WASHINGTON AND LEE DRAWS COLOR LINE ON NORTHERN SCHOOL

Refuses to Play Against Washington and Jefferson's Black Halfback

WASHINGTON, Penna., Oct. 6.—The scheduled football game between Washington and Lee universities was officially declared off today when the latter team refused to play against Charles West, star negro half back on the red and black team for the last three years, and winner of the national pentathlon championship at Philadelphia last year.

Upon arrival of the Washington and Lee team, graduate Manager Richard A. Smith protested against playing West, declaring it was one of the traditions of the southern institution that its athletes would not compete against a negro player.

The athleticism was delivered to President S. S. Baker of Washington and Jefferson who upheld Coach Heismann's ruling that West should not be barred.

"I am sorry the unfortunate situation arose," President Baker was quoted as saying. "I respect the tradition which Washington and Lee is following in refusing to play this game, but Washington and Jefferson college is a northern school with traditions, too. It has never made any distinction against color or creed."

Charles West, who was the cause of the controversy, has been one of the best students in the college for the last three years. He has been an honor to the school, both as a student and as an athlete.
