

SHERIFF ASKS FOR REELECTION

Announces Candidacy Thursday For Re-Election In May 30 Primary

C. Davis Jones, who has served as sheriff of New Hanover county for ten years, Thursday formally announced his candidacy for re-election to the office in the May 30 primary.

In making his announcement Sheriff Jones said he advocates close cooperation and coordination between all federal, state county and city law enforcement agencies.

Sheriff Jones was born and reared in this county. He worked in the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company and served five years in the National Guard prior to World War No. 1, and entered the U. S. Army in July, 1917, serving overseas one year in a Combat Unit as First Sergeant in Trench Artillery. He was recommended as a lieutenant of Artillery from the ranks. After the Armistice, Sheriff Jones returned and was honorably discharged from the Army.

In a few months he was commissioned as First Lieutenant of C.A.C. and helped to reorganize the Wilmington Light Infantry Company of the 252nd Coast Artillery of National Guard. After the reorganization was completed, Sheriff Jones resigned and took a position traveling in the Eastern Carolinas for a commercial house out of Wilmington, which position he held until elected sheriff in 1932.

Sheriff Jones has served as president of the North Carolina Sheriff's association and is now chairman of its Executive committee. He was among the leading officers in North Carolina to set up the law enforcement officer's Benefit and Retirement Fund for all law enforcement officers, and served on its Board of Directors. He received this appointment from Governor Hoey.

He has attended several Federal Bureau of Investigation and Institutes of Government schools held in North Carolina for law enforcement officers.

Galphin Will Recruit Laborers To Harvest County Lettuce Crop

To harvest the lettuce crop, negro laborers will be recruited at the Castle Haynes migratory camp early next week, County Agent R. W. Galphin announced Thursday.

Seventy-five shelter tents have been completed at the camp and will house about 300 colored laborers to assist in harvesting truck crops in this area.

Built by the Farm Security administration, 150 tents were formerly scheduled to be built, but because of the late beginning of construction and the War Production Board's freezing order on construction, the size of the camp is smaller.

Donald S. Stubbs, of Farm Security administration, is manager of the camp and will be in charge of maintenance and upkeep of morale.

Dennis Smithwick and J. Hardin Lee, of U. S. Employment Service, will be at the camp to recruit the workers and place them on jobs. Mr. Lee will be at the camp during the heavy harvesting season. Mr. Smithwick is a year around farm placement man for the service.

Present indications point to the peak season for lettuce during the week of May 8-15. The heavy lettuce season is expected to extend through May.

The first job of the colored laborers will be to harvest lettuce, and afterwards May peas, string beans and lima beans.

Former Wilmingtonian Gives Library Pictures

Former Wilmingtonian Lieut. Mayo Stuntz of Fort Riley, Kansas, has donated pictures, depicting scenes in Wilmington in former days, to the city library, Miss Emma Woodard, librarian, said Thursday.

A feature of the collection is a number of pictures of the old side-wheelers that formerly operated on the Cape Fear river out of Wilmington including the Wilmington, the A. P. Hurt, the City of Southport and the Thelma.

Galphin Urges Planting Of 'Victory Gardens'

New Hanover residents were urged to plant corn, beans, sweet potatoes and tomatoes for "Victory Gardens" Thursday by County Agent R. W. Galphin.

"Although a complete check of "Victory Gardens" has not been made, many families have planted, especially in suburban areas. Many of them will realize a profit from these types of gardens this year," Mr. Galphin said.

Those who have not planted these vegetables should do so immediately, if they expect a good crop this year, he added.

Save your anti-freeze solution. It may be impossible to obtain it next winter since some of the ingredients will be commandeered for the manufacture of explosives.

A recent poll showed that 54 per cent of motor car owners felt that depriving them of the use of their car in war time would make no great difference to them.

Bootleg Tire Recap Organization Set Up

CHARLOTTE, April 30.—(AP)—Three Charlotte men were held for federal authorities today after a hearing in Mecklenburg county recorder's court on a charge of setting up a bootleg tire recapping plant in a rural area near here.

The three were booked as Ralph Williams, Forrest Green, and Ralph Plumlee. Green and Plumlee were described as employees of a vulcanizing company.

At the hearing Plumlee and Green testified that they decided to set up the recapping outfit and that Williams agreed to operate it. It was never put into operation, they said, because of the lack of a few minor pieces of equipment.
