

SMOKE RINGS

Cage Gleanings

By SAM RAGAN

With two close-scoring, thrill-packed contests as a finale, the sixth annual Star-News-Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament closed Saturday night with what can well be said its best high school cage meet to date. This opinion was shared by a majority of those in any way connected with the tournament and coaches of the many teams entered acclaimed the annual event as one of the best sports attractions this city ever presented.

And gathering up some loose ends of the tournament there were at least two singular occurrences worthy of mention.

Last Honors

To the Elizabethtown team goes the honor of the last to enter the tournament and the last to withdraw and that smooth-clicking machine returned to the Bladen capital Saturday night with the boys championship trophy and the sportsmanship award.

Yesterday we tabulated some of the individual scores and the records that were set were amazing.

Scorers

In the girls division here is the way the scoring went. Joyce Hollingsworth, of Beaufort, set an all-time high record with a total of 81 points. Following her were: Stone, of Bolivia, with 57; Bostic, of Beaufort, with 54; Cannon, of Bolivia, with 46; and Hand, of Bolivia, with 42.

The boys division's individual high scorers don't show such high numbers, but this honor was carried off by Bladenboro, Elizabethtown and Dixon. Hillburn, of Bladenboro, led with 48 points. Others were: Gooden, of Elizabethtown, with 45; Butler, of Bladenboro, with 41; Bryan, of Bladenboro, and B. Capps, of Chadbourne with 36 each; Hollis and Wayne King, of Dixon, with 31 each.

And from that you can see that it was hey-day for the high school basket marksmen of Southeastern North Carolina.

Glamack Is First

North Carolina's first All-American basketball player, lanky George Glamack, who was named to this mythical five by NEA, is no slouch when it comes to other sports, such as football and baseball.

He played end as a freshman on the Carolina football team and in high school he pitched and played first base in baseball. But now the young man from Pennsylvania devotes all his time to the cage game. And while talking about it, the story goes that for some good salesmanship by Bo Shepard, assistant athletic director at Carolina, Glamack would now be at Duke instead of at Chapel Hill.

Glamack spurned all pleas from eastern school and headed south when he emerged from high school. He visited both the Duke and Carolina campuses and was impressed by both. Shepard took the long youngster in tow when he showed up at Carolina and talked him into the idea of the Tar Heels.

Cage game followers are saying that George's record of 458 points in one season and 62 in one tournament will remain intact for a good long while.

32 TEAMS ENTER NATIONAL MEET

Appalachian Is First Band To Reach Scene Of Tourney; 19 States Represented

KANSAS CITY, March 10.—(AP)—Basketballs swished through the hoops at Municipal auditorium today as the 32 teams seeking the National Interscholastic tournament title tested the floor and glass backboards.

The field is made up of representatives from 19 states and the first aggregation to reach the site was the Appalachian State squad of Boone, N. C. It made the trip by motor and became "lost somewhere in Indiana" en route.

The Texas State five, labelled the world's tallest team with every player at least 6 feet, 4 inches and Center Charles Halbert towering to 6 feet, 10, also worked out. It is one of the pre-meet favorites.

Both Southwestern college of Winfield, Kas., and San Diego, Calif. State, last year's finalists, are in the present field. The Kansas took the 1939 title, 32 to 31. This year's champion will be decided Saturday.

Coaches and athletic directors accompanying the teams will organize the "National Interscholastic Basketball association" during the week to sponsor the four-year-old meet in the future.

Eight games comprise tomorrow's program.

WAKIVA LEADS ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—Slowed by light winds which diminished chances of a new record, Harkness Edwards' 69-foot yawl Wakiva of New York led a field of 11 yachts into the Gulf Stream late today for the last leg of the eleventh annual St. Petersburg-Havana race.

