

Montgomery Girl Weds Lieutenant In Private Rites

Miss Ruth Prichett And John Franklin Pope Married In Wilmington Wednesday

The wedding of Miss Ruth Annette Prichett of Montgomery, Ala., to Lieut. John Franklin Pope, formerly of the Wilmington Air Base, took place in Wilmington Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in a private ceremony at the Cape Fear hotel.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar banked with southern smilax, ferns and seven-branched candelabra holding candle-blossoms. The Rev. Sankey Lee Blanton, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the officiating minister.

The bride wore for her wedding a lovely blue lace frock and carried an old-fashioned colonial bouquet of roses and swansonia. She wore a small hat of natural case-buds. Mr. Prichett gave his daughter in marriage and Lieut. Pope was attended by Lieut. Albert C. Adams, also of the Wilmington Air Base, as best man.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Prichett of Montgomery, Ala., and came here Wednesday for her wedding. Lieut. Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Pope, also of Montgomery, is a graduate of Auburn university, and received his wings at Victoria, Texas. He is a lieutenant in the United States Army Air Corps and before coming to Wilmington was stationed at Charlotte.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Willetts in Glen Arden.

Friends attending the wedding included: Lieut. Miles Lynn, Lieut. Albert C. Adams, Lieut. Isaac Donald, Lieut. Fitzgerald, Lieut. Vogtle, Lieut. Donnan, Lieut. Campoell, Lieut. McGeeves, Lieut. Thomas Lichtfeld, Mr. and Mrs. George N. Harris, Mrs. Philip W. DeLano, Miss Carrie Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Willetts, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Harris, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Robertson, Miss Margaret Harris, Miss Essie Harris, Frank G. Harris, Miss Eleanor Willetts, Katherine Harris, Winifred Harris, Laura Harris, Priscilla Harris and Thomas B. Harris, all of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Prichett of Norfolk, Va., Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Prichett of Montgomery, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Pope, of Montgomery, parents of the bridegroom.

BUYING OF BONDS AND STAMPS ASKED

Those Who Recently Made Pledges Urged To Begin Systematic Purchases

GREENSBORO, May 14. — "All North Carolinians who have signed pledges to invest regularly in war savings securities are urged to begin immediately the systematic purchase of war bonds or stamps, so there will be no doubt about this state going over the top in this month's quota," Charles H. Robertson, state administrator of the war savings staff, said in a statement issued today.

North Carolina's quota for May has been set at $5,888,400, and we feel this will be exceeded if our citizens made good their pledges," Administrator Robertson said.

So far this state is leading all other states in the South Atlantic area below Virginia in bond sales, he said.

Any counties or communities that did not complete their canvasses during last week's drive should do so as soon as possible, he said.

"All local chairmen who have not done so should send their pledge cards to state headquarters promptly," he added. "One copy will be retained at state headquarters and the other will be forwarded to Washington."

"It should be borne in mind that, regardless of how many pledges were signed, North Carolina's quota is based on actual sales, which means these pledges should be fulfilled, if our state is to do its part."

Church Of God Revival Services Continue Here

The revival which is now in progress at the Church of God, 1121 South Front street, was largely attended last night. Much interest is shown as the revival continues. Evangelist Thea E. Jones of Covington, Kentucky gave another very inspiring message, "The Example of Womanhood."

Two prominent characters mentioned in the discourse were Mary and Martha. Rev. Jones declared, "there are thousands of Marthas today but very few Marys who will sit at the feet of Jesus and hear His words." There will be a great stir when Mary of Bethany enters Heaven and Jesus rises and says: "Father this is Mary that anointed me for my burial."

WAR HAS EFFECT UPON CHILDREN

Juvenile Delinquency Increases, Many Deprived Of Normal Childhood

LOS ANGELES, May 14. — War is casting its blighting influence heavily over the lives of American children.

This sobering warning comes from a churchman-welfare worker and a probation officer, who, in addresses to county parents, said this situation exists today:

1. Juvenile delinquency among boys of the county has increased 22 per cent during the last year, and among girls 8 per cent.

2. Children are being deprived of normal childhood because their parents are sacrificing their home lives to the war effort.

The Rev. John L. Nixon, director of the church federation's welfare bureau, told a religious conference that there are many cases of children "being locked in cars, trailers or houses all day while their parents are at work."

In other cases, he declared, they are barred from homes during the day while parents on night shifts are sleeping.

Karl Holton, chief county probation officer, blamed the increase in juvenile delinquency on the sense of frustration among youths of 14 to 16.

"They are too young to go to war, or to engage in defense work," he told the institute of foster parents. "They feel keenly their inability to serve, and the mounting delinquency rate is the result."

