

CHAMBER THANKED FOR AID IT GAVE CALHOUN HIGHWAY

Men at Cheraw, President Hanna Writes Will Visit Wilmington Soon

Louis T. Moore, secretary of the chamber of commerce, has received a letter from R. E. Hanna, president of the Calhoun Highway association, thanking him for the support that the chamber gave in the Calhoun highway movement.

The Calhoun highway extends from Athens, Ga., to Wilmington, Wilmington being the ocean terminus much interest is displayed in this movement.

The letter reads "my boys here at Cheraw, have been busily engaged in painting markers for the highway, and strange to relate, although it is the first experience with some of them, they are turning out very attractive work. It seems now to be an assured fact that Wilmington will provide necessary funds to have the boys visit them, and I am proceeding at once with plans as soon as I have heard from all the letters which I have written, with at least this contingent of boys may be given a trip to your city soon, followed by others as funds are made available."

SARASEN WINNER IN BIG GOLF TOURNEY WITH 148 STROKES

Had Lowest Card of Any of 18 Leaders in Field of 90

INWOOD, N. Y., July 9.—Gene Sarasen, black haired golf wizard of Briar Cliff lodge and present open champion, turned the difficult Inwood country club course twice today in 148 strokes, the lowest card of any of the 18 who led a field of 90 and qualified for the 1928 national open championship to be played Friday and Saturday. The field was the first of four that will attempt to qualify.

While many of the experts had predicted that the cards of 155 or under would be needed to qualify, those who negotiated the 36 holes in 160 today won places in the final 72 hole play. Emil Loeffler, of Pittsburgh, Pa., open champion set the first low mark for the others early in the afternoon, turning in a card of 152. This was equaled by Francis Gallett, the young Scotch professional of Port Washington, N. Y., who with Sarasen had led in the morning round with a 73, one over par.

Jack Hutchinson of Chicago, undaunted by early bad luck, or bad form as he chose to call it, changed his knickers before the afternoon round started and got in with a 152. Jack declared that every time he wore in the morning he became blind. They were blue and white checked.

Saraseen's low score came late in the afternoon when Abe Epinosa, the jaunty Californian, moved into second place with a 152. He was followed by a par in the morning and had a 77 in the afternoon. William Mehlhorn of St. Louis and William Creavy of Kansas City, had 154s. Leo Diegel of Washington, gathered a 155 after it appeared that he would be among the also golfs.

Saraseen's long and accurate driving and pitch shots accounted for his 36, one under par on the first nine in the morning. His putting was not at best, however, and this probably prevented him from setting a course record. He rimmed the cup several times going out and coming in but made the second nine in 37, two over par.

In the afternoon a stiff wind blew, making the course at least three strokes harder, and Saraseen found trouble in keeping his shots straight down the fairway. On the third hole, 522 yards long, he took a seven including three putts, after being in a trap to the left of the green. On the fourth and fifth holes Saraseen sank a putt of eight feet for a birdie four. At the fifth he had a chance to clip another stroke from par, but missed a putt of three feet.

The sixth hole gave the champion trouble all day. In both the morning and afternoon rounds he was in the green on his tee shots taking four on each occasion. On the last nine Saraseen was at his best, finishing with par 35.

Of the three amateurs who took part in the tournament today, Charles (Chick) Evans of Chicago, was the only survivor.

The 18 who qualified and their scores were:

- Gene Saraseen, New York, 148.
- Abe G. Epinosa, Oakland, Calif., 151.
- Jack Hutchinson, Chicago, 152.
- Francis Gallett, Port Washington, N. Y., 152.
- Emil Loeffler, Pittsburgh, 152.
- Wm. E. Mehlhorn, St. Louis, 154.
- W. M. Creavy, Kansas City, 154.
- Leo Diegel, Washington, 155.
- Fred Baroni, Coraoholla, Pa., 155.
- Jack Burns, St. Paul, 156.
- Eddie Williams, Peoria, Ill., 157.
- Charles (Chick) Evans, Chicago, 158.
- Fred Canausa, West Point, N. Y., 159.
- C. L. Booth, Putnam, Conn., 160.
- James West, Rockaway, N. Y., 160.

Wrangell Folks Cheer President When He Speaks On Policy

Says He is the 'Apostle of Understanding Representing World Need

Mrs. Harding Presented With Basket of Strawberries By Admirers

WRANGELL, Alaska, July 9.—(By Associated Press.)—President Harding, landing here today, greeting thousands of people of Wrangell and Petersburg, and in an address delivered from the steps of the Faren court house. Declared he came to Alaska "as an apostle of understanding" and wanted his administration to go down in history as "a period of understanding."

