Federated Women's Clubs To Compete For Prizes In Pledge-Signing Drive

By MRS. CHARLES G. DOAK. Following active participation in the recent successful stamps and bonds pledge-signing campaign, the North Carolina Federation of Women's clubs started a campaign of its own. It entered the contest to win one of the three prizes offered by the General Federation to the State Federation reporting the highest percentage of pledge signers among club members or their husbands.

Mrs. Karl Bishopric of Spray, chairman of the North Carolina Federation's stamps and bonds committee, says that several clubs completed their survey and reported to her immediately following the pledge signing campaign.

Each club is to send Mrs. Bishopric three items of information. The name and address of each member of the club who signed a pledge, or whose husband signed, and the serial number of the pledge. The list must be mailed by June 13. Mrs. Bishopric has sent to the president of every senior and junior club detailed instructions about the contest, together with material on stamps and bonds supplied by the Treasury department.

Mrs. John D. Robinson, chairman of the Federation's War Service committee—formerly called National Defense committee—visited headquarters in Raleigh Friday night. She stated that Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General federation, is emphasizing two phases of work for clubwomen and urging that they concentrate upon these during the coming months, namely, what they may do to keep the production lines moving, and what they may do to promote Western Hemisphere solidarity.
