

BOTTLERS MEET SHIPYARD AT HILTON TODAY

Sports Hodge-Podge BY CARLE HODGE

Wrestling—the best exercise for conditioning a man's mental alertness and entire physical structure—would be a logical addition to the training programs for America's fighting men. That's the way Jim Londos sees it.

If the handsome Golden Greek is an example of what he preaches, there's no doubt about his point. Built like a cross between a gorilla and a medium tank, the five-times world mat champion is physique personified.

"Not that there is any use in teaching soldiers the finer points of wrestling," he told us in his dressing room here Friday night, "but there's no better exercise for building them up physically and mentally. . . . No other sport requires so much coordination of the body—from the head to the bottom of the feet."

"And it sharpens a man's thinking powers. He has to be quick-witted to follow his opponent's every move. . . . Wrestling should be adopted in every army camp and in every navy training center as a required exercise. The results would be surprising."

Maybe the modern Adonis has something there.

Londos, whose age is hovering around the half-century mark, is still the picture of perfect health. And he proved in his scrap with Bibber McCoy at Thalian hall Friday that he's a long way from sports oblivion.

Rigid training rules are the reason. The champ doesn't drink and watches his regular hours. He's careful not to overeat and in the summer mostly nibbles on vegetables and drinks fruit juices—has meat about once a week.

Long an idol of his people, Londos is also a friend of Greek King George II, himself a great believer in physical fitness, and will attend a dinner for the monarch at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Thursday night.

The veteran wrestler drew 100,000 people in Athens while on his pre-war tour of Europe and then gave his share to charity.

Sports Carbon: Sam Butz of the Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union says if the loss of football coaches to the armed services continues, a 200-pound high school tackle ready to pay his own way through school will be able to pass the college gym without being accosted even once.

The streamlining revolution, which has already touched virtually everything from locomotives and ocean liners to common householders, is extending to—of all things—golf.

Up pops George Sargent, 1909 National Open champ and now pro at Atlanta's East Lake course, to reveal that he and a group of scientists have practically perfected the streamlined "Club of Tomorrow," a stick to reduce duffer's hooks and slices and put longer distances into drives.

With a smaller, rounder head, and a flattened shaft the dream club is designed to cut down wind resistance and thus made the aim truer and more powerful.

Such an innovation will cut down scores, sure. But think of the fun of hearing that ball swish farther and straighter than ever before. Wartime manufacturing restrictions make immediate development of Sargent's brain child impossible, although it gives golfers something to wait for.

Now with a cinch at shooting in the making, all that's needed is some kind of magnetic hole to draw the ball.

Whitley, Mote Take Awards For Big Fish

New Hanover Fishing Club Awards For Month Of May Are Announced

Fred Mote took the New Hanover Fishing Club's May prize of month for the largest channel bass caught in the organization's Zone B. It was announced yesterday by Secretary George B. Canady. Mote landed a 40-pound fish and received a reel as a prize.

Other awards for May:

KING AND AMOCO CLUBS TO CLASH AT LEGION FIELD

Victory For Boatmen Would Mean First Half Semi-Pro Race Is Clinched

By R. J. POWELL.

Stop the Progressive clubbers—that's the cry going around the Cape Fear baseball league as the semi-pros go into the last lap of the first half schedule today with games slated at Hilton and at Legion stadium. Both games begin at 3:30 and will be operated under the usual no-charge setup.

At Hilton, Pepsi Cola will get the tough assignment of trying to put a crimp in the slugging Shipyard machine which apparently is headed toward the first half flag with little resistance. What stacks up as a tight tussle will be played at the stadium when the A. L. King boys hook up with Frank Clemmon's upward-bound Amoco Cannoneers.

A victory for the Boatmen today would just about assure the league-leaders of the first half plum, and unless the Cola crew perks up considerably it is our prediction that this will occur. One thing in the Bottlers favor, however, is that Lefty Cheshire, recently secured from King, may be in there southpawing at the murderer's row this afternoon. Other news from the Pepsi front is that Catcher Nethercutt will take over the control of the team on the field, starting today. Nethercutt will be behind the plate and the regulars will probably be back at the other posts.

