

THEATRICAL

"THE TIGER'S CLAW"
Jack Holt's latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Tiger's Claw," is being shown with great success at the Grand theatre last evening. The scenes of this splendid production are laid in India, where Mr. Holt as Sam Sandell is employed as an engineer. Mr. Holt is clawed by a tiger and the tiger of the tropics takes hold of him. In his recovery, a band of Thugs wishing to drive the white people from their country, plot against him and would succeed were it not for the intervention of Sandell's native wife who tells him of the plot. The woman is killed and Sandell, who loves the daughter of his employer, is free to marry her, but not until many thrilling incidents take place, among them the blowing up of the huge dam, which Sandell has built. This is a fitting climax for one of the fastest moving productions seen here in many a way. Eva Novak heads a strong supporting cast. Harry Semon in "The Agent," also mastered a big hit.

"TOP O' THE MORNING"
For "Top O' the Morning," the Universal attraction starring Gladys Walton at the Royal theatre today, Edward Laemmle, who directed the picture, discovered somewhere in Southern California a little stone cottage and farmyard that fairly, smacked of County Kerry, Ireland. He used the ranch exactly as he found it for the Irish scenes in "Top O' the Morning," adapted to the screen by George Raft, Ralph Chester and Wallace Clifton from the play by Anne Caldwell. The simplicity of "Top O' the Morning" is its very attraction, while the delightful romance that threads its way throughout helps make this latest Universal production a love story that is different. Gladys Walton does highly emotional work in this, her latest starring role. The little star has become an emotional actress over night in spite of the fact that but a short time ago she was looked upon only as a comedienne.

Devoid of problems sermons or a moral to expound, "Top O' the Morning" is a real treat.

"TO HAVE AND TO HOLD"
The management of the Grand theatre begs to announce the presentation at that playhouse for three days beginning Monday next, of George Fitzmaurice's superb Paramount production, "To Have and To Hold," one of the most beautiful and romantic pictures ever screened.

Betty Compson, Paramount star, and Bert Lytell, well known stage favorite, are featured, the former appearing as the ward of King James I. of England, and the latter as a soldier adventurer of Virginia in the early seventeenth century. The supporting cast includes many well known Paramount Stock company players.

The story of "To Have and To Hold" has great dramatic power, irresistible heart appeal and in its development, Indian attacks, and encounters with pirates. No one can see this splendid photoplay without visualizing most profitably the scenes attending the settlement of Virginia. This is a picture you cannot afford to ignore.

Butler Will Conclude Lyceum Course Tonight

Noted Singer to Appear in Concert at Baptist Church

Charlie Butler, known throughout the south as one of its sweetest singers and who numbers his admirers by the thousands, will present one of his sunshine and song programs this evening in the annex auditorium of the First Baptist church, as the final number of the lyceum course.

With Mr. Butler comes his wife, who as a soprano soloist has made quite a reputation for herself on the concert stage, and Julia Holloway, a talented young pianist, who bids fair to go far in the musical world.

Mr. Butler was left a cripple by a lingering sickness. When he was able to be carried about in a rolling chair they took him to a meeting where Catherine Booth was preaching. When she finished her discourse, she called on Charlie to sing. He was too weak to stand, but they raised him so that he could lean on his crutches where he sang the third stanza of "I Am Bound for the Promised Land." When they raised him down, Catherine Boothe came, placed her hand on his head, saying: "Young man, your work is not finished, you must sing for thousands yet." It has been literally true. When war was declared and millions of boys were gathered in training camps, though a cripple, he donned the khaki, lived among them and brightened their lives with song and story.

The Butler Musical trio in their concert tonight will render a variety program, which will appeal to everyone

I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them, and after using three cakes of Soap, with the Ointment, I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Lora Herrington, R. 6, Union, Miss.
