Paging Uncle Sam: How About Badges For Soldiers' Wives

BY RUTH MILLETT

NEW YORK, May 11.—

The soldier's wife went to New York city to be near her husband for a few days. She found New York a friendly place, its hurrying, busy citizens never too rushed to be friendly and helpful to a man in uniform and the woman with him.

But when her husband wasn't beside her she wasn't shown the extra courtesies, the extra friendliness and helpfulness his uniform had called forth.

On the way Ruth Millett home she stopped at other cities to sight see—and found the same thing true. She was just a lone woman that no one felt any particular urge to be nice to.

She wasn't finding fault when she told about her experience—just pointing out how nice civilians in large cities are treating soldiers on leave.

But why shouldn't the soldier's wife receive the same special courtesies when she is alone that she receives when she is with her husband?

If she is alone because her man is away from home, defending his country, shouldn't the men and women her husband is fighting for treat her with special consideration?

Certainly they would if they knew that she was the wife of a soldier. And there should be some way for them to know. A pin, perhaps, worn only by wives with men in the service—but showing their husband's rank, showing only that he is fighting for his country in whatever place he is needed and is capable of filling.

The life of a woman alone is none too pleasant. It isn't easy for a woman used to having a man at her side to find herself alone.

It would be easier if she could wear some kind of badge which would tell all who serve her or might serve her that she is alone because her husband is serving his country. Then, they could go out of their way to show her special attention and special consideration.

It should give comfort, too, to a soldier to know that people would be more ready to extend courtesies to his wife, because of her badge or pin, while he is away at his duties.

We all say nothing is too fine for our boys. Then, let us prove it by helping to fully honor their wives—which a soldier will appreciate more than honor to himself.

Miss Bowman, Mr. Rountree Wed In Church

Mrs. Johnson Harriss Of City, Attends Bride As Matron-Of-Honor

MOUNT AIRY, May 11.—In an impressive ceremony Saturday evening at the First Baptist church in Mount Airy, Miss Mary Erdene Bowman of Mount Airy and Raleigh, daughter of Mrs. Jacob Carroll Bowman of Mount Airy and the late Dr. Bowman major in the United States Medical Corps, became the bride of Eugene Cleopore Rountree of Kinston and Raleigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rountree of Kinston. The Rev. A. C. Gibbs of Elkin officiated.

The church was beautifully decorated in green and white. Large baskets of white gladioli, stocks, and carnations against a background of Southern smilax formed a lovely nuptial setting at the altar, and white candles in seven-branched candelabra were used in graduated effect.

A program of music was presented by Miss Frances Folger, organist, and E. T. Mickey, soloist.

The bride entered with her uncle, E. G. Smith, by whom she was given in marriage. Her wedding gown of moonlight satin was fashioned with a long fitted bodice, high neckline, and full skirt extended into a court train. Her long veil of authentic rosepoint Brussels lace over layers of illusion fell from a coronet of the same lace. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of her mother, and she carried a spray of white miniature calla lilies with a base of gardenias.

Maid-of-honor was Miss Theresa Ann Smith of Mount Airy, cousin of the bride, and matron-of-honor was Mrs. C. Johnson Harriss, Wilmington. They were gowned in fitted bodices with long daffodil yellow styled with long tulle necklines. Three layers of tulle in matching yellow formed the bouffant skirts. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of white flowers with long blue satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Lucy Cary Easley of Bon Air, Va., Miss Mary Jo Lucas of Charlotte, Miss Florence Partridge of Mount Airy, Miss Marjorie Yokley, cousin of the bride, Mount Airy. They wore lace ice blue satin and tulle dresses fashioned identically to those of the other attendants, with fluffy bows of tulle in their hair. Their bouquets were of yellow flowers with matching streamers.

Best man was Hinton Wesson of Warrenton, and groomsmen were Al Whitaker, Kinston; William Ormond, Kinston; Taylor Vernon, Chapel Hill; C. Johnson Harriss, Wilmington; Henry May, Burlington; and Eugene Smith, Jr., cousin of the bride, Mount Airy. Mrs. Bowman wore a dress of dusty pink lace and marquisette with a corsage of white orchids, and Mrs. Rountree wore turquoise blue crepe with a corsage of orchids also.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was given at the Mount Airy Country club by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Yokley, aunts and uncles of the bride. Spring flowers were attractively used throughout the club lounge in decoration. The bride's table was spread with a lace cloth and centered with a pair of Misen figurines flanked by two Misen epergnes holding white roses. White tapers in crystal candelabra completed the table arrangement.

