JACOBI-MARKS
NEW BERN, April 24.—A message received today by relatives brought news of the marriage in Washington, D. C., this morning of Marcus Jacobi, of Wilmington, N. C., and Mrs. Ella Marks of this city. After a bridal tour of several weeks they will make their home in Wilmington.

The bride has been prominent in social circles here and especially active in Woman's Club work as chairman of the civics department. She has also held the chairmanship of the state federation of Women's Clubs. Mr. Jacobi is a well-known business man and is head of N. Jacobi and Son hardware company in Wilmington.

NOTICE TO GIRL SCOUTS
 The tree planting that was to be held Wednesday afternoon, April 25, at the Sorosis club, has been postponed.

Mrs. William G. James will be hostess at the Saturday Afternoon Bridge party at the country club. Those desiring tables will please call Mrs. James, telephone 1724.

BRILLIANT WEDDING IN CRAVEN CAPITAL

NEW BERN, April 24.—Christ Episcopal church was the scene of a brilliant and impressive wedding Saturday evening when Miss Susan G. Gulon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gulon, became the bride of David Rawlings Morris.

The historic old church was lovely for the occasion with its bowers of palms, ferns, lilies and dogwood. Lighted cathedral candles cast their soft glow over the altar and chancel, the aisles and steps leading up to the altar being covered with white cloth.

Starting at 8:45 o'clock, Mrs. Garrison A. Farrow, sister of the groom, rendered several enjoyable organ selections, and promptly at 9 Mrs. John Gulon sang "Beloved, 'Tis Morn'" by Aylward. The bridal chorus from "The Rose Maiden" by Cowen, was sung by the large vested choir, and the violin obligata played by Elmer Prunier, then Miss Fannie Louis Neal of Laurinburg sang "Framer Perfect" by Stenson.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bride party entered and took their places at the chancel, the ushers, William M. Bryan, Ralph Hunter Smith and William B. Blades, preceding. Following them were the bridesmaids, cousins of the bride, Miss Helen Gulon in salmon chiffon, and Miss Elsie Warren of Snow Hill, in silk cream lace. Both carried arm bouquets of pink and gold snapdragons. The groomsmen were W. B. R. Gulon and G. Allen Lives, and following them, entering alone by the center aisle, was the maid of honor, Miss Laura Ives, gowned in gold satin with lace and carrying Premier roses. Mrs. T. P. Williams, sister of the bride, came next as dame of honor, wearing orchid taffeta and carrying Premier roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was becomingly attired in handsome wedding gown of ivory satin with court train, embroidered in pearls, with orange blossoms. Her veil was of real lace, net, and orange blossoms, arranged coronet style, and she carried a corsage bouquet of brides roses and valley lilies.

At the approach of the bride the groom, accompanied by the best man, Garrison Farrow, preceded by the officier, W. R. Gulon, Jr., brother of the bride, carrying the cross, and the Rev. Thomas C. Darst, bishop of the diocese of east Carolina, who performed the ceremony, entered the church auditorium from the vestry. The betrothal service took place at the chancel steps, the marriage and ring ceremony at the altar following. During the ceremony, Mrs. Farrow softly played Schubert's Serenade, and Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as the recessional.

Immediately after the wedding an elaborate reception was given at the future home of the couple on Middle street by the bride's parents. The house was attractively decorated with southern smilax, pine, bamboo and myriads of lovely spring flowers. Lighted white tapers added to the radiance of the parlors.

Little Betsy Williams and Blanche Farrow opened the door for the guests John Gulon, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Howell, who were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. and Mr. and Mrs. J. Curtis Bagg, and introduced to the receiving line by Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Whitehurst and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Richardson.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gulon, Mr. and Mrs. David R. Morris, Mrs. B. R. Morris, Bishop Darst, Mrs. T. P. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Farrow, Miss Laura Ives, W. B. Blades, Miss Ellen Gulon, G. Allen Ives, W. M. Bryan, Miss Elsie Warren, Ralph Hunter Smith and W. B. E. Gulon. Miss Jane Stewart and Miss Mattie

Griffin invited the guests into the dining room which was especially pretty in its decorations of pink and white. The center table was artistically arranged with a statue of two miniature lovers. Fern, cut flowers and candles in tall candlesticks lent a touch of beauty to the room. Here delicious ice cream, cake and mints were served by Mr. and Mrs. James Eryan, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Smallwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Anderson, Miss Dail, Miss Nettie Carol Daniels, Miss Gertrude Carraway, Miss Amy Williams and Miss Amy Warren of Snow Hill.

