RECITAL AT TRINITY WAS ENJOYED SCORES

Before an audience which filled Trinity Methodist church, Mrs. H. E. O'Keef and Mrs. E. S. Collins, organist and soprano soloist, respectively, of Trinity, presented a program that was replete with favorite melodies, in a manner to satisfy the most exacting hearer. After the 135th Psalm had been read for consolation by the pastor of Trinity church and the assembled congregation, Mrs. O'Keef opened the musical program with Spence's Grand Choeur, an inspiring and vigorous festival prelude, played in a manner best described as masculine for want of a better word. Following "Eve Hatch Nor Seem" from Gault's "Holy City," in unison with the DuBols "Toccata," in which Mrs. O'Keef displayed technical agility and a musical appreciation of the theme DuBols wrote in and through the rapidly moving allegro.

Mrs. Collins then sang "Eve Hatch Nor Seem" from Gault's "Holy City," in unison with the DuBols "Toccata," in which Mrs. O'Keef displayed technical agility and a musical appreciation of the theme DuBols wrote in and through the rapidly moving allegro.

The other organ numbers, the Bach Pastorale, Silent Night, and the Pilgrims Chorus, were played with fine and beautiful rendition was outstanding. Two very exacting soprano solos were chosen by the singer, and the rendition was truly satisfying. Mrs. Collins is a comparatively recent acquisition to the Trinity church, and she has been glad to have secured her as its soloist.

Household Suggestions

It Serves For Soup

The liquid in which salt beef is boiled will not be too salty for soup if you will leave two or three carrots in it until cold. They will absorb the salt so that when it is reheated and the necessary vegetables added the seasoning will be just about right.

Vinegar Kills Odor

The disagreeable odor which accompanies the cooking of cabbage may be eliminated by boiling a small amount of vinegar on the back of the stove while the vegetable is being cooked.

Soda Saves Time

It will not be necessary to soak navy or shelled beans overnight if you will just add a little baking soda when they are cooking. They will be soft in about half the usual time.

Making Liquid Soap

Instead of throwing scraps of soap away when they become too small to use, collect them in a jar, cover with water and stand in the oven until the soap is melted. Excellent liquid soap is the result.

East Carolina Man Describes Experiences in Brazilian Wilderness

KINSTON, March 4.—In the heart of the Brazilian wilderness, the Rev. A. S. Maxwell, a missionary in that country from Duplin county, N. C., spent six weeks reaching a hospital point last fall, according to an account printed in a church publication, which has reached relatives in the section south of here.

Mr. Maxwell is extensively related in this part of North Carolina. Stationed at Lavras, Brazil, near the coast, he was sent thousands of miles on a trip which lasted more than seven months, and on which he crossed Brazil into Bolivia. He studied Indian tribes and gathered information for missionary purposes.

"Many Indians, and many as nude as they were born," were seen by the minister on his expedition into sections which had seen few white men before him. "I took many pictures," he wrote, "but fear they will not be presentable. However, I could not undertake to clothe the natives."

He had crossed the country and was returning when he took ill. His sickness was the "severe malaria that prevails in North Brazil." He had to let his companions leave him, 500 miles from the point at which they started. "I could not ride in the saddle any farther. I lost much weight, became skin and bones. My hands looked like a dead man's; I could walk only a few steps and could scarcely keep from falling." He employed a man to take him in a boat to a hospital. The boatman's friends warned that the white man would die on the way.

"We started for the hospital on the 10th of October. We arrived there on the 23rd of November. We had to make about 800 miles. The first river we descended was almost without inhabitance. We had to make a dug-out. It was about like the hog troughs back in Duplin county, North Carolina. The river current was strong and there were many tree trunks in the way. At one point we passed there was run for sale, and my man Friday must have some. The result was that he became talkative and our boat was drifting here and there."

Warned by the minister that he must stop drinking, the native "became angry and threatened to leave Mr. Maxwell in the dug-out. At one point the couple did not leave the canoe for three days and nights, because of savage Indians on the shores. Sleep and food were out of the question. We were not attacked, however. Five days before we passed, they made two attacks. They did not kill anyone, but Brazilians killed some of them." The Tar Heel missionary's stamina prevailed, and he was improving in health even before he reached the hospital.

Mr. Maxwell's letter printed in the church paper, reached this country recently after he had returned to civilization in the coastal region of Brazil. He had traveled many thousand miles through the jungle, swamps and mountains of South America.

MONDAY
His Love Embraces All

"I have compassion on the multitude," Mark 8:2.
Read Mark 8:1-13.
"Love when once kindled travels far, but it must first be kindled."
MEDITATION: It is hard to follow Jesus in his love for unlovely people; but God loves them and to be a true child of God, I too must love them, not in sentiment only, but actively, that they become worthy of his love.

Harding Signs Farm Credit Bill Provisions

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The composite farm credits measure finally passed the senate and house in the closing hours of the session was signed today by President Harding.

One of the last measures to be enacted by the 67th Congress, the measure was rushed to the White House, after final senate action early today and the President affixed his signature before going to the capitol to sign the flood of last minute bills. Secretary Wallace went to the White House to see the bill receive the final touch which made it a law.

Besides providing two new systems for agricultural credit—the government financed federal intermediate banks and the privately owned "national agricultural credit corporation," the measure provides for extension of the war finance corporation until March 31, 1924, and provides for a joint congressional inquiry into methods of increasing the membership on banks in the federal reserve system.

Five members of the house banking committee were appointed to the investigating committee, but the senate, in the final rush, failed to name its members. The house appointees were Chairman McFadden, Representative Dale, Vermont, and Strong, Kansas, Republicans, and Wingo, Arkansas, and Steagall, Alabama, Democrats.

Old Time Printer Goes to Final Rest

Funeral services for W. S. Royster, one of the best known citizens of the city, who died in his 75th year Saturday at the James Walker Memorial hospital where he was taken suffering with pneumonia, were held yesterday afternoon from Topp's undertaking parlors, 412 Market, taking place in Bellevue cemetery before a large crowd of sorrowing friends who were present to pay their last respects to the deceased. Odie B. Hinnant conducted the services.

Mr. Royster was an old-time printer, being connected with the Morning Star under the regime of Maj. W. H. Bernard, when that paper was gotten out under the old hand-set methods. Later he was with the Wilmington Messenger, when that "sheet" was published by Jackson & Bell, and subsequently worked in a number of job shops in the city.

He is survived by a wife and a number of out-of-town relatives, several of whom attended the funeral here yesterday. Pallbearers were W. H. Register, J. H. Hewlett, Pal Vaughn, Sr., H. D. Stanland, J. B. Fales and C. H. Hubbard.

Grippe

Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against Grippe or Influenza.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.
