

MONUMENT WILL MARK PLACE OF ARCTIC TRAGEDY

Bronze Tablet Erected in Memory of Sixteen Men Who Lost Their Lives.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A bronze tablet in memory of 16 officers and men of the United States army who died of starvation and exposure in the Arctic in 1884 is now on the way to Cape Sabine, Ellesmere Land, where it will be placed at the scene of one of the most tragic disasters in the history of American Arctic exploration, the refuge camp of the Greely expedition.

Gave Lives to Aid Science. On the tablet is inscribed: "To the memory of the dead, who gave their lives to ensure the final and complete success of the first scientific co-operation of the United States with other nations—1881-1884."

The tablet is being erected by the National Geographical society and will be placed during the present summer by Donald MacMillan, Arctic explorer and Lieutenant of Peary on the voyage which resulted in the discovery of the North Pole.

A bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society describes the region of Cape Sabine and the hardships encountered there.

"Though Cape Sabine is itself very far within the permanently cold regions, and throughout most of the year is a bleak region of rock and ice, it was not the northernmost base of the Greely expedition," says the bulletin. "That was at Lady Franklin bay near the northern tip of Ellesmere Land, Cape Sabine, some 800 miles to the south, was the closest point to civilization to which Greely was able to take his men, when they retreated southward after two promised annual relief expeditions failed to reach them."

Worked On In Face of Death.

There, in a temperature far below zero, with practically no fuel, and with provisions sufficient for only a few weeks, the party fought for life through the winter and spring of 1883-84. Their sufferings, both physical and mental, were acute. They grew too weak to hunt successfully and attempted to keep themselves alive on scraps of old sealskin and rock lichens. One after another, sickened and died, but still the survivors kept up faithfully the scientific observations for which they had been sent to the Arctic. The original party of 23 men was reduced to seven when, on June 22, 1884, they were rescued by the Albatross. One of the survivors, who had been kept up by the strongest could hardly walk in stumbling fashion. But the scientific records, which added greatly to the world's geographic knowledge, had been carefully kept until 48 hours before the rescue.

The expedition, with another in Alaska, represented the United States in scientific work, in which ten governments took part by making simultaneous observations at a series of stations around the North Pole.

SENATOR NEELEY ATTACKS TYRANNY OF STEEL TRUST

Says 12-Hour Day Makes Slaves of Men For Industry's Profit

NEW YORK, July 5.—The "tyranny of the steel industries" twelve-hour day" discussed by Senator M. M. Neeley of West Virginia, in an address at the international independence exercises at Tammany Hall, has caused a sensation. "According to estimates recently made," said Mr. Neeley, "there are 120,000 men now working 12 hours a day in the great steel mills of the United States."

"No drudgery of shackled African slave was ever more certainly injurious to health, destruction of nerves, or more deadly to all the worthwhile things of life than is the lamb in on trial," when did the matter of freeing slaves become a matter of feasibility? Shall we countenance the contention that the profits of an industry have preferential rights over enslaved humanity?"

"Christian men and women in authority are under the same obligation to prevent these wage earners from committing suicide by working themselves to death that a policeman is under to prevent a desperate man from cutting his throat."

DISTRICT GOVERNOR KIRKPATRICK TO BE HERE LADIES NIGHT

To Be Honored Guest of Wilmington Lions at Annual Banquet of Local Club

When the members of the Wilmington Lion's club celebrate Ladies' Night in the near future the honor guest on the occasion will be Col. T. L. Kirkpatrick, of Charlotte, governor of the Lions of North and South Carolina, according to a statement made at the regular luncheon of the local organization on yesterday afternoon by President Walter H. Blair, who declared that Colonel Kirkpatrick informed him at the International convention at Atlantic City that he would be delighted to be present on the occasion.

In making his report of the Atlantic City convention, President Blair was loud in his praise of the impression which the Carolina district governor made upon the delegates with the address which he delivered. The Wilmington club was officially represented at the convention by President Blair and Lion H. E. Longley. Past President M. O. Etnier was also there, and was a guest of the local Lions yesterday.