NELSON, MANGRUM TOP TOURNEY

LEADERS SHOOT 68'S IN ROUND

Final 36 Holes In Thomasville $3,000 Golf Meet Are Slated Today

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 10.—(AP)—By pulling off some marvelous shots that struck the gallery's fancy, National Open Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, Ill., deadlocked today for the lead in the first round of the $3,000 Thomasville Open golf tournament.

Scoring neat 68's, four under par for the opening 18-hole round of the 54-hole competition, Nelson and Mangrum held a one-stroke lead over the field, with Herman Kaiser of Akron, O., in third position with a 69. The final 36 holes were billed for Monday.

While spectacular shots helped Nelson and Mangrum to share the lead, the national champion flubbed a putt of less than a foot at the 14th hole that would have given him sole command. Kaiser was victim of an unplayable lie that cost him two shots at the 7th hole and a possible chance for the lead.

Nelson, after his drive struck a tree and fell into the rough at the 15th, played an intentional hook with a No. 4 iron that sailed beautifully to the green and he got his par. Mangrum's tee shot at the 7th hole was in the woods and he had to play out to the fairway. He planted a brassie third shot 12 feet from the cup and sank it for a birdie 4.

In fourth place with a sub-par 70 was Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y. He had nines of 37-33. Nelson, the winner here a year ago of the top prize of $750, had a pair of 34's. Mangrum and Kaiser had the best individual nines of the day, each clipping four strokes off par on the incoming side with 32's.

Equalling the Glen Arven course's par of 71 and tied for fifth place were Craig Wood of Winged Foot, N. Y., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark. Bracketed at 72 were Amateur Tommy Barnes of Atlanta and five professionals—Jimmy McHale of Saranac Inn, N. Y., Ted Luther of Pittsburgh, Pa., Stanley Horne of Montreal, Can., Felix Serafin of Scranton, Pa., and Vincent Eldred of Pittsburgh, Pa. Sammy Sneed of Shawnee, Pa., who "blew" the National Open title last summer with an eight on the last hole, fell victim of another disastrous eight here, taking that number of strokes on the par-4 first hole and finishing with a 76. Jimmy Thomson of Chicopee, Mass., also needed 76 shots.

BROOKLYN CAGERS DEFENDING TITLE

Long Island And St. John's Quints Go Against Best Teams In Nation

NEW YORK, March 10.—(AP)—If you're looking for the season's prize example of sheer courage, you might well consider two schools from Brooklyn, the borough better known for the Rover-Boy antics of its baseball Dodgers than for the fortitude of its basketball teams.

But you can't discount the courage that Long Island university and St. John's college have shown in agreeing to uphold the Metropolitan area's dignity in the college Invitational basketball tourney that opens Monday in Madison Square Garden.

For pitted against the kids from the left bank of the East river will come four teams that are just about the best in the college field (if you exclude Rice and Southern California) this season—Colorado's three time Big Seven champions, Oklahoma Aggies, winners of 25 straight as they swept through to the Missouri Valley title; DePaul of Chicago, victors in 20 of 24 games against the best in the country, and Duquesne of Pittsburgh, counting 18 victories in 19 tries!

Long Island plays DePaul in the tourney's opener and in what will be a rubber match between the two, for each has beaten the other this season. The second game Monday pits St. John's and Duquesne, and no one will be disgraced in losing that one. On Wednesday Colorado plays the L.I.U.-DePaul winner and Oklahoma Aggies meets the St. John's-Duquesne victor, then on Friday the winners meet for the title.

MASKED GRAPPLER TO APPEAR HERE

Purple Flash To Meet Floyd Marshall In Main Bout At Stadium Tuesday Night

Wrestling fans of Wilmington will be given their first opportunity Tuesday night to see the famed Purple Flash in action, as the masked mauler will meet Floyd Marshall, of Arizona, in the head-line match of the evening at Legion stadium.

The identity of the Purple Flash is unknown, although this much is known—he is a former All-American football player who decided he would rather grapple on the mat than on the pro gridiron.

