

W. T. BRYAN, 62, IS FOUND DEAD

Former Mayor Of Jacksonville Also Served On Onslow School Committee

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 19.—W. T. Bryan, 62, former mayor of Jacksonville, was found dead in a rear office of the Bryan building in the downtown section here about 12:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Bryan, a former member of the Onslow county board of commissioners and onetime member of the local school committee, had been in poor health, investigating officers said. They quoted persons in a nearby building as saying they heard a loud report, as of a pistol firing, about 11 o'clock this morning. The bullet took effect in the left side of the chest.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the late residence, with the Rev. J. R. Phipps officiating. Burial will follow in the Jacksonville cemetery.

Mr. Bryan is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cleora Williams Bryan, a native of Warsaw; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Pettit, of Clayton; and Miss Helen Bryan, of Jacksonville; one son, Kader Bryan, of Jacksonville; and one brother, Judge E. K. Bryan, of Wilmington.

At one time engaged in farming, he was a local automobile dealer for a number of years. He served as mayor of Jacksonville from 1924 to 1929 and was elected later from Stump Sound township to serve on the Onslow county board of commissioners. He was born in Magnolia on November 11, 1878, and

Evening It Up

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19.—The Nashville Tennessean purchased a full page of space in every other Sunday paper issued in Tennessee tomorrow to present "The Case for Mr. Roosevelt."

Declaring that the Tennessean, of which Silliman Evans is president and publisher, is the only major paper in the state actively supporting the candidacy of the President for reelection, the statement said: "The ends of democracy require... that, not merely a part, but the whole of the picture be placed before the people; that the argument shall not be one-sided in the press."

The newspaper's statement said it favored President Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936 and outlined reasons for supporting him now.

It referred to Wendell Willkie as "miscast" in the role of republican candidate and praised the President for making "every possible effort to preserve the peace."

'The Old Maid' Will Show At Bijou Here

"The Old Maid," co-starring Bette Davis and Miriam Hopkins, will open Tuesday at the Bijou theatre. Filmed by Warner Bros., it has been hailed as the outstanding dramatic event of the year—a rare combination of brilliant talents in the fields of acting, writing and directing.

One feminine star—especially if she be that double Academy winner, Bette Davis—might be considered sufficient for a photoplay, no matter how great. But in "The Old Maid" there are two. Besides Bette Davis there is the lovely and highly capable Miriam Hopkins, who has starred in many a topnotch production on her own account. The girls have equally important parts. This is the first time, since they reached stardom, that either has ever shared acting honors or top billing honors with another player of her own sex.

With Miss Davis and Miss Hopkins in the picturization of "The Old Maid" are such players as George Brent, Jane Bryan, Donald Crisp, Louise Fazenda, James Stephenson, Jerome Cowan, William Lundigan, Cecilia Loftus, Janet Shaw, DeWolf Hopper and Rand Brooks. The director was Edmund Goulding, whose latest previous triumph was Bette Davis' sensational "Dark Victory."

The story deals with two cousins, Charlotte and Delia Lovell, who live in the same old house in aristocratic Philadelphia in the period between 1861, when the Civil War broke out, and the 1880's. Despite the luxury and wealth with which they are surrounded, they hate and envy each other for twenty-odd years. Then the daughter of "the sour old maid"—this young girl played brilliantly by Jane Bryan—is able to bring mutual understanding to them as their gray hairs and lined faces tell they have entered middle age.

To complete the program we will have a Disney Cartoon and Newsreel.
