

Catholic Leaders Offer Post-War Peace Formula

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(Sun-day)—The Catholic archbishops and bishops of the United States declared in a statement today that "in the post-war world, the profit element of industry and commerce must be made subservient to the common good of communities and nations if we are to have a lasting peace."

The members of the hierarchy drafted the statement during a two-day session here. They declared that "in the discharge of our pastoral responsibility, we are gravely concerned about the world peace of tomorrow."

"Secularism cannot write a real and lasting peace. Where greedy might and selfish expediency are made the substitutes of justice there can be no securely ordered world."

"Totalitarianism, whether Nazi, Communist or Fascist, cannot write a real and lasting peace, by that which usurps total powers, by that very fact, becomes a despot to its own people and a menace to the family of nations."

"The spirit of Christianity can write a real and lasting peace in justice and charity to all nations, even to those not Christian."

The bishops said that President Roosevelt "has given solemn assurance that the United States has no designs of permanent conquest or selfish interest" but has guaranteed "to countries under temporary occupation as well as to our own the right to live in security and peace."

The United States, the statement said, "has been forced into the most devastating war of all time" involving "the most important moral issue of today." Some nations, the statement said, "are invited in waging war to bring about a slave world. We are associated with other powers in a deadly conflict against those nations to maintain a free world."

Commenting that war brings abominable conditions in the life of a nation, the hierarchy said:

"Our government has announced that the war emergency makes it necessary to employ an unprecedented number of women in industry. While we are wholeheartedly cooperating with our government in the prosecution of the war, we fear our grave concern about the Christian home in our beloved country in these crucial days. When mothers are engaged in industry a serious child problem necessarily arises."

"Every effort must be made to limit, as far as necessity permits, the employment of mothers in industry, particularly young mothers. Due provision should be made for the day care of the children of working mothers. The health and moral welfare of mothers employed in industry should be thoroughly safeguarded."

ALLIED SOLDIERS MOVING ON TUNIS

The Atlantic Coast, were reported to have received a friendly welcome. Ports and airfields in the western area were being operated by American forces, the communiqué said.

Planes Downed
That Hitler had decided to make a serious stand in Tunisia and perhaps even was hopeful of forming a junction between Axis forces in West Africa and Marshal Erwin Rommel's fleeing Africa Corps became obvious when long distance Allied pursuit planes shot down seven of a fleet of perhaps 60 Axis transport planes flying northward from Tunisia.

As the troop carriers were thought to have been empty at the time of the attack, military observers deduced that they had transported men and supplies to Tunis and were on the return trip to Italy for another load. It was known that German light tanks had reached Tunisia, probably by air.

Heavy British bombers attacked the main Tunis airport for the third straight night, destroying ground installations and large quantities of gasoline and other supplies.

Even should Axis forces in Tunisia succeed in consolidating their position and make a temporary stand against the big, superbly equipped Anglo-American Army moving against them from the west, it was highly doubtful that they ever would join arms with Rommel's hard-pressed army, fleeing from disaster in Egypt.

Intensifies Pursuit
Spurred by his commander, General B. L. Montgomery, the victorious British Eighth Army intensified its pursuit of the demoralized Germans on the coastal road west of Tobruk in Libya, and with its air force inflicting dreadful punishment on jammed Axis columns, prepared to wipe out the Africa Corps.

"There is good hunting to be had farther to the west in Libya," Montgomery exhorted his eager army. "On with the task, and good hunting to you all."

Twelve Axis divisions "have ceased to exist as effective fighting formations," he declared, while 30,000 prisoners, including nine general officers, have been captured. Montgomery told his men that he had "been as warmly" for their help and cooperation in smashing the Axis army.

"The Italian high command admitted there was 'heavy pressure' on its forces in Libya and said that last night's British bomber attack on Genoa caused 'serious damage.' It claimed that an Italian submarine had sneaked into the harbor of American-occupied Bougie in Algeria and torpedoed a 10,000-ton ship.

The Vichy radio revealed that General Latrue de Tassigny, commander of the Montpellier military region on the Southern French Coast and former commander in Morocco had led a short-lived revolt a few days prior to the German march into unoccupied France.

Upon learning Nov. 8 that General Henri Honoré Giraud had gone of North Africa to lead anti-Axis colonial forces there, the radio said, General Tassigny equipped a small unit of his forces with two guns and abandoned his posts with the idea of becoming chief of staff of French rebel forces.

"After spending some time moving about the country, the general learned of measures taken to insure order and surrender to police, the broadcast said. It added that he would be tried by a court martial."

