Cage Meet Plans

Despite the fact that Golden Gloves now have the spotlight here, plans are going forward for the Seventh Annual Star-News-Y. M. C. A. Basketball tournament which will be held in the Y gym on March 12-13-14 and 15.

Within the next few days invitations together with entry blanks will go out to coaches of the outstanding boys and girls cage teams in Southeastern North Carolina. The first 16 teams in each division will be accepted for berths in the tournament, so to coaches in this section we say get

The usual fine array of individual and team trophies will be REDS FIND TOUGH awarded in the tournament. There will be individual gold, silver and bronze basketball for first, second adn third places, respectively, in both divisions. There will be sportsmanship trophies for both boys and girls and a number of others which will bring the total wards to approximately 75.

Entries may be mailed to this department or to J. P. Garrott, physical director of the Y. M. C. We'll be looking for them.

Dr. Hubert A. Royster, of Raleigh, recalled a few amusing incidents in the sports world known to him in an article appearing in Sunday's News and Observer. One concerned Steve Brodie, famed centerfielder with the Baltimore Orioles when that club was in the may be the National league's majors, when he was a member of the Wilmington nine in the old Eastern Carolina league.
