War Accents Co-Ed "Uniform"

(From Bloomingdale Bros. Inc., New York)

New college clothes accent the traditional college classics — good wool suits and sweaters in bright, splashed colors. These three war-speeded freshmen wear gored skirts and pullovers. Their room is cheerfully decorated with their own woven, washable, colorful spreads and matching drapes. Fabric is one of a sun-country series in bright colors and gay patterns designed especially for college youngsters.

By MARGUERITE YOUNG, (NEA Service Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, June 5.—War has done a real speeding on the college girl's schedule, cutting her play time and often her budget, too, but she still finds time and money to be one of the world's best-dressed types.

Her clothes will change relatively little this year—judging by current surveys of her buying mood and by the clothes that fine stores have stocked for her—and there's a reason. This girl is conservative, and classic college clothes are among the best examples of genuine conservatism. Luxury is out.

The buyer of one of Fifth Avenue's smartest college shops says early shoppers are seeking a good warm coat for night-watching during air-raid practice, plenty of cotton shirts, and that's all that's different from last year.

In fact, the triumph of new WPB-regulated college clothes in this shop is—they still look the same. There are pseudo-pleated skirts, gored skirts, dirndls, and there are still plenty of sweaters, plenty of good tweeds.

Button-down-front skirts may catch on later, it is expected, but right now the girls are not too interested. In fact, they're fairly indifferent toward most novelties. Packable, bicycle-worthy suits and culottes, however, are a big thing in the wardrobe.

Behind these trends are the facts of wartime college life. Eighty percent of the important schools, boys, girls and co-educational, have adopted the wartime speedup which squeezes four years' work into a little less than three. This brings the student back to the campus, often, in June. Many colleges are requiring those who want to start this year at all to attend the summer session. And first-year enrollment is expected to be huge, the total swelled particularly by young women training for post-war professions and for wartime activities now.

A house which interviewed 4,000 students and also the administrators of a dozen top schools reports more than 61 percent of the students are taking just-instituted war-training courses, 77 per cent have had their allowance cut, and 72 percent are buying war bonds. The students' answer is budget-juggling and working to supplement the check from home.

And the students are economizing with "old heads"—first stricture is on small luxuries they used to buy at the corner drugstore, then come fancy-looking and fragile clothes, then any gadget which they think might prove to be a "wrong buy."

Good cheerful clothes and good, cheerful, lasting furnishings for their rooms are counted as important parts of the economy program. They mean to spend much more time in the rooms from now on, winter and summer, and they are therefore looking for simple, washable furnishings.

Shed A Tear If You Don't Relish Onions

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX (NEA Service Staff Writer)

ONIONS are a good low-cost source of Vitamin B and C. They also add bulk to the diet.

Mrs. Frances Foley Gannon, Director of New York City's Bureau of Consumer's Service, gives these tips on buying and preparing onions:

Choose those that are bright, clean and well-shaped. Dry skins are another indication of quality. See that the onion is hard, not flabby, and avoid any that have begun to sprout, or in which the seed stem has developed. Misshapen onions may be a poor buy because of the waste involved in preparation.

Stuffed Onions

Five large, mild onions, 3 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1-2 cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt.

Skin the onions, cut in half crosswise, simmer in salted water until almost tender, and drain. Remove the centers without disturbing the outer layers and chop fine. Melt two tablespoons of the fat in a skillet, add the chopped onion, celery, and parsley, and cook for a few minutes. Push the vegetables to one side, melt the remaining fat and add to it the bread crumbs and salt, and then combine with the vegetables. Fill the onion shells with the stuffing, put in a baking dish, cover, and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes, or until the onions are tender. Remove the cover from the baking dish during the last of the cooking so that the onions will brown on top.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Apple sauce, baked eggs enriched toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Fried ham sandwich on rye bread, date and nut squares, iced tea.

DINNER: Lamb patties, baked potatoes, stuffed onions, green salad, whole wheat rolls, cherry pie, coffee, milk.

For Home Defense Duty

By MRS. ANNE CABOT

Housewives have even more to do these days and less time in which to get all their jobs done. So make the most of your time. Don't run back and forth, "picking up," when you're doing the housework and the cleaning.

This work apron, designed in Washington by the Bureau of Home Economics experts, will be a great time saver for you. It has two deep pockets on the bottom half and a top section that is ALL "pocket!" Apron takes about 1 1/2 yards of material. Use cheerful blue denim, striped bed ticking, unbleached muslin, flower-sprigged cottons or bright ginghams. Make a matching dust cap with the little applied duster!

For pattern of Work Apron and Appliqued Cleaning Cap (Pattern No. 5237) send 10 cents in COIN, YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS and the PATTERN NUMBER to Anne Cabot, Wilmington Morning Star, 106 Seventh Avenue, New York City. Enclose 1 cent postage for each pattern ordered.

My new album, about which so many of you have inquired, is now ready. It is an attractive 32-page album of the lovely designs you have asked for and admired — needlework designs of all types — for all the family — for the Home and for gifts! The name of it is the "Anne Cabot Album." Send 15 cents today for your copy!

No Light Is Thrown On Whiteville Murder

WHITEVILLE, June 5.—A coroner jury here this afternoon at an inquest into the death of Joe Frink, negro watchman at a local cannery plant, failed to lift the veil of mystery surrounding the murder of the man more than a fortnight ago.

Coroner J. D. Sikes and a jury examined both witnesses: both local police officers, before the jury returned a verdict that the man came to his death from pistol wounds inflicted by unknown persons. The negro died in the hospital here 12 hours after he was called to the door of the warehouse where he was watching and shot. He died without telling officers who shot him.