Roof Fires Extinguished By City Fire Department

The city fire department answered two minor alarms yesterday. At 10:18 a. m., a roof fire was extinguished at the home of Willie Atkinson, negro, at 1012½ Chestnut street and a similar roof fire was put out at the home of John Biddell of 114 South Tenth street at 4:28 p. m. Both fires were caused by sparks from chimneys, members of the department said.

Williston High Wins Over Columbia 13-8

A touchdown in the last four minutes of play gave the Tigers of Williston Industrial school a 13-8 victory over the Columbia, S. C. Booker T. Washington school before some 3,000 spectators here Friday night.

In the final quarter, "Ace" Rutland took the ball on what was to have been an off tackle play but reversed his field to dash for a touchdown.

RICKENBACKER, PARTY SAVED BY NAVY PLANE

not include Stinson, who said Rickenbacker was "exempt from ordinary rules." Finally, hope revived with the rescue of Captain Cherry. The search was renewed at once, Rickenbacker's group on the raft and those on the island were apparently found soon afterward.

The Navy announcement said only:

"The rescue of all the surviving members of Captain Rickenbacker's plane, which was forced down after reporting less than one hour's supply of gasoline on Oct. 21, was accomplished after a search of a wide area of the Pacific by planes and ships. Even the approximate location of Captain Rickenbacker's forced landing at sea was unknown when the search began."

"The raft on which Captain Rickenbacker was found was picked up about 600 miles north of Samoa."

The three weeks which the captain and his comrades spent adrift can only be imagined until they can tell their story. The raft which was their home was apparently of the four-man type—nine by five feet, with a thickness of 22 inches. Five or six can crowd onto such a raft in a pinch.

Emergency Rations
The raft is inflated from a compressed oxygen bottle at the pull of a cord. It carries emergency rations known as "Type K"—biscuits, canned meat, malted milk tablets, chewing gum and other items. Each meal for each man is boxed separately, and there are enough boxes to give men three meals a day for five days. There were four on the Rickenbacker raft until Kazemarczyk died a few days ago.

The raft is equipped with a sun shield. It is yellow on one side to attract attention and camouflaged on the other, and may be reversed if enemy ships or planes are sighted. There are small oars, flares, water, a sea anchor, hand pumps, plugs for making bullet holes air-tight, and dyes to color the surrounding water to attract searches. Some rafts also carry radios, but Rickenbacker's apparently did not.

Rickenbacker gained fame as a World War ace. He downed 21 German planes. He also was famous as a dare-devil driver of racing automobiles, and many times was severely injured in spills and collisions. Two years ago he was badly hurt in the crash of an airliner near Atlanta. In late years he has flown extensively but usually as a passenger.

Actually and officially it is Colonel Edward V. Rickenbacker. But he has been known as captain for so long that, despite his silver eagles, he apparently prefers the lesser title.

BERLE ASKS ITALY TO RESIST NAZIS

would be open to Italy once she had renounced aggression.

"The Italian people now, while the struggle is still in progress," said Berle, "can give unquestioned evidence that the philosophy of conquest and force has been conclusively put aside, by joining the struggle against Nazi and Fascist tyranny."

This, added Berle, was asking little — only that Italinas shall not condemn themselves and their children to further slaughter, and that they accept "peaceful arrangements of peaceful peoples" which would afford opportunities for improved economic standards, better labor conditions, and access to world trade on equal terms.

"The Italian patriots of today," Berle asserted, "will be those who now repeat achievements of their great forefathers, who drive out tyranny, who re-establish firm and local government, who make their people free, who lead Italy once more into the family of civilized nations."

"To those true patriots who undertake the liberation of Italy, we say, you do not act alone. The armies of America and of the United Nations are close at hand, and behind them the full strength of the most powerful nations in the world."

HOLIDAY TRAVEL REDUCTION ASKED

cy, OPA, even anticipated Eastman's action by cancelling leaves, on its own initiative, for its 40,000 workers.

The bulk of holiday travel, ODT expects, will be that of furloughed service men coming home from camp or of relatives and sweethearts going to Army posts to see them.

"We think that kind of travel be," the spokesman said, "is as necessary as any travel can be," the spokesman said. "It means much to the morale of the soldiers and sailors and it's equally important to the home front morale of their families."

Funeral services will be conducted from the home Sunday at 3 o'clock and burial will follow in the cemetery at Mount Hope church.

HAUPT'S FRIENDS ARE CONVICTED

liam J. Campbell said, the court will hear any further defense motions and also any arguments in mitigation in behalf of the defendants.

Throughout the reading of the verdict the defendants showed but little emotion.

However, Mr. Froehling virtually collapsed a little later. Judge Campbell said court was adjourned. The jurors were excused. Deputy federal marshals assisted Mrs. Froehling from the courtroom.

She and the other defendants were taken to the marshal's lock-up a floor above the courtroom. From there they were to be taken back to the Cook county jail where they have been held.

