"We can stay out an hour extra today and get some shopping done—the boss is taking that new secretary to lunch!"

Operation To Prevent Developing Of Bulging Skulls Is Successful

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—A delicate surgical operation designed to prevent children from developing bulging skulls has been pronounced successful after nearly 20 years of waiting for the final results.

Dr. Edward Faber, pediatrician at Stanford University Medical School, originally advocated this operation in 1923 and the first one of its kind was performed a year later by one of his associates, Dr. Edward B. Towne.

Strips of bone were removed on either side of the seam to leave an opening totaling four-fifths of an inch wide.

Now, 18 years afterward, the patient has attained full growth, the spaces are filled with normal bone, the skull has normal shape and the individual is rated as having perfect vision and superior intelligence.

Dr. Faber and Dr. Towne recently reported the results to the American Society of Pediatricians. Several such operations have been performed in recent years.

The pioneers of the idea withheld final judgment as to its value until their first patient grew up.

At 2:25 p. m., next Sunday, a commissioned naval officer will administer the oath of enlistment to contingents of naval recruits in public ceremonies here.

The American Legion, civic and other local officials will be requested to help with the program.

At the exact moment the Wilmington recruits filing the Pearl Harbor challenge back in the teeth of the Nipponese thousands of other sturdy Americans will be repeating the same oath almost word for word at the 400 Navy re-recruiting stations throughout the land.

The Navy department has announced the relaxing of routine Navy recruiting regulations for June 7, so that an unlimited number of men can be accepted and enlisted on the spot at the recruiting sub-station.

Under normal procedure, men are accepted at sub-stations and given transportation to a main station for final examination and enlistment.

But for this half-year anniversary of one of history's most treacherous acts, recruits will be enlisted on the basis of sub-station physical and mental examinations.

The Wilmington Navy recruiting station expects to maintain its high record of enlistments on Sunday. Since Pearl Harbor a total of 306 men have enlisted here. It is an average of 51 per month or almost two a day.

NO JUNE SALES
WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Agriculture department announced today that no government-owned cotton would be offered for sale during June under its general cotton sale program.

Gasoline loses 25 per cent less volume by evaporation in an aluminum tank than in a tank painted black.
