

BRAGG'S NINTH DIVISION REPELS INVADING BLUES

Dawn Attack of Red Army From Fayetteville Surprises Fort Jackson Brigade Near Little River, S. C.

FORT BRAGG, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A dawn attack today by a defending Red army which threw an invading Blue force from Fort Jackson, S. C., back beyond the boundaries of the military reservation ended a mock warfare engagement which began Monday night under as realistic conditions as authorities could devise.

The weary troops of both armies bivouacked late today for rest before the second phase of the maneuver begins tomorrow at 9 a. m.

The Red force is composed of units of the streamlined Ninth division, numbering about 16,000 troops. The invading Blues, makes up of the 60th Brigade combat team supplemented by other units, has a strength of about 8,000.

The exercise began Monday night when the South Carolina contingents moved into this area and the Ninth division's 39th and 47th infantries bivouacked in the Lovell area north of Little River and the 60th infantry on the river's south bank.

Ninth division headquarters was notified by officers of the Ninth Reconnaissance Troop that a Blue invading force was moving along the Chicken and Morganton roads.

The Red army's mission was to attack with a mythical First army to hold off another in the vicinity of Southern Pines.

The first attack began about 9 a. m. yesterday, with the 60th infantry moving southwestward into the center of the Blue forces' position and the 39th and 47th infantries beginning an encircling movement on the flanks.

The 47th infantry moved northward, marching 32 miles in 24 hours, to get in position to smash at the Blues' left flank. The 39th, meanwhile, was marching 30 miles to the southward to come up on the invaders' right flank. Contact was made about mid-morning yesterday, and the simulated battle raged throughout the day and all last night.

At dawn today the three infantry regiments attacked simultaneously, carrying all objectives and driving the Blues back.

A statement from General Hoyle's headquarters said he was proud of the physical condition and morale of his soldiers and the tests showed they were in "fine condition" for actual combat.

The maneuvers are being directed by Maj.-Gen. Charles F. Thompson, of Fort Jackson, commander of the First Army corps, assisted by Col. W. C. Grant, First Army corps chief of staff.

HIS PRISON PLOT UNMASKED — Officials at Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia watch surreptitiously when William (Slick Willie) Sutton (left), 39-year-old machine gun bandit, went in for art, and when he had finished the plaster mask and hand being examined by a guard, at right, they cracked down. They said he intended to place the mask on his pillow some night to give the impression he was safely tucked in bed, then seek to end his 25-to-50 year confinement prematurely.

American Newspapermen Irked By Handling Of Sea Conference

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—According to accounts from London, newspapermen knew, in advance, all about the plan of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt for a conference at sea, but the British censor wouldn't let 'em publish it. In this country there's no censorship that could have prevented Washington's newspapermen from publishing whatever they pleased and they did publish their suspicions, but only suspicions were available; our capital's correspondent corps couldn't get anything definite until after the historic confab was all over.

Even then, apparently, the original intention was to have the news come initially from London.

That is to say, a London cable, received here on the afternoon of the same day that the meeting occurred, conveyed the information that Major Clement Attlee, British lord privy seal, was to broadcast a tremendously important announcement which Americans would do well to tune in on, with their radios, at 9 a. m., Washington time, on Aug. 14, the day following the Roosevelt-Churchill get-togethers.

Well, evidently it occurred to somebody in the know, that it would be a little too raw for words to make the United States dependent upon London for first advice concerning our president's chat with Winnie Churchill on the former's so-called "vacation cruise."

Anyway, Presidential Private Secretary Steve Early scabbled hastily around and, at midnight, Aug. 14-15 (several hours after receipt of cabled tidings of the coming Attlee statement), notified the Washington correspondents that he'd have something vitally interesting to tell 'em at 8:30 in the morning—just in time to beat Attlee by about 30 minutes, though not soon enough to get into print with it ahead of Attlee's broadcast.

Correspondents Nettled

Of course extras were issued as fast as type could be set and presses could swish out the papers. Nevertheless, I've heard some growling among Washington correspondents.

The boys' thesis is that Britain seems to be having a lot to say concerning American publicity, which they consider is none of John Bull's business.

Illustratively, not long ago the war department circularized Yan-

Richards, Jr., Camp Forrest, Tenn.; A. K. Rodholm, Camp Croft, S. C. To Observation Unit, Benning, Calif.—1st Lt. C. W. Grooms, F. A. Pt. Lawton, Wash.; 2d Lts. D. C. Boyd, W. B. Hynd, Inf., Ft. Lewis, Wash.

To Parachute Group Infantry officers to Provisional Parachute Group, Ft. Benning, Ga., Sept. 1—1st Lts. J. T. Anderson, Ft. Bragg, N. C.; J. R. Beveridge, Ft. Jackson, S. C.; 2d Lts. W. R. Dudley, Ft. Bragg, N. C.; J. W. Gordon, Ft. Jackson, S. C.; H. G. Leeper, Pine Camp, N. Y.

kee military post commanders thusly:

"The director of British censorship, western hemisphere, has brought to the department's attention several letters written by United States army personnel to individuals in foreign countries in which mention was made of matters pertaining to military establishments. While the cases reported appeared to be the result of indiscretion, measures must be taken to cause this practice to be discontinued. All personnel of your command will be directed to omit all reference to matters pertaining to the national defense in personal letters written by them, especially to foreign countries."

Colonel William A. Smith, commander at Fort Devens, Mass., posted his copy of this circular on the fort's bulletin board, which is how it happened to get into the newspapers.

It wasn't played up very prominently at the time, but, in connection with the Attlee matter, it's beginning to be considerably commented on by capital correspondents.

They don't take the position that care shouldn't be exercised relative to leaks that may be useful to potential enemies of Uncle Sam, but they're decidedly resentful of the suggestion as coming from a BRITISH "director of censorship."

Moreover, he's a director for the "WESTERN HEMISPHERE."

"Does that include the United States?" the scribes are asking. They've been urged to censorize

Southport Shrimp Catches Yield High Return to Trawlers

SOUTHPORT, Aug. 20.—Shrimp trawler catches mounted early this week to as high as 32 bushels to some boats and this is calling for an "all out" movement on the part of boats that are in readiness for the season.

The catch now includes some shrimp too small to be altogether desirable for anything but canning. With no canning plant here, these small shrimp are being shipped green along with the more desirable product. This is resulting in the market dropping from $3.50 to $1.50 and $2.00 per bushel. Even at that price the boats make good money at the present rate of production. The normal price at this season of the year is $1.00 to $1.50 per bushel.

The catches have outgrown the ability of the boatmen to do their own heading and the negro shrimp pickers are once again happy as they gather at the buying houses for their nickle a bucket work.