Manager Urban can call on either of his big three catchers—Williams, Brown, or Bronson—but the last mentioned hurler is most likely. Taylor will be the backstopper and the rest of the lineup will be the same. Although being held needless for the first time by the King twirlers last Sunday, Outfielder Hoggy Davis is still far out in front in the league batting race.

The cellar position will be the reward for defeat in the stadium affair. King is now bringing up the rear but a win over Amoco would push the Cannoneers back in their most frequent seat. Further than that a close game is expected because both clubs have been playing a good brand of ball lately and both appear on the upgrade. Roy Lamb for King and Headon Piner or B. A. Edwards for Amoco will likely provide the pitching for the fray, with Burney Covington or Tatum receiving for the Grocery gang and Sam West doing the same honors for the Oilers. Manager Snag Allen and Lefty Hill will be on hand to relieve Lamb and Lefty Ray Brew will be held in reserve for Amoco. Both infields and outfields will look the same as last week.

Umpires today will be Batson and Brown at the Stadium and Eagles and Brown at Hilton.

Masonboro And Express Nine Will Clash Today

Tigers And Sunset Meet, Shoemen Play Fitters In Seaboard Loop

By R. J. POWELL.

Undeafened Masonboro clashes with unbeaten P & F at Bellamy park this afternoon in the standing attraction on the Seaboard league's three-game program.

While the big boys are battling for the loop's top-honors, the rest of the lesser lights will be having a tea-party among themselves. The twice-licked Carolina Tigers take on the last place Sunset Park boys on the Robert Strange diamond while the slipping Su-Ann Shoemen journey down to Masonboro to engage the revived Shipyards Fitters.

Only one club will be leading the league after the Bellamy park fracas, and each of the contestants claim that it will be the other that goes down. Both teams feature a slugging attack, but the edge in this department must be given the Movers. High school hurlers Scoggins or Auld will be on the slab for the Expressmen, and Ed Farrow or Ed Todd will pitch for the Clamdiggers. No changes are expected in either lineup.

Although keeping the cellar with three setbacks against no wins, the Sunset Park club is the slight favorite to whip the Tigers, minus their ill star, uuuuuuuuuuquiffit. U Parkers gain this nod by virtue of the fact that several ex-Cape Fearers have joined the squad. Pitchers Danny Page and Jack Allen head the list, which will grow according to Manager Lee Rochelle. Infielder Gene Allen is also with Sunset. Although defeated in making his debut last Sunday, Page will go to the mound again this afternoon with Dyches the probable catcher.

Some of the newcomers in a break into the Park lineup today but the team will probably look like last Sunday's edition.

Mayhan will be the likely starter for the Tigers with J. Colum on the other end. With the exception of one or two infield spots, the rest of the Carolina lineup will be the same.

Newly-signed Poopy Sandlin and several other players from the old Athletic club may toll for Morris Grissom's Su-Ann team today. Other than the fact that Sandlin and Marshall may form the battery, the rest of the Shoe lineup is uncertain. The home team Shipyard Fitters announced that their lineup will find Stephens pitching, Cavanaugh catching, Costin, first base, McGee, SS, Butler, second base, Sumerlin, third base and Marshall Miller and Hackett in the outfield.

Bosox Push Late Run To Nose Out Detroit

BOSTON, June 13.—(P)—The Boston Red Sox won their sixth straight game today by pushing across a run in the ninth to beat the Detroit Tigers 6 to 5 in the opener of a three-game series.

It was the fourth time in their winning streak that the second player Red Sox have come from behind to triumph in the last inning.