The trial began Oct. 26 and re-voiced around the "aid and comfort" passage of this definition of treason in the U. S. Constitution: "Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court."

Those on trial were accused of harboring and assisting Herbert Haupt. He was a Chicago youth who went to Germany in 1941, and became a Nazi saboteur. He and seven other saboteurs were smuggled into the United States by German submarines last June. They were captured before they could cripple any American war plants.

Herbert and five fellow conspirators were executed Aug. 8 in Washington after a trial by a military commission. The other two were sentenced to prison.

GASOLINE 'BLACK MARKET' ATTACKED

The OPA's "S" coupons good for extra gasoline rations, had been illegally sold to filling stations and to private motorists by their holders, the operators of commercial vehicles such as trucks and taxicabs.

A number of operators of commercial vehicles found they had more coupons in their "S" books than they needed in view of the fact the books will go out of use December 1 when the new "T" ration cards come into use under the transport mileage rationing program of the Office of Defense Transportation.

The OPA charged that "S" coupons have been sold to some service station men who thereby were enabled to deliver gasoline to private motorists who had no ration coupons. By turning in to his supplier the "S" stamps, the station operator could obtain more gasoline. The "S" cards are good for five gallons per coupon.

In other instances, the OPA said, it is suspected that "S" card holders have sold coupons to individual motorists. These in turn have been able to find stations which would accept the "S" coupons even through the gasoline purchaser was driving a car labelled with an A, B or C ration sticker.

With respect to the Washington dealers, whose names were not announced OPA said its compliance division would decide Monday whether to prosecute criminally or to take punitive action by suspending the dealers right to deal in rationed articles. By such suspension of trade in gasoline and tries, a dealer could be put out of business.

ATTACKS COST NAZIS THOUSANDS OF MEN

newed efforts to crack the Volga citadel that has defied them through nearly three months of bloody siege.

In addition to the manpower loss, the communiqué reported the three days of attacks brought destruction of 17 Nazi tanks, 14 guns and 13 warplanes. The Russians yesterday said the Germans "made an insignificant advance" Friday in Stalingrad (perhaps the gain mentioned Sunday as the sole German success in the three days).

While the Germans were throwing themselves against Red lines in the city, the defenders were reported consolidating newly won positions northwest of the town.

(A BBC broadcast from London tonight said that reports from Stalingrad told of the Germans hastily constructing dugouts and emergency winter quarters outside the city.)

The communiqué said the Russians in continuing operations southeast of Nalchik occupied a number of enemy positions including one "of great tactical importance" despite strong German counterattacks. "In one sector the Nazis were said to have lost 150 men and eight tanks."

Northeast of Tuapse enemy attacks were repelled and 11 tanks and 17 lorries destroyed by artillery fire.

(The Germans said they captured dominating heights in the western Caucasus and bombarded Tuapse, repulsed strong Russian attacks in the central Caucasus, and took more blocks of houses in hard fighting in Stalingrad. Russian attacks south of the city were reported repelled.)

The most dangerous German drive on the high Nalchik plains appeared completely checked, and the resilient Red army was reported isolating and exterminating German groups in the mountain forests leading to the Georgian military highway.

Northwestern's Wildcats, beaten six times in a row, bounded from the depths of football despair to play their best game of the season through their brilliant forward passer, Otto Graham, tossing thrilling touchdown aeriels.

Wisconsin, beaten only by Iowa in one of its strongest title bids in 30 years, was experiencing a terrific scare until Lee Seelinger, a substitute halfback in the game for only three minutes, fired the winning touchdown pass.

ARMY GOBBLES GOBBLES 19-7

Capt. Hank Mazur Leads Cadets Back To Victory Over VPI

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Army's footballers celebrated Thanksgiving early today by gobbling up the Gobblers of Virginia Polytechnic Institute like so much white meat, 19 to 7 before some 10,000 frozen -toed fans in Michie stadium.

Getting back in the win column after two straight setbacks, Army scored in each of the first three periods on marches of 93, 54 and 67 yards, respectively. Hank Mazur scored the first marker, going over his own right guard for the last five yards. Tom Lombardo, sub fullback produced the second tally on a 36-yard pass from Mazur. Bob Woods came up with the third six pointer on a three yard tuck.

After being held to two first downs for two quarters, V. P. I. finally got into the scoring column in the third. Chasen recovered a Army fumble on the Gobblers 43 and a buck took it to the 45, from where Joe Foltz heaved a 106 yard pitch to Elmer Wilson on the Army 36 and Elmer galloped across from there.

The statistics show just how much Army outplayed the Southerners. The Cadets chalked up two first downs to two and gained 173 yards rushing to the Virginian's 47.
