CAULIFLOWER IS IDEAL TOUCH FOR CHICKEN OR ROAST

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer
With chicken or roast, this cauliflower and cheese combination gives Sunday dinner a banquet touch. Served alone, it would be an excellent main luncheon dish. Cauliflower is one of the most popular and economical summer vegetables.

CAULIFLOWER AU GRATIN
Two-thirds medium head cooked cauliflower, 1-4 pound American cheese, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 3 table-spoons butter, 1-2 cup bread crumbs.

Place cauliflower in a well-greased one-quart baking dish or casserole. Melt cheese in the top of double boiler; add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Add Worcestershire sauce and pour over cauliflower in casserole. Melt butter in a skillet; mix in bread crumbs. Scatter over the top of the cauliflower and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes or until the crumbs are well browned. If desired, garnish with parsley and serve directly from the casserole.

For Sunday night supper, serve these chilled molds of leftover chicken and vegetables.

JELLIED CHICKEN SALAD
One tablespoon gelatin, 1-4 cup cold water, 1-3-4 cups boiling water, 1 bouillon cube, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2-3 cup diced celery, 1 cup shredded raw carrot, 2 cups coarsely diced cooked chicken, lettuce.

Soak gelatin in cold water for about 5 minutes; add boiling water and bouillon cube, stirring until dissolved. Let cool. Add salt and Worcestershire sauce. Put a layer of celery and carrot in each of six 5-ounce glass custard cups and top with a layer of diced chicken. Pour gelatin mixture over all and put in a cool place to set. Unmold and serve on lettuce, mayonnaise being added if desired.

SUNDAY'S MENU
Breakfast: Grapefruit juice, crisp bacon, blueberry muffins, coffee, milk.
Dinner: Fruit cup, roast chicken, garden herb stuffing, brown gravy, mashed potatoes, cauliflower au gratin, romaine salad, vanilla ice cream with fresh raspberry syrup, coffee, milk.
Supper: Jellied chicken salad, hot biscuits, jelly, radishes, orange cream cake, tea, milk.

The clubhouse was charmingly decorated throughout with hydrangea blossoms, gladioli and magnolias, and guests were received throughout the evening by the hostess and honorees and their escorts. Common Courtesy -For Country Home Hostesses

A week-end in the country is fun, no matter what the weather if the hosts do a little planning ahead—and guests are moderately agreeable.

If it's raining, blazing logs in the fireplace will provide a cheering welcome. The hostess will insure a good time by making up her mind not to fret because she can't provide sun baths and the swimming she'd planned for her visitors. She will have some good books on hand, maybe some puzzles and games. Visitors enjoy relaxing to the music of rain beating on the roof.

If your guests are hearty, suggest that they put on bathing suits, caps and shoes anyhow. There's a good possibility your guests from the city would get a kick out of taking a walk in the rain. Just be sure that they get a warm shower when they return to the house and toast themselves by the fire. That's the time to bring out a good hot drink, and a tasty snack you've heated up while your guests were drying.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

Week-End Hostesses: Why Not Paste This One Up In Your Guestrooms

BY RUTH MILLETT

If you start figuring out why you never hesitate to invite Susie for a week-end no matter who else is to be under your roof, you'll end up by having some definite rules for the gracious guest.

She will arrive on time, looking cool, comfortable, untroubled and ready to enjoy herself.

She will immediately fit into the kind of party you are having. If you're entertaining your husband's boss and his very correct wife, she won't reminisce about how you and she, when you shared an apartment, used to stack the dishes in the sink and have one grand dish-washing at the end of the week.

She'll be dressed appropriately for every occasion and it won't be because she borrowed any of your clothes.

SHE'S NOT FUSSY ABOUT FOOD
You know she will eat almost anything you plan, so there won't be any worrying about what she likes and doesn't like.

If you tactfully suggest bringing her breakfast to her room, she will have sense enough to take you up on it, instead of nobly protesting—for she'll suspect that you probably don't want anyone down in the morning before you get your husband off to work and have a talk with the maid.

SHE'S NO TROUBLE-MAKER

You know she won't irritate your husband by telling him how to vote or by running around the house with her hair twisted up on curlers. On the other hand, you also know that she won't be calling him "Darling" and trying her best to make him dissatisfied with his marital lot.

You know that when she leaves (and it will be on time, like her arrival) she will convince you that she really did have a wonderful time. And you'll suspect she thinks you and your husband are pretty much all right.

Movie Revues

"RIDERS OF PASCO BASIN" IS FEATURED AT ROYAL

A colorful reminder of how the frontier west had to fight for law and order, "Riders of Pasco Basin," Universal's newest Johnny Mack Brown western thriller, opens today at the Bijou Theatre. It is an action packed film, replete with gunmen, swindlers, romance and comedy. Brown gives a warm, sincere portrayal in the role of a reckless rodeo performer who becomes righteously indignant when injustice and murder come into his once happy-go-lucky existence. France Robinson is seen in the romantic lead opposite Brown. As the daughter of a wealthy rancher deceived by the smooth talk of the swindlers, Miss Robinson is given opportunity to do a new and vital interpretation of the western heroine.

The program also includes the current chapter of "Flash Gordon Conquers the Universe" and an Andy Clyde comedy, "Glove Slingers."

"MAN WITH NINE LIVES" IS FEATURED AT ROYAL

Those rough, tough mugs who stage screen fights didn't acquire their cauliflower ears and crooked noses from a make-up expert's brush. When you watch a gang of plug-uglies in screen fights, as in Columbia's "The Man With Nine Lives," which currently stars Boris Karloff at the Royal Theatre, it is almost certain that you are looking at figures whose names once stood out in bold headlines on the nation's sport pages. The movie lots of Hollywood have become a happy hunting ground for ex-pugilists, one-time gridiron heroes and weary hockey players.

Holmes, Ida Holmes, B. Gulton, and E. L. Smith. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Council, of Council.

The local home demonstration club will meet Wednesday afternoon, July 17, at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. C. Nye. All members are urged to attend.

Give these erstwhile athletes a mob-scene to do and they can play pretty rough.

The latest chapter of "The Shadow," three stooges in "Nutty but Nice," and latest news complete the program.

"NEW MOON" FEATURED AT CAROLINA THEATRE

Reunited for the first time in more than a year, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy are scoring anew in their latest musical romance, "New Moon," at the Carolina theatre.

"New Moon" takes its place along with the best of the films to co-star these two singing favorites. Packed with action, it moves vividly from the romantic New Orleans of 1780 to a tropical island where a strange group of person ages, cast on land from a ship wrecked boat, set up a republic. In the supporting cast, Mary Boland offers another of her amusing portrayals, with other standout performances given by George Zucco, H. B. Warner, Grant Mitchell, Stanley Fields, Richard Purcell, John Miljan and Ivan Simpson.

"Information Please" is the short highlight and of course is enjoyable as ever. News scenes are also excellent.