"That is what the world and the nation most need," the president declared.

The President was welcomed to Wrangell by the Rev. Mr. Divin, pastor of the Presbyterian church who introduced him to the cheering crowd. After the chief executive had concluded his address, Secretary of the Interior Work, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Hover, spoke briefly.

The party landed here this morning to find the town, once the chief trading station of the Hudson Bay Company decorated with flags and flooded with the sunshine of a perfect summer day. Here the party saw its first town totem poles. The President and Mrs. Harding were presented with a huge basket of strawberries, nearly twice the size of the berries they have been accustomed to in Washington, and a bouquet of mammoth peonies.

CUT DOWN ON BUMPER CROPS

Secretary Hoover finds that during the ten years before 1914 our production did not keep up with our consumption, and that our exportable surplus decreased to an average of 6,500,000 tons a year just before the war. In the ten years since, production has steadily increased, has provided for a 13,000,000 increase of population and has brought our exportable surplus up to about 17,000,000 tons per annum. This has been done with a declining farm population compared with the country's growth as a whole. Farmers have increased their production nearly 30 per cent.

If we are going to play safe, it is plain what must happen to bring farm prices 'into line. Cut down on the bumper crops, quit putting most of the eggs in one basket. Diversify—spread out; get in the hen, hog and cow game. The farmer who does that will not have to worry about Europe, won't be in danger of going broke.—Capper's Weekly.

SUPERSTITIOUS TARHEELS

The boll weevil is providing North Carolina with a new experience. Naturally the weevil excites some groundless fears in the people, but they should not suffer themselves to be frightened by anything except what the weevil can and will do to cotton. What he does to cotton is plenty.

The North Carolina state health board found it necessary to reassure a baneful agent of ill health. If the weevil infests blackberries, okra, snapbeans and these are eaten, will not the ultimate consumer suffer from sickness of a deadly sort? The question was put squarely up to the health authorities by people from many parts of North Carolina. The authorities answer that the weevil does not harm anything but cotton.

Let North Carolinians be reassured. The boll weevil is not a health problem, if we except his possible aid to the development of neurasthenia.—Montgomery Advertiser.

THE WINDOWLESS CABIN

If the people traveling about the state will make close observation, it will be found that the deserted cabin is of the type that has wooden shutters. The tenant housing generally remains inhabited. The observer went on record three years ago, before negro migration was thought of, as maintaining that landowners and farmers should provide better living conditions for their hired help. The day of the windowless cabin is passed. Farm labor, whether white or colored, deserves decent homes, and if this labor is to be kept on the farms, better homes must be provided. Nor is the labor that has gone to be induced back until better homing conditions are established. What is more, when the farmer might have a chance to secure some of the more intelligent immigrant class of labor which gives promise of becoming available, he would find his situation hopeless in having to point to the class of home that has been vacated. Farm labor, to be held, must be surrounded by the ordinary decencies and comforts of life.—Charlotte Observer.

Tate Willing To Put It In Black And White

"Hardly a man comes to the shop I don't tell about Tanlac," said J. S. Tate, 508 E. Main St., Charlottesville, Va., battery repairer for Irwin-Way-Hill company.

"All my life I suffered from constipation, and for three years past my stomach was in such terrible shape I could eat barely enough to keep body and soul together. My nerves were too shattered to rest, neuralgia almost blinded me at times, and many days I was losing ground so fast it was a question with me how much longer I could last.

"I was tempted to quit taking Tanlac after my second bottle, but fortunate for me I stuck to the treatment, and it increased my weight and made me a well man. I took my last dose of Tanlac last spring, but haven't felt a touch of constipation or any other ailment since. Just put me down in black and white as being strong for Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

It is apparent that the necessity for safeguarding him and giving him the advantages of a real start in life in America is very great. And this is an affair in which the state of New York and the national government should co-operate after a program is agreed upon that will curb the evil.—Miami News-Metropolis.

This Way to Curl Hair Is Fine for Outdoor Girl

The sliimerine method of curling the hair is the proper thing (for either bobbed or long hair) before going motorboating, boating or golfing, or indulging in any outdoor sport or exercise. It not only gives the hair the most beautiful wavy and curly appearance imaginable, but wind or heat will not take the curl out. The curliness is quickly acquired and lasts much longer than where waving tongs are used. Besides, the hair is bright and lustrous, instead of dull and dead looking. When combed out it is as nice and fluffy as a bird's nest in shampooed. Just get a bottle of liquid sliimerine at any drug store, follow the easy directions, and you will be simply delighted.—adv.
