

CAMPBELL TALKS ON WATER SYSTEM

City Attorney Explains Development Of Present Supply Set-Up

City Attorney W. B. Campbell explained the city's water supply system and Major Oscar C. Tignor, Wilmington area signal officer, spoke on defenses of this section at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Lions club.

Mr. Campbell traced development and explained operation of the water system and discussed the proposed King's Bluff project for which a bond election will be held July 1.

The Army officer emphasized preparedness for any possible attack along the coast and outlined training for volunteer information-filter center workers and women of the WAAC warning service units. Luther T. Rogers reported on the state Lions convention in Raleigh last week which was attended by 10 local members. Visitors at yesterday's meeting included H. L. McPherson of Wilson, L. D. Sullivan of Raleigh and Capt. Thomason of the Wilmington information-filter center.

Retiring President Eugene Bullard of the club presided at the last meeting before being succeeded next week by Wycliff Twining. New officers are to take charge at the next meeting.

Thrifty Chinese

That old adage about necessity being the mother of invention comes to the fore in St. Elizabeth's hospital in Shanghai, China. A Chinese nurse holding a baby uses an American Red Cross rice sack as a blanket after its original contents had been removed. The thrifty Chinese also use the sacks for making sheets and clothing. — (Central Press.)

These addresses will be illustrated with a set of stereopticon pictures. Mr. Thompson will be heard in the Providence Baptist church, (near Holly Ridge) Sunday morning 2 o'clock p. m.

Chaplain Von Schlichten Attending Lutheran Meet

Chaplain Alexander von Schlichten of Camp Davis is in Bronxville, N.Y., attending a Lutheran convention of the Atlantic district. Between 300 and 400 ministers from New England are at the meeting, being held at Concordia Institute.

At the opening session of the convention Chaplain von Schlichten was called upon to relate a few of his experiences as an army chaplain. Convention delegates showed considerable interest in the problems of army chaplains, the Camp Davis chaplain reports.

All M. P.'s In This Area Under General F. H. Smith

In a move to coordinate military police activities in the vicinity of Camp Davis and Wilmington, Fourth Corps Area headquarters has placed all M. P.'s from Camp Davis south to Fort Fisher under the jurisdiction of Maj.-Gen. Frederic H. Smith.

The responsibility delegated to General Smith, commanding general of Camp Davis, is limited. It was pointed out, to peacetime military police duties, and, within military reservations, police jurisdiction is still a responsibility of the commander concerned.

Under the new setup there will be unified command for military police on duty in Wilmington and its surrounding suburban and recreational area, with no distinction made between detachments or branches of service. Policies will be formulated by General Smith.

Information regarding the overall jurisdiction was contained in communications received Thursday by the commanding general, Camp Davis; commanding officer, Wilmington Air Base, and the commanding general, Southern Sector, Eastern Defense Command.

The various military police details assigned to Wilmington and vicinity, including those from Wilmington Air Base and Camp Davis, have cooperated in the past, and the unified jurisdiction is expected to give impetus to this cooperation.

Wilmington Merchants Will Not Open On 4th

Wilmington merchants will not open on Saturday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day but will remain open for business until 9 o'clock the preceding night.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce retail merchants division voted on the action in a special meeting yesterday afternoon at the organization's offices.

Price ceilings, the "Retailers for Victory" bond and stamp campaign and freezing of credit accounts were also discussed. W. C. Gilbertson, manager of the Credit Bureau, presided in the absence of Chairman E. H. Southerland.
