

CANNING VOUCHER GIVES MORE SUGAR

County Home Demonstration Agent Tells How It Is Done

Hints to make the best possible use of canning sugar allotments were released today by Miss Ann Mason, home demonstration agent for New Hanover county.

Reiterating that home canners will get one pound of sugar for every four quarts of finished fruit they are putting up, she also advised that home canners are entitled to a pound of sugar for each person in a family to use in making jams and jellies and fruit butters.

"Here's how you get your sugar for canning," said Miss Mason. "You apply to your rationing board for a certificate for sugar for home canning. With this certificate you can buy sugar at any store.

"Be prepared to answer these questions when you go to your rationing board: Number quarts of fruit you canned last year. Number quarts of fruit you plan to can this year. Number quarts of last year's fruit you still have on your pantry shelf.

"The following figures will help plan sugar needs for canning fruit this year.

When you buy fruit in bulk, you should know that: 1 bushel of apples weighs 50 pounds, 1 bushel of peaches weighs 50 pounds, 1 bushel of pears weighs 58 pounds, 1 peck of plums weighs 14 pounds, 1 quart of berries measures 4 cups, 1 quart of cherries measures 5 cups.

When you measure your fruit, you should know that these amounts will can one quart: 7-8 apples (2 1/2 pounds), 8-10 peaches (2 1/2 pounds), 5-6 pears (2 1/2 pounds), 24-32 plums (1 1/2 pounds), 5 cups berries (1 1/4 pounds), 6 cups cherries (1 1/4 pounds).

"Supplies of glass jars, tin cans, jar rubbers, and closures are expected to be adequate for this year. Make the best possible use of yours. Be sure that they are really well filled with fruit," Miss Mason said.

Confederate Veterans Convene For 52nd Time

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 24. — Confederate veterans, mustering less than two score for their 52nd annual reunion, joined with sons and daughters of the Confederacy today in asking a memorial society to perpetuate the memory of their comrades who fell at Franklin, Tenn., in 1864.

Rufus Jackson of St. Louis offered a resolution to a joint session of the veterans, the sons of the Confederacy order of the Stars and Bars and the Confederate Southern Memorial society, urging marking of the Franklin battlefield. It received prompt approval.

"The battle of Franklin, for the number of troops engaged, was the

Destroyers Bell, Stevens Slide From Ways At Charleston Yards

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 24. — Two more destroyers for the battle fleet slid down the ways at the Charleston Navy yard late today in a double-barreled launching ceremony devoid of peacetime fanfare.

While thousands of workmen cheered and a Navy band played "Anchors Aweigh," the destroyers Bell and Stevens shot stern-first into the Cooper river, where they were taken into tow by tugs.

The Bell, named for the late Rear Admiral Henry Bell, hit the water first, and was followed a few minutes later by her sister ship, named for the late Commodore Thomas Holdup Stevens and his son, the late Rear Admiral Thomas Holdup Stevens, II.

The launching met the deadline of the Navy's speed-up production program on the exact minute and second, and set a new local record for speed of construction—174 days on the ways.

This record of slightly less than six months compared with the 23 months which were required to launch the destroyer Sterrett, first destroyer constructed here under the current shipbuilding program.

Rear Admiral William Glassford, commandant of the Sixth Naval district and the Charleston Navy yard, praised the workmen for increasing the tempo of production, and predicted that additional weeks and even months would be lopped off the time required to launch other destroyers to be built at the yard.

Sponsors for the Stevens were Cleo Cooke Hulse of Kansas City, Mo., grand niece of Admiral Bell. Sponsors for the Stevens were Mrs. Roland Curtin of Annapolis, Md., great granddaughter of Commodore Stevens and grandniece of Admiral Stevens, and Mrs. Frederick Stevens Hicks of Englewood, N. J., whose husband is a great, great grandson of Commodore Stevens and great grandson of Admiral Stevens.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the Yopp Funeral Home by the Rev. C. D. Barclift. Interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

Pallbearers will be: Active, W. R. Doshier, George T. Farrar, A. H. Elmer, P. G. LeGwin, J. W. Jackson and L. C. LeGwin, Sr.; honorary, W. H. Schaeffer, Cliff Smith, Albert T. Harris, W. F. INQUEST IS SET IN ROAD DEATH

J. L. Donnelly, Carolina Beach, Dies After Being Injured In Accident

Inquest into the death of James LeGwin Donnelly, 62-year-old Carolina Beach resident, has been scheduled for 4 o'clock this afternoon in the grand jury room at the courthouse by Coroner Asa W. Allen.

Mr. Donnelly died early Wednesday morning at the James Walker Memorial hospital of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile while walking along a street during the dimout at Carolina Beach Saturday night.

The driver of the automobile, Mrs. Ada W. Troth, former Atlanta resident now living at the Spray cottage at the beach resort, is not being held, Chief of Police E. V. Leonard said today.

He said that Mr. Donnelly, a retired dry-cleaner, was walking along Seventh avenue on the northern extension of the beach when struck by the car.

Mrs. Troth, according to the chief, was driving on her parking lights, in accordance with dimout regulations, and did not see the man until after the automobile had hit him.

Donnelly was taken to the hospital here by an Army ambulance where attendants said he had suffered fractures of both legs and other injuries.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the Yopp Funeral Home by the Rev. C. D. Barclift. Interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

Pallbearers will be: Active, W. R. Doshier, George T. Farrar, A. H. Elmer, P. G. LeGwin, J. W. Jackson and L. C. LeGwin, Sr.; honorary, W. H. Schaeffer, Cliff Smith, Albert T. Harris, W. F.
