Toasted Snacks For Luncheon Or A Sunday Supper

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Something just a little different for luncheon or the Sunday night supper—that's always a problem in the economy budget. Here are two sprightly answers.

TOASTED LUNCHEON SNACKS (Four Servings)

Eight slices bread, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons orange marmalade, 6 ounces prepared ham and pork (1-2 can), 2 cups cooked fresh peas, parsley, pickle slices.

Cut bread into round with large biscuit cutter. Spread thinly with butter and marmalade. Mash ham up until it spreads smoothly, and cover rounds of bread with ham. Arrange on a 15-inch heat resistant glass platter and toast in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes or until well browned. Pour peas onto platter between rounds. Garnish with pickle slices and parsley. Serve right in the platter which keeps the snacks hot.

This recipe uses beef kidney which is comparatively cheap and of course also important from a nutritional angle.

KIDNEY CREOLE STYLE (Four servings)

One large beef kidney, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 slice bacon, chopped; 2 tablespoons chopped suet, 2 onions, chopped; 1 sweet pepper, chopped; 3/4 cup catsup, juice 1 lemon, 1-8 teaspoon curry powder, 1-8 teaspoon cayenne, 1-2 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, buttered toast.

Trim fat from kidney, cut in 3-4 inch slices and dredge with flour. Fry chopped bacon and suet, add kidney slices, onion and pepper and turn until meat is thoroughly seared and coated with rich brown gravy. Add catsup, seasoning and water, cover closely and simmer 3-4 hours. Just before serving add Worcestershire sauce. Serve piping hot on narrow strips of toast.

TOMORROW'S MENU

LUNCHEON: Toasted luncheon snacks, soft rolls, fruit cup, sponge cake, tea, milk.

"21 DAYS TOGETHER" IS FEATURED AT ROYAL

Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier—the year's most sensational stars—prove their right to the international acclaim they have already won and, in doing so, add to that acclaim with their performances at the Royal theatre in "21 Days Together," exciting new romance with Leslie Banks also starred.

Topping even the "Gone With the Wind" performance which won her an Academy Award, Miss Leigh invests her current characterization as a young sweetheart in London with all the fiery, temperamental, courageous qualities which made her Scarlett O'Hara so convincing, and adds to the role an undercurrent of wishfulness, of tenderness and of emotion which was completely foreign to the vivacious Scarlett. As her husband, Olivier also manages to add to all the qualities which made his work in "Rebecca" and in "Wuthering Heights" a note of longing and of despair.

The brilliant performances of Miss Leigh and Mr. Olivier are matched in every detail by the carefully-shaded characterization, provided by Mr. Banks, who is seen as Olivier's older brother.

Others in the fine cast are Francis Sullivan, Hay Petrie, Esme Percy and Robert Newton, all of them, contributing performances, as excellent and as smooth as those of the stars.

An exceptional Royal Varieties program accompanies the feature picture. It has a nifty little bird cartoon, a sport reel on horse-racing and Miss Frances Carroll with her Ladies orchestra.

"WHEN THE DALTONS RODE" TO OPEN AT CAROLINA

Universal's new frontier action epic, "When The Daltons Rode," with Randolph Scott and Kay Francis in the leading roles, opens today at the Carolina theatre.

The Dalton boys, most famous of all the midwestern outlaws, are recreated on the screen by Brian Donlevy, Broderick Crawford, Stuart Erwin and Frank Albertson, while other important roles are filled by George Bancroft, Andy Devine, Mary Gordon, Harvey Stephens and Quen Ramsey.

Tracing the careers of the Daltons from their ranching days, the film carries them through a series of daring exploits climaxed by the celebrated raid on Coffeyville, Kan., in 1892, when the gang was destroyed while staging the only double bank robbery in frontier history.

Miss Francis plays the first "outdoor" role of her career, ap-

Wool Leads in the Fall Fashion Parade

The die is cast—American designers have completed and sold their first collection, and now the haute couture houses of New York have had a ten day orgy of fashions such as New York has never before seen.

"All American Fashions," have been born, christened and are on their way. Lush, elegant, glittering and colorful it has been—fabrics of great importance, furs of finest quality—jewels for every hour of the day and head gear that is certainly more becoming and less crazy than in former years.

Gold military braid, sequins in gold and silver, and color embroideries in beads and black jet are the highlights of fall high fashion. Black bugles, enough to rouse an army if they were the right kind.

Although there are many period clothes in the 1910 Edwardian and Victorian manner, there are a great many very wearable, simple slim dresses, suits and dinner tailcoats, and many beautifully fitted coats. The sheer woens for daytime dresses are found in all collections. Wonderful tweeds and lightweight woens, magnificent plain black fabrics and tweeds for suits, coats and for evening wraps. The smartest of all the evening clothes are the slim, sheer wool tailcoats and these are far the most practical, and the colors are most often black midnight blue, beige, champagne and grey, frequently two-tone greys which are the most elegant of all. White wool jersey and black wool jersey vie with each other for evening wear.

Jewels are more colorful and more dramatic each season. Earrings, bracelets, necklaces and rings match in design and jewel arrangement.

There is some satin for evening and dressy afternoon also, quilted like bed covers, but my guess is that the smart wool dressy afternoon little model with fur topped gloves and hat to match will be not only lots smarter but heaps more practical.

One of the most stunning evening wraps of the "Grand Semaine" of fashion was Wilson Folmer's great coat made of camel's hair in natural color. What a wrap for the winter night when one drives to the theatre and has to walk across the square or street. How comfy to sling over the shoulders as one goes into the lobby in the entre act. The finest tulle or chiffon would be safe under the comforting wing of this coat that seems to be a natural all the way around—natural camel's hair, natural protection and a natural for chic as well as a natural for western cities where one drives miles in the cold to dine with friends, to small bridge parties or to dine and dance at a favorite spot. Red flannels under ski clothes are not more important than a good piece of wool to wrap around your sheer evening gown. Chic comfort is the cheering thought that warms the heart and "All This and Heaven Too" sort of feeling on a cold winter's night.

Renee Montague's elegant wool wraps with sheer wool evening gown underneath are being taken home by smart sophisticates in every city in the country.

pearing as the winsome telegraph operator in Coffeyville, a character based on the real-life sweetheart of one of the Daltons. Scott is seen as the frontier lawyer who befriends the Dalton boys and helps bring a group of land company crooks to justice.

George Marshall, remembered, for his work in "Destry Rides Again," directed "When The Daltons Rode," and he has packed the film with action from beginning to end.

As an added attraction, Bing Crosby is featured in a golfing short entitled, "Swing with Bing." News of the Day completes the program.
