to note It is of particular interest to note that Handel's Messiah, which stands afternoon wil lbe by Mrs. H. E. O'Keefe, sented when Mrs. Collins will sing the soprano solo, "Come Unto Him," from that great oratorio. Mrs. Collins' second number will be "Eye Hath Not Seen," by Gaul. Mrs. Collins' voice is especially adapted to the singing of especially adapted to the singing of these parts. Her training with Harlowe F. Dean at Hillsdale college in her home state of Michigan placed her at the forefront of her associates.

At that time Mrs Collins was soloist of the college church choir composed of 50 voices and toured southern Michigan in the same capacity with the college glee club. Later she was prom-inent as a church soloist in Oakland, California. While Mrs. Collins has not been in Wilmington very long, her singing at Trinity church has attracted much favorable attention.

Mrs. O'Keefe has played in most of the larger churches and her many friends are looking forward with pleasure to hearing her again this aftrnoon. This recital is the fourth of the series and wil lbe at 4 o'clock. As previously stated, no collection is taken at these services.

The full program follows: Psalm 135. Gloria.