New York All-Sports Show To Help Relief

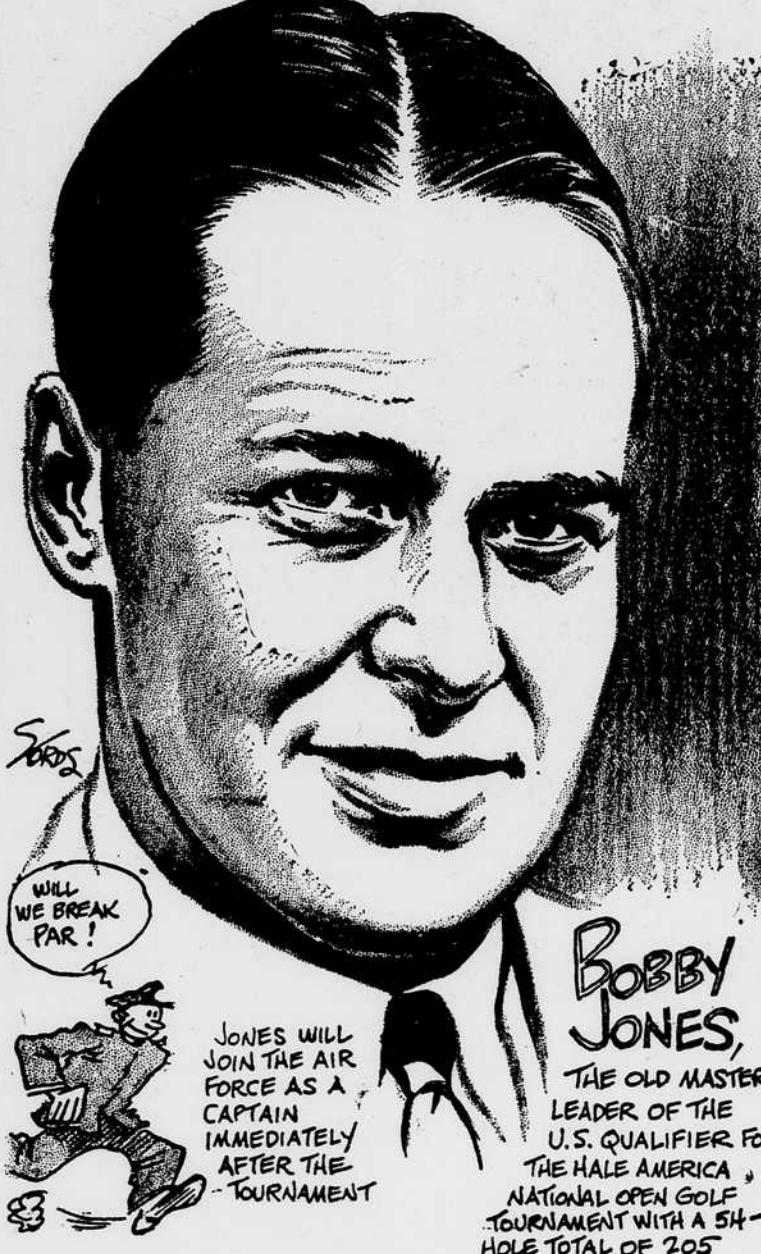

NEW YORK, June 11.—(P)—The dyed-in-wool sports fan will be at home at the Polo Grounds tomorrow when stars of baseball, boxing, track and field, tennis and golf participate in an all-sports carnival for the benefit of the Army and Navy Relief funds.

Starting at 1 p. m. with the massing of the bands, there will be a continuous parade until dusk of sports heroes with Corp. Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, vying for the top spot with baseball's Bob Feller, track and field's Greg Rice and Cornelius Warner, tennis' Alice Marble and Don Budde and golf's three corporals—Vic Ghezzi, Jim Turnesa, and Ed Oliver.

NORWOOD WINS HUNTER CLASS AT SEDGEFIELD

Henkel Entry Snaps Winning Streak Of Cornish Hills At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, June 13.—(P)—The long string of victories rolled up by Cornish Hills, the nation's top money winner and leading ribwort wearer of 1941, was snapped abruptly in the Hunter Stake of the annual Sedgefield Horse show which concluded a two day program in the show ring of Sedgefield stables here tonight.