Members of the club refused to endorse the action of the chamber of commerce executive committee of a few days ago relative to the suggestion made as to securing an expert to investigate the feasibility of combining the city and county governments. The matter was tabled after President Blair had expressed an opinion that the matter was purely political, something the club should not have a part in.

Lion J. A. McNorton made an official report of the visit of the Lion committee upon Lyman Delano, executive vice president of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad. The official, Lion McNorton said, assured the committee that the railroad was favorable to the state port here, or anything also looking to the development of Wilmington. Lions Bishop and White were named a committee to confer with District Highway Commissioner W. A. McGirt relative to the proposed idea of turning over to the state highway commission the Market street ferry for operation.

Lion P. G. Laughridge was named to furnish entertainment at the next club meeting.

CAROLINA IMPORTS MAY BRING CAMPBELL'S HERE

Discrimination in Freight Rates Keeps Soup Manufacturers Out

The Carolina import company, a local concern, is in receipt of a letter from Joseph Campbell, the manufacturer of Campbell's soup, which gives the information as to why their shipments to this city are limited and lower than they should be. The soup company makes it plain that it is on account of higher freight rates here than at the other places which are used as Campbell distributing points.

Some time ago the local company wrote the Campbell company asking why less shipments were made to this point for distribution, and their reply was indicative that if the existing freight rates were removed they may use this city as a distributing point.

A copy of the letter follows: "Answering your letter of June 27, we are still carrying your name on our distributors list as our exclusive distributor in your city, but we regret to advise that there is little or no prospect of our being able to henceforth divert our Carolina business from Wilmington, since the direct freight rate from Philadelphia to this territory figures cheaper, also our freight rates from Norfolk would be cheaper than from Wilmington; so we are now confined to pooling shipments for distribution in your city, which cars are few and far between."

The Carolina import company intends to take the matter up further and in the event that suitable freight rates can be secured it is probable that Wilmington may be selected as distributing center for the Carolina distributing point for the Campbell soups.

GLYDE LINE TO GET TWO NEW STEAMSHIPS

For New York-Charleston-Jacksonville Run—Local Line Not to be Effected

M. M. Riley, local agent for the Clyde Steamship company, has been informed that his company is advertising for bids for the construction of two combination freight and passenger steamers to operate on the New York-Charleston-Jacksonville run as soon as they are completed in the fall of 1924.

Although the two new ships are to replace on the New York-Charleston-Jacksonville run the steamers Apache and Arapahoe, it is not believed by Agent Riley that the two freight steamers now operated on the New York-Wilmington-Brunswick run will in anyway be affected. In other words the business which the Clyde Line would receive would not justify the placing of passenger steamers on the local run, said Mr. Riley, and therefore the local agent is sure that the addition of more ships will not mean a change of vessels operated in and out of the port of Wilmington.

The combined-passenger carrying capacity of the new ships will be 494 people. The speed of the new boats will be 15 1/2 knots, and the cost of each vessel is estimated at approximately $2,000,000.

Well-Known Lynchburg Citizen Gains 35 Lbs. on Tanlac

"Three years ago Tanlac restored me to perfect health, with a gain of 35 pounds in weight and I've been feeling fine ever since," said W. M. Eubank, 200 Wall Street, Lynchburg, Va., popular floor manager of the Lynchburg City Market. "Flu and pneumonia left me so run down that I lost nearly three months from my work and was unfit to do anything. I had no appetite, what I did eat always caused gas to form on my stomach and I could hardly ever lie down at night without having awful suffocating spells. I was also extremely nervous and often had dizzy spells when everything would turn black before my eyes. Tanlac has put me back on my feet in such fine shape, I haven't missed a meal or a day from work in three years."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 87 million bottles sold.

CHURCH MUST FIGHT SOCIAL INJUSTICE

Underwood, of Atlanta, Tells Methodist Duty is to Amend Constitution

LAKE JUNALUSKA, July 5.—"The church has a more useful and important field in seeking to amend the constitution so that social injustices may be combated by legal means than to occupy its time with profitless controversies over dogmas and creeds or in fighting science or trying to find out who our ancestors were," E. Marvin Underwood, Atlanta, told the social service conference in the Methodist Episcopal church, south, here today. Mr. Underwood was counsel for the United States railroad administration and an assistant attorney general under the Wilson administration.
