Theatrical

"IT'S A BOY"—ACADEMY Success isn't a matter of environment. It's a question of hitting the right thing and sticking to it until the little old bell of achievement is ringing. That is one of the many homey homilies forcibly driven home by the brilliant William Anthony McGuire comedy success, "It's a Boy," fresh from Broadway, and the offering of the Pickett Stock company at the Academy with the regular performances Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"It's a Boy" was hailed as a distinct event in theatrical circles when it was produced at the Harris theatre, as the season's opener, by Sam H. Harris who has been called the shrewdest picker of real stage entertainment that this country has today. Overnight, "It's a Boy" became a hit. It had in it an almost limitless fund of rollicking comedy cleverly balanced with those touches of sentiment and quiet but nevertheless genuine drama that modern audiences look for in the plays they like.

The story of the play is woven about a young couple who have made moderate success in Carbonate, Pa. The husband has a "Five and Ten Cent Store" and plans to open another in a neighboring town. The wife has "ideas" and "aspirations." She's a regular modern American girl. The youngest arrives. The first and a boy at that. Instantly, the future becomes of far more import than it ever was before. Father must climb in order that "their son" might have everything.

Opportunity, in the person of Pendleton, knocking at the Blake's door. His rap is distinct. He offers to buy Blake's stores and give him a ten thousand dollar job in New York. Blake isn't so sure about it. Mrs. Blake is. And so off they go to better things in the big city. To go any further in the adventures of the two Blakes and their offspring will be a really delightful evening that is ahead of you.

Tickets for "It's a Boy" are available at Elvington Drug store. Better get yours now.

DOES THE OLD BUS SKIP, KNOCK ON HILLS, USE EXCESSIVE GAS AND OIL, LACK POWER AND PEP?
If so, it's not to be wondered at when you stop to figure out that the pistons on your car travel up and down 1,000 to 3,000 times per hour.
150,000 PER HOUR
Just imagine what that means in going 15,000 miles. Other parts on your car wear under such usage, why not the cylinder walls? It's just "horse sense." Two surfaces in constant friction with one another. Wear. New cylinders and rings without grinding the bore are useless for you cannot fit a round ring in an oval hole. THE ONLY LASTING CURE is to regrind the cylinders and fit with new pistons and rings. We are experts at this work. Call us on the phone or drop in our shop and we will give you all the dope.

OFFICERS DESTROY SIX STILLS DURING ONE DAY IN CRAVEN

One Plant Has Capacity of 260 Gallons; Only One Arrest Is Made.

(Special to The Star)
NEW BERN, March 9.—Returning to New Bern late last night with an automobile bulging with the remains of a dozen copper stills, Sheriff J. D. Williams and posse of deputy sheriffs brought back an account and the evidence of the biggest wholesale raid that has been made in Craven county since the campaign to enforce prohibition was started.

Sheriff Williams and Deputies James Bryan, Will Whitford and W. L. Harris left New Bern at 7 o'clock in the morning and after a solid day spent in ranging the North Harlowe section between Cahooke and Clubfoot creeks, 17 miles east of here, by auto and on foot checked in last night with six moonshine stills with a total capacity of 600 gallons, and a report of the destruction of several truck loads of vats and other equipment and 14,000 gallons of beer.

The first prize of the day was taken shortly after 11 o'clock when a 60-gallon outfit was discovered after the officers had seen its smoke curling up out of the woods. The plant was running at full blast and nearby were barrels containing about 2,000 gallons of beer ready for the run. The still was cut up and the beer poured out, and as the officers started for their machine they met two negroes. One of them, a white man, named "aged darkey," was arrested but let off on bond, the sheriff said.

Two more plants were raided and the officers sat down for dinner, which they had carried with them on the gallies. The second one was a 80-gallon affair, two miles down the creek from the first prize. As the officers approached they saw two negroes at the still, but they had a good lead and took advantage of it, dropping parts of their plant they were attempting to escape with when Deputy Harris opened fire on them. It was here that the only liquor in any quantity was seen during the entire day. Sheriff Williams said, and it was lost when one of the negroes kicked against a wooden candy bucket containing 10 minutes later another plant of the same capacity was found about a quarter of a mile away. Here also was a large quantity of beer, but no signs of the operators.

It was after dinner that the officers made the big haul of the day. In one spot they found three giant outfits and 17 wooden vats containing not less than 7,000 gallons of mash, according to the sheriff's estimate. There were 140 gallons capacity. Evidently the operators had caught the signals that had been flying thick and fast up and down county roads and through the woods during the morning, for the caps and copper worms had been carted off and dumped in a swamp three quarters of a mile away, and here the officers found them after trailing the cart through the woods.

Railroad Earnings In January Take a Jump

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Railroad earnings during January were more than twice those in January, 1922, according to tabulations of Interstate Commerce commission reports made public by the Association of Railway Executives. They amounted to $60,654,700, against $29,485,000 last year, and reported, the association's statement said, an income of 5.54 per cent annually on the value of property investment in transportation service.

The returns include practically all the class one carriers, this group including the corporations which own 90 per cent of all the country's rail mileage. The earnings resulted from a record-breaking increase of business.

Special Notices (16)

VALENTINO NEXT WEEK
Paramount has been particularly generous in the cast of "The Young Rajah," the picture attraction at the Grand theater next week. Not only is the star role assumed by Rodolph Valentino, who has achieved lately one of the most sensational star successes since movies were known, but the other parts are interpreted by stars and near-stars.

Valentino has the role of a breezy young American college hero who is a Hindu prince of royal blood. The girl he loves is interpreted by that piquant blonde, Wanda Hawley, a popular Paramount player. Miss Hawley will be remembered for her work recently as the heroine lead in "Daring Sands." She is a capable actress and very easy to gaze upon.

Charlie Ogle, who shares honors with Theodore Roberts as one of the screen's most popular veteran characters, has a big part as a kindly old New Englander who adopts "Amos Judd," the role played by Valentino. Fanny Midgeley, one of the best known screen "mothers," is Ogle's "wife" in this picture.

Erthra Gray, the suave villain of Ethel Clayton's "For the Defense" and other successes requiring an exotic style of "dirty work," has the chief "heavy" role. J. Farrell Macdonald, recently seen as Betty Compson's "dad" in "Over the Border" and "The Bonded Woman," is Grassby's companion in villainy.
