MADLINE WEBB GETS LIFE IMPRISONMENT

The clerk of the court asked first whether the jury had arrived at a verdict on Cullen. "We find him guilty," replied the foreman.

Shonbrun, rapped sharply on the defense table with his knuckles, as if he foresaw what Madeline's fate would be.

"The defendant, Madeline Webb, will now stand up," said the clerk. Miss Webb struggled to her feet.

The clerk glanced at Miss Webb's bowed head and said, "The defendant will please look at the jury."

Miss Webb tossed back her head, throwing her hair out of her eyes, and looked with white and trembling lips at the jury.

In the breathless interval, Shonbrun who had jumped to his feet when Miss Webb arose, clinched his fists and bit his lips.

Miss Webb and Shonbrun flinched simultaneously, just as the foreman continued—with a recommendation for life imprisonment.

Judge Goldstein set June 19 for sentencing the three. Still showing his love for Miss Webb, Shonbrun glared at Assistant District Attorney Jacob A. Grumet and shouted, when asked, what his business was:

"My business is: A murderer—Just like Grumet! You tell me to take it easy—this to a court attendant at his elbow. "But he just crucified that girl, and you want me to take it easy."

Miss Webb meanwhile, had left the courtroom unaided. As he was being escorted to an anteroom into which Miss Webb and Cullen had preceded him, Shonbrun clenched his fists and seemed about to spring toward Grumet, but three court attendants immediately walked in front of him.

270 GRADUATED AT HIGH SCHOOL

the center of Legion Field forming the word "COURAGE."

Before the presentation of the diplomas, a group of graduates offered a program citing incidents of heroism and courage among the early American pioneers.

The diplomas were presented by T. T. Hamilton, principal of the school and the roll was called by Kirk Low, a member of the class of 1942.

Beginning the program was a concert composed of Marches, played by the R. O. T. C. band of the school. Lieutenant Eugene Lacoock directed.

Following the concert, the class assembled at each end of the stadium and marched to its place in the center of the field. The glee club, under the direction of Albert Brown, and assisted by the band and the audience sang one verse of America.

Virginia Fryer pronounced the invocation. Before presenting the diplomas, Mr. Hamilton spoke briefly on the progress of the high school in regaining its prestige in the Southern Association "When the North Carolina term was cut from nine to eight months each year, the various high schools in the state dropped from the Southern Association of High Schools," he declared.

In 1935, the people of New Hanover county voted for an extension to the school year, regaining a nine months term, he continued. At the same time, the eighth grade was also restored, making the entire schooling of the graduates totalling 12 years.

New Hanover High was again recognized by the Southern Association.

In the fall of 1937, the eighth grade went into effect, and the class which graduated last night is the first group to feel the advantage of the extra grade, he pointed out.

Held At Stadium The exercises were held in Legion Stadium this year, before darkness set in, due to the coastal "dim-out" now in effect which prohibits the use of high powered lights.

Mortimer Glover, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Mortimer Glover, was awarded the Amy Bradley Medal for outstanding scholarship. This medal is given each year to the senior who has the highest record for his term in high school.

At the conclusion of the exercises, the entire audience stood at attention while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

Those taking part in the presentation of "Courage" were: Bert Nisbet, Brayn Marshburn, Thelma Mintz, Dimitra George, Polly Thresher, Jane Edwards, Lula Pulliam, J. A. West, Jim Middleton, Mary Alice Rose, Nuse Petalas, Driskell Kelly, Gibbs Holmes, Katherine Goodman, Bobby Smith, David King, Tom Marshburn, Bob Burns, Virginia Kelly, Evelyn Brown, Marie Lynch, Jim Lynch and Tessie Finch.

The decorations for the occasion were under the direction of Jack Nall, Jack McCready, Howard Loughlin, Bobby Sanders, Arthur Shain, C. D. Martin, Melvin Kester, and Talmadge Jordan.

For Recorder

The Recorder should be a man of proven ability and experience, with the strength and courage to employ whatever lawful means that are necessary to correct conditions that are wrong, and stand by what he knows to be right.

You folks know that we are now confronted with certain disagreeable and undesirable conditions which I haven't the space to mention. You know what they are. I know what can and should be done to effectively correct them.

I feel that more than nine years in the active practice of law in the criminal courts, together with three years experience as Juvenile Judge, and the general knowledge and understanding that I have of the language of the common people, qualifies me for the position I seek.

RESPECTFULLY, W. K. 'Bill' RHODES, JR.

reported in favor of the legislation.

They sent the presidential measure to the lower House with an accompanying report which read in part: "We consider that with the declaration of a state of war, our national honor will be preserved and unsullied and democratic solidarity will be definitely strengthened among countries of the American continents, whose guides are liberty and social justice."

"We consider that solidarity is unavoidable and imperative to save the cause of humanity, so gravely threatened by Fascist barbarism which has demonstrated that no consideration, moral legal or material, can detain it in its unrestrained madness against civilization and culture."

The report held Germany, Japan and Italy jointly responsible for the sinking of two Mexican tankers.

Signs that Mexico was at war multiplied Military precautions were being rushed on both coasts and newspapers ceased publication of details about ship movements.

The newspaper El Nacional indicated that Mexico was prepared to send an expeditionary force anywhere in the western hemisphere.