Norwood, six year old black gelding owned by C. V. Henkel, Jr., of Statesville, broke Cornish Hill's run of first place triumphs at five straight when Ed Daniels jumped him to an upset win in the $250 Hunter Stake, 17th and final class on the afternoon card of today's concluding card.

Cornish Hills, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Haggis Perry, of Cobham, Va., and ridden by Mrs. Perry, had beaten Norwood twice on the afternoon program and once yesterday. But in the Hunter Stake it was a different story. Judged by conformation and performance, the younger Statesville gelding came out on top of the highly-touted seven year old chestnut gelding who pocketed just about every honor in sight in 1941.

The Perry entry won first places in the Ladies Hunter class, Norwood finishing third behind Captain Kelly, another Perry entry, while Cornish Hills captured the Corinthian, Norwood being runner-up, for two first places before bowing in the Hunter Stakes.

BOB GINN WINS NCAA MILE RUN

MacMitchell Suffers First Loss Of College Career In Meet At Lincoln

LINCOLN, Neb., June 13.—(P)—Les MacMitchell of New York University suffered his first NCAA mile run defeat of his college career tonight when, in the opening event of the finals of the annual event, he ran third behind Bob Ginn of Nebraska, and Leroy Weed of Southern California.

Ginn, a mite of a lad, won with a desperate lunge at the t a p e, leaving Weed about a foot behind. Ginn's time was 4:11.1.

MacMitchell never was better than third in the race. For two laps Francis Conforti of Notre Dame held the lead, but on the back stretch of the third lap, Weed outstayed the lead by two yards over Ginn, Conforti dropping back to fourth.

Weed held his lead until the runners were but a few yards from the last turn. Then Ginn got a yard advantage. As they came down the stretch Ginn seemed to waver and Weed looked the winner. But at a yard from the tape, Ginn made his lunge to win, falling flat on his back after breaking the tape.

Al Blois of Georgetown won his third straight NCA shot put championship when he got the ball out 54 feet, 9 5/8 inches. He was the only two-year winner to make it three titles, MacMitchell having been beaten in the mile, and Barney Ewell, Penn State, champion in the 100 and 220, having bowed out after injuring a leg in the broad jump trials.

At the end of two events Southern California, the meet champion and favorite to repeat, led the pack with 18 points. Nebraska, Georgetown and Notre Dame each having ten.

Alabama Youth Wins Southern Net Event

CLINTON, S. C., June 13.—(P)—Wade Herron, a 15-year-old six-foot smasher from Birmingham, Ala., pulled up from behind today and won the Southern Boys' tennis championship. In the singles finals he defeated Billy Smith, unseeded, of Orlando, Fla., 1-6, 6-3, 7-5. Herron was third seeded.

Jack Tuero of New Orleans won the Junior Boys' singles title by defeating Claude Luke of Tampa, Fla., 6-1, 6-1, 6-3. Tuero, a 16-year-old only an inch shy of six feet, won the boys' title last year and in competing this season for the first time in the junior division was seeded fourth.

Tom Molloy of Memphis, Tenn., teamed with Smith and won the boys' doubles title by defeating Bobby Doll of Tampa, Fla., and Ed Adams of Columbus, Ga. Scores were 6-4, 6-2.

Swinging Doerr

Two best hitters in American League are second basemen, Boston's Bobby Doerr, above, is right on the heels of New York's Joe Gordon.

CLAY NET MEET OPENS MONDAY

1942 National Tennis Tournament In St. Louis Is Chance For Unknowns

ST. LOUIS, June 13.—(P)—Like 16-year-old William T. Tilden in 1918, comparative unknowns have a chance this year to win the national Clay Courts tennis championship in the annual tournament starting here Monday.

In the war year of 1918, nine of the first 10 ranking tennis stars were in military service and the other, R. Lindley Murray, was a government chemist. Young Tilden, making his first sweep in big-time tennis, won the tournament in Chicago, his first of seven clay courts triumphs.