In appearances in several other cities of the state and south, the Flash has been the type of wrestler who showed little regard for rules and referees. Marshall, on the other hand, is a clean, clever grappler of the old school and even though the Purple Flash has a more awe-inspiring record, the Arizona matman is expected to be a very good match for the bounding bruiser.

The semi-final bout on the card arranged by the American Legion will pit Johnny Marrs against Chief Little Beaver, of Cherokee, N. C., one of the toughest wrestlers ever to appear here.

DOGGRS BEATEN

LAKELAND, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who had beaten Cincinnati's National league champions in two consecutive games, strayed out of their league today and were promptly paddled by the Detroit Tigers 11 to 2.

While three Detroit hurlers held the Dodgers to six hits, the Tigers rampaged with 13 and bunched seven runs in the third frame.

Hank Greenberg, making his debut in the outfield for Detroit, easily snared the only ball that was hit in his direction and batted five runs on a triple with the bases loaded, two singles and a long fly.

To add to the Dodgers' discomfiture, Peeewe Reese, the celebrated rookie shortstop, muffed a hot grounder and split the palm of his hand so badly he'll probably be out for about 10 days.

San Francisco Swimmer Retains National Title

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—Helen Crlenkovich of San Francisco broke one of three American records shattered in the national women's indoor swimming meet today and was the only champion to retain her title.

Miss Crlenkovich repeated in the 10-foot dive, accumulating an all-time high of 146.77 points in a superb display of springboard acrobatics.

Fifteen-year-old Brenda Helder of Portland, Ore., dethroned Dorothy Leonard of Worcester, Mass., in the 20-yard free style by splashing to a new record of 2 minutes, 30.3 seconds.

The third record went to the New York Women's Swimming association medley relay team, which set a new time of 3 minutes, 28.6 seconds for the 300-yard event.

Lynchburg Team Gets Bid To Durham Cage Tourney

DURHAM, March 10.—(AP)—E. C. Glass high of Lynchburg, Va., who won the Virginia state high school championship last night, was invited today to become the sixth team in the Duke-Durham southern high school basketball tournament to be held in Duke gymnasium here Friday and Saturday.

The Lynchburg outfit, which defeated George Washington high of Alexandria, Va., last night, 33-32, joins Durham, North Carolina high champion, High Point, western North Carolina title-holders, Lanier of Macon, Ga., champions of that state, Roosevelt of Washington, D. C., District of Columbia champions, and Parker high of Greenville, S. C., undefeated in 19 games this season, in the tourney.

"DANGER AGE"

NEW YORK, March 10.—(AP)—The "danger age" for criminally inclined young women is 19 and both boys and girls between 16 and 21 contribute more than their proportionate share to the nation's criminality, the American Law institute asserted today.

A survey by the institute's committee on criminal justice-youth said that in 1933 state and federal prisons and reformatories received 17 girls prisoners who were 19 years old for every 100,000 females of that age in the country—the biggest proportion of any age group.

The report showed that in the less serious crimes—resulting in confinement in local jails—the girls were slightly older, between 21 and 24.

Local jails in the first six months of 1933 received 73.8 women for each 100,000 of that age range against only 55 in the 19-year group.

Tar Heels May Depend On Radman As Pitcher

Cheshire, Of Wilmington, May Be Ineligible For Play Because Of Studies

By FRANK B. GILBRETH
CHAPEL HILL, March 10.—(AP) He's better known as a football catcher than a baseball thrower, but George Radman may be the answer to the pitching problem at the University of North Carolina.

Radman, whose pass-snatching was the margin of difference between hallelujah and mood indigo in many a Carolina football game, is working on the mound these days. If he clicks, Carolina may be the team to upset the favored Blue Devils of Duke in the Southern conference baseball championship race.