Dr. Nixon also cited the increase in juvenile delinquency. "Preservation of family life is not the least of our tasks," he said. "The war effort will draw more and more women into industry. The preferred age for women workers is 18 to 35 years, employing young mothers and women young enough to bear children."

"While these good women are loyally taking their places in defense industries, the children must not be allowed to suffer."

SAVE EVERYTHING ORDER IS GIVEN

Men At Davis Told To Salvage Everything Except 'Squeak' In Shoes

"Save everything but the squeak in the shoes." Those are the instructions of the Quartermaster at Camp Davis, to the Salvage Officer and they are being carried out at the salvage warehouses at the camp where, it is estimated, $1,000 worth of salvaged materials are being gathered each week for sale.

Daily trucks from the various organizations in the camp roll down to the salvage warehouses to unload material for salvage, including everything from worn out socks and burned electric light bulbs to hypodermic needles from the camp hospital.

Among the items which are salvaged are leather scraps from the Clothing and Equipment Repair shop, old uniforms, worn fatigue clothes, belts, mess kits and other items of equipment, rubber heels which have passed their useful stage, coats, shelter halves, foot lockers, rubber gloves, hot water bottles, woolen gloves, all items made of metal, rubber scrap from worn boots, hoses, inner tubes, raincoats and tires, old rope, copper wire, baling wire, all waste paper, bags, barrels, boxes, lumber, vegetable crates, egg crates and all other receptacles in which food comes packed, including tin cans.

Nothing is accepted at the salvage warehouse which is fit for reuse by the Army in its present condition. Heavy boxes are sent to the crating warehouse. Flour sacks, sugar sacks and other types are used for dish towels in the mess halls, while other types are used for sandbags or for camouflage purposes.

The amount of salvage which is collected is astounding. For example an average day sees no less than 3500 pounds of waste paper hauled to the salvage warehouse, bundled and made ready for shipment.

All salvage is sold on bids and whereas the Government tries to get as high a price for the salvage as possible, greater stress is placed on returning usable items to the normal channels of trade in the most expeditious manner. For example, there is at present a shortage of strawberry crates which will be harvested this year. As rapidly as strawberry crates are emptied at the camp the crates are hauled to the salvage warehouse and there delivered to the contractor who has purchased them so they may be returned immediately to the shipper of strawberries for re-use.

An estimate of the amount of salvage which is received by the Salvage Warehouses may be gathered from a copy of a bid which is being issued by the Purchasing and Contracting office, which sells all salvage. This particular bid, which deals only with food receptacles to be sold, include 2,000 onion sacks, 3,000 egg crates, 600 banana boxes, made of paper; 300 wooden banana boxes, 700 bushel baskets, 10,000 5-peck hampers, 50 lettuce crates, (60 head size); 1700 lettuce crates (30 head size); 200 lettuce boxes (60 head size); 4,000

Persons interested in bidding may secure invitations to bid from the Purchasing and Contracting Officer, Camp Davis.

$107,275 WORTH OF BONDS SOLD

Figures For Last Week's Activities Here Are Announced By Thornton

Wilmingtonians purchased $107,275 worth of war bonds from local banks and building-loan associations and the postoffice during the week ending last Friday, City War Bond Chairman J. G. Thornton announced yesterday.

This figure represents the maturity value of the bonds.

To date, a total of 5,420 pledges have been received by the bond pledge campaign headquarters, he said, representing a total of $64,501 per month.

"The results of the campaign are disappointing, as Wilmington's quota has been set at $187,000," Mr. Thornton said.

"The campaign will continue in Wilmington until that quota has been reached."

For the week ending May 8, a total of $84,975 in series E bonds was sold and the series F and G bonds amounted to $12,300 and $10,000.

"The banks and building and loan organizations are still taking pledges."

"Anyone desiring to pledge a portion of his or her income to the purchase of war bonds is requested to contact one of these institutions."

"Some people in the city were not approached by solicitors, and we feel that there are many more pledges to come," Mr. Thornton said.

Traffic Decreases On State Highways

RALEIGH, N. C., May 14. — Traffic on North Carolina highways began to decrease long before gasoline rationing was ordered, Highway Chairman Ben Prince declared today on the basis of reports from "electric eye" counters placed on 24 principal highways throughout the state.

In these locations, the counters showed traffic in April was 20.6 per cent less than in the corresponding month last year. Tourist routes lost the most traffic, Prince said.

A counter just north of Raleigh on U. S. Highway No. 1 showed a 31 per cent decrease for April and a 32 per cent decrease was recorded on U. S. Highways Nos. 19-23 west of Asheville, main artery to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.