It's interesting to recall that Murray re-entered tennis competition later that year when Ichiya Kumagae, Japanese star, came to the United States unexpectedly and fear was expressed that the national title would go to Japan. However, it was Tilden who conquered the invader, beating him in a semi-final match, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0. Tilden lost to Murray in the national final.

This year only the No. 10 man among the ranking players, William Talbert of Cincinnati, has entered the clay courts, Bobby Riggs, Frank Kovacs and Wayne Sabin have turned professional, Don McNeill, Ted Schroeder, Gardner Mulloy and Bitsy Grant are in service, Frankie Parker is tied down with a movie job on defense work, and Jack Kramer passed up the tournament.

That leaves the field open to players who, so far at least, have little boxoffice appeal—youngster like Charles Matman, Harris Everett, Gardner Larned, Bill Reedy, Robert Jake, Seymour Friedberg, Robert Smith, Everett Friedman, George Richards, Jimmy Everett and Ted Olewine. 4

PIRATES SWAMP GIANTS, 8 TO 2

Bucs Get Seventh Straight Win As They Knock Melton Out Of Box

PITTSBURGH, June 13.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates won their seventh straight game today, knocking Cliff Melton out of the box in two innings and breezing to a 8-2 triumph over the New York Giants.

Bob Klinger went all the way for the Bucs and scattered eight hits over five innings after pitching no-hit ball for the first three frames, gaining his third victory against one defeat.

Melton handed the Pirates their first marker in the opening frame when he walked Al Deaton 5 at wild-pitched him to third, from where he scored on an outfield fly.

Score by innings: R H E
PITTSBURGH 9 140 102 605-23 1
Runs batted in—Barrett 2, Lopez, Anderson, Fletcher, Van Robays, Mize, Marshall. Two base hits—Out. Sacrifices—Lopez, DiMaggio. SWING AND SWAY FINISHES SECOND IN CARTER RACE

Little Mr. Big Tail Picks Up Speed But Finds Track Space Too Short

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, June 13.—(P)—Whirlaway was beaten today simply because they didn't give him enough room to run.

Little Mr. Big Tail from Warren Wright's barn took a crack at the cramped seven furlongs of the 42nd Carter handicap at Aqueduct—far short of his usual route—and although he closed 20 lengths and was fairly flying at the finish, he wound up only third to the much-traveled Doublrab, owned by Mrs. Tilyou Christopher of Miami.

There was hardly any doubt about the 25,289 fans, who cheered the Kentucky cannonball in spite of his defeat, that he would have won in another 15 or 20 yards, so fast was he picking 'em up and laying 'em down at the finish.

But after all, they still pay off on the number that's hung up on the board, and today it was the four-year-old Son of Sherab, who equalled the track record of 1:22 on footing reared only "god" in chalking up his third straight staking victory in as many weeks and on as many tracks.

At the finish, with Billy Thompson getting all he could out of the grey sprinter, the colt was a head in front of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Swing and Sway, with Whirlaway another length farther back. W. L. Brann's Pictor was fourth.

In many ways, this was the most remarkable race Whirly ever ran. Not only was he going at a far shorter distance than he likes, but he was loaded with 130 pounds—compared to the 120 on the winner. What's more, he was ridden by Jockey Buddy Haas, and it was the first time Buddy and Whirly had ever said "howdy." Haas never had even handled him in a workout before.

At the last minute, Whirlaway's looked-for duel with Lou Tulano's Market Wise, his conqueror in the recent Suburban handicap, was wiped out when the rags-ripes colt passed the race up. Trainer George Carroll said Market Wise was coughing.

A 19-40-for-$2 shot in the Mutuels, Doublrab picked up $7,250 for his day's pay. Whirlaway's third-place pay-check was $750, boosting his bankroll to $378,561 in second place on the all-time money-winning list.

H. L. Myer's Sheriff Calkin and Doublrab ran one-two for the first half mile while Whirly blocked along, as usual, a city block out of it. Half way 'round the stretch turn, Doublrab found the stretch and turned for home. Whirly, on the far outside, turned loose his famous kick, but there just wasn't enough ground for him. 4