The Carolina-Duke baseball encounters may be a final fling at glory for George, who is a senior. Because of a leg injury, he was unable to play in the Duke-Carolina football game last fall, and Duke won, 13-3. Many Carolina supporters believe the outcome might have been different if he had been in there.

The role of pitcher isn't exactly a new one for George—he hurled three games last year, winning two and losing one, but developed a sore arm about halfway through the season and was shifted to the outfield. His season batting average was .388.

Radman's arm seems to be in good shape now, and if it holds up he may share pitching assignments with John Cheshire and Red Benton, sophomores. But there's an "if" in that, too—Cheshire is having trouble with his studies, and may not be eligible.

Cheshire, a Wilmington boy, struck out 57 men in 38 2-3 innings as a freshman, and yielded only 14 hits. He won five and lost two. Benton, former Wilson high star, won three and lost none as a frosh.

Radman and Benton are right-handers, and Cheshire is a south-paw. Bud Hudson and Sam Davis, who did most of the varsity pitching last season, have graduated. Also lost by graduation are George Nethercutt, catcher, who batted .488, and made Phi Beta Kappa in his spare time; Frank Cox, left fielder; and Harold Bissett, first baseman, who made only five errors in more than 800 chances at Carolina.

Harry Reynolds, who led the frosh attack last year with .360, probably will start at first base, but he is being hardpushed by Al Matheson, the freshman team three years ago, but gave up baseball in favor of basketball, and is making his debut on the baseball varsity.

George Stirnweis, the Bronx general who has letters in football and baseball, again will hold down second base, and Tony Hopkins will be back at the shortstop post. Either Charlie Rich or Jimmy Howard, letterman, will play third. Bob Hermanson, reserve catcher for two years, will step into Nethercutt's shoes.

When Radman isn't pitching, he probably will be in left field. When he's on the mound, that post will be filled by Julian Miller. Jim Mallory, football player, and Harold Jennings probably will hold down center and right, respectively. Both are veterans.

Oak Ridge Rifle Team Defeats ROTC Shooters

The Oak Ridge Military Institute rifle team defeated the New Hanover High school ROTC team on the indoor range of the ROTC unit Saturday.

MAJORS WIN OVER COAST TEAM, 10-6

Coast Training Big Leaguers Play Pacific Loop Stars In Relief Tilt

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—(AP) Major league pitchers were on parade—one an inning—here today at the big circuit stars defeated amateurs from the Pacific Coast league 4 to 1 in a Finnish relief fund game.

The coast players were out-batted 6 to 2, with the major squad, composed of members of the Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Athletics, Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates, scoring in the third and eighth innings. Coast stars were from the Los Angeles, Hollywood, Sacramento, Portland and Seattle clubs.

Bill Thomas, Portland curve specialist, held the big timers scoreless the first two frames, but Tom Freitas, Sacramento southpaw, was hit for two runs in the third.

Claude Passeau, Cub pitcher, started the uprising by beating out a bunt. Augie Galan another Cub, singled to left and Passeau moved to third after a long fly by Danny McCoy, the Athletics' $15,000 second baseman.

Luke Appling of the White Sox singled to score Passeau and Galan on third. Gabby Berman popped out, but Eddy Farnsworth singled to right brought Galan and Appling was out trying to catch third.

The Coast leaguers got their tally off Bob Klingner of Pittsburgh in the fifth. Les Webber, Seattle star, singled. Jigger Stutz, Los Angeles club manager, walked, and another Angel, Louie Stringer, sacrificed him and Webber along with a bunt. Webber scored on an infield out by Bill Sweeney, Hollywood skipper.

Rugger Ardizioia, Hollywood pitcher who goes to the New York Yankees next year, allowed the other two major league runs in the eighth. Pep Young of the Pirates doubled down the left field line, and scored on Arky Vaughan's single. A third Pittsburgher, Catcher Ray Mueller, singled, moving Vaughan to third, from where he scored as Joe Kubel, White Sox infielder, forced Mueller.