The punch room was also attractive with its abundance of pine, bamboo, pink and white flowers, and white candies. Punch was served by Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Hand, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Gulon, Mrs. William Dunn, Mrs. R. E. Knowles, Mrs. William Potter of Boston, and Miss Fannie Louis Neal of Laurinburg.

The gift room was resplendent with hundreds of handsome presents received by the popular couple, and here presided Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Marks, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mengel, Miss Dottie Hyman, Miss Catherine Lefterts and Charles L. Ives, Jr., and Sam W. Ferber, Jr.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Morris left on the midnight train for New York and other northern cities, Mrs. Morris wearing a dark blue traveling suit with hat and accessories to match. After May 1 they will be at home at 167 Middle street.

The bride is among the city's most charming young women and has a wide circle of friends throughout the city. Mrs. Morris is a successful young business woman and holds the position of manager of the Automotive Service company here.

Miss Edwina Keever a charming bride-elect whose marriage to Mr. John Leathern, of New York City, will take place in May, was delightfully entertained at six tables of bridge on Saturday afternoon by Miss Martha Dreher and Miss Maude Bissinger at the home of the latter.

Miss Keever is the accomplished daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Keever, formerly of Cambridge, Mass. Dr. Keever is now pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church in this city.

A delicious collation was served after which Mrs. Conrad Wessell was presented with top score prize, an oriental perfume novelty and hidden in the large florist's box underneath the miniature brides' bouquet were lovely gifts from those present.

The guests included: Misses Edwina Keever, Johanna Rehder, Marie Dreher, Catherine Rulfs, Emilie Bissinger, Dorothy Vollers, Mary Sheppard, Grace Shepard, Gladys Polwight, Lucille Merritt, Margaret Schulken, Margaret Bremer, Isabel Wessell, Mesdames: Louis Hanson, Conrad Wessell, Fred Bank, Carl Pick, W. C. Yarborough, John Bullwinkle, of Charleston, S. C., Sam Behrends, Jr., K. H. Parker, J. H. Dreher and F. A. Bissinger.

DANCE ON BRIDGE OF ROSANDRA LAST NIGHT

Capt. Roberts de Raya and officers of the Italian steamer Rosandra entertained about 20 guests last night aboard the vessel at a dance given upon the bridge deck.

The vessel, which is the largest that has ever made this port, was attractively decorated, and all in attendance thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment of the evening.

Because of the inclemency of the weather, an awning was placed above the deck, so that the rain did not interfere with the dancing.

Delicious refreshments were served during the entertainment, and every member of the party apprized Captain de Raya and the members of his staff the most hospitable of host.

Is Champion House Cleaner

"Your medicine is certainly the greatest cleaner I ever saw. I never thought such stuff could be in a human being. I am feeling ten years younger since taking the course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and telling everybody it is the champion house cleaner. My bloating in stomach and pains are all gone and I can eat anything." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—adv.

Worried With a Bad Back?

Is a lame, aching back keeping you miserable? Are you tortured with sharp, stabbing pains. Feel weak, tired "all-played-out"? Then look to your kidneys, for these are common signs of kidney weakness. There may be headaches and dizziness, too, with annoying bladder irregularities. Don't risk serious kidney sickness. Help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here's a Wilmington case: Mrs. G. H. Alford, 307 N. 6th St., says: "I suffered with my back and it nearly had me pined out. Mornings I felt tired. My back was stiff and lame and had a time getting around. My head felt heavy and at times I had dizzy spells. My kidneys didn't act right, but Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

RED SPRINGS SCHOOL RECEIVES NEW BOOKS

Contest Just Closed Results in Library Being Appreciably Increased

(Special to the Star.)

RED SPRINGS, April 24.—As a result of a heated contest which has just closed in behalf of their library, the pupils of the Philadelphia farm-life high school threbled the number of volumes required for a state-accredited high school library by adding to their reading room one thousand new books, which are worth easily as many dollars.

The offer of Superintendent J. L. Memory, Jr., to give a five-dollar gold piece to the student bringing books of the greatest value to the library promoted considerable rivalry. Misses Julia Ashley and Irene McGirt, having tied for honors in the contest, each received the much-coveted golden trophy. Among the books brought were all of O. Henry, Shakespeare, Tennyson, Milton, and Victor Hugo. But perhaps the most valuable collection is John Lord's "Beacon Lights on the History of the World," in fifteen beautifully bound volumes.

ANOTHER KINSTON FIRE

KINSTON, April 24.—Fire which destroyed a cotton gin on the farm of Carl Stroud, a short distance south of here Sunday night, is believed to have been of incendiary origin. The damage was $2,500, with $500 insurance. The gin had been partially dismantled. Frame buildings close by were threatened with destruction. A bucket brigade, confined the flames to the gin.