Receiving with the hosts were

Members of the wedding party and parents of the bride and bridegroom. Assisting in receiving and entertaining the guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Fawcett, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Yokley, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sparger, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Paddison, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Ashby, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fawcett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mason, and Mesdames B. H. Williamson, A. D. Folger, T. N. Brock, E. H. Kocchitzky and G. D. Fawcett. Presiding at the punch table were Misses Marjorie Yates, Irene Smith, and Alma Yokley. A group of young friends of the bride assisted in serving.

After May 20, Mr. and Mrs. Rountree will be at home at 1507 Pineview street, Raleigh. For going-away, Mrs. Rountree wore a muted green imported wool coat with set-in belt and full sleeves. Her dress was a Hattie Carnegie original fern frond print in two shades of green with high neckline and softly flaring skirt. Her hat was a navy felt off-the-face calot with red poppies at the side, and she wore a white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Rountree is a graduate of Virginia Intermont Junior college and attended the University of North Carolina. She is a member of the Chi Omega Sorority. She is secretary to the head of the Research and Statistics Division, Department of Revenue, Raleigh. Mr. Rountree is a graduate of Virginia Episcopal Preparatory school, Lynchburg, Va., and of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, Class of 1940. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. Mr. Rountree is connected with the North Carolina Inspection and Rating Bureau, Raleigh.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Frank R. King and Mrs. Lottie Smith, Robert MacLeod, Smith, Wilmington; Miss Jane Forbes, Raleigh; Noel Woodhouse and Haskell Porcher, Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Alice Rose, Henderson; and Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Elkin.

COFFEE CHOCOLATE FRAPPE

For each person to be served, combine 3 tablespoons chocolate syrup with 3-4 cup strong hot freshly made coffee. Pour into tall glasses half filled with ice cubes. Top with a big spoonful of sweetened whipped cream of ice cream. Serve with sipper spoons.

And here are a few hints in making iced coffee. If you put your ice cubes in the coffee, make the coffee double strength or else melting cubes will weaken it. Better yet, prepare coffee ice cubes and don't worry about weakened coffee. The added color and taste will make the drink more inviting, too.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, oatmeal, raisin toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Grilled frankfurters, shredded cabbage apple salad, cup cakes, tea, milk.

DINNER: Lamb stew with spring vegetables, hot biscuits, prune and cream cheese pie, coffee, milk.

Honey And Cream Add To Flavor

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Service Staff Writer

Sultry days ahead. Better begin brushing up on new ways to make the old standby—iced coffee—even better.

You don't have to be a gourmet to prepare iced coffee well. All you need are several long glasses, a pitcher, some ice cubes, coffee and ice cream, whipped cream or other ingredients you may wish to use.

When making iced coffee for your soldier guests, remember they like their drinks rich. The extra cream, syrup or chocolate means extra energy. Here are three of their favorite iced coffee recipes.

HONEY COFFEE SMOOTHIE

Add 1 teaspoon honey to each 3-4 cup strong, hot, freshly made coffee. Pour into glasses half filled with ice cubes and add a tablespoon of cream. Top with a big spoonful of vanilla or mocha ice cream. Serve with sipper spoons.

COFFEE MAPLE CREAM

Add 1-2 tablespoons maple syrup to each 3-4 cup strong, hot freshly made coffee. Pour into tall glasses half filled with ice cubes. Top with a big spoonful of sweetened whipped cream of ice cream. Serve with sipper spoons.

COFFEE CHOCOLATE FRAPPE

For each person to be served, combine 3 tablespoons chocolate syrup with 3-4 cup strong hot freshly made coffee. Pour into tall glasses half filled with ice cubes. Top with a big spoonful of sweetened whipped cream of ice cream. Serve with sipper spoons.

And here are a few hints in making iced coffee. If you put your ice cubes in the coffee, make the coffee double strength or else melting cubes will weaken it. Better yet, prepare coffee ice cubes and don't worry about weakened coffee. The added color and taste will make the drink more inviting, too.
