Sunday School Lesson

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The two chapters that constitute the text of this lesson mark the highest point of encouragement in the two Epistles to the Corinthians. The actual printed lesson consists of various verses from the two chapters, but this is an instance in which it is well to take the whole Scripture passage suggested. In fact, the two Epistles must be studied as a whole to get the full perspective.

The picture is not equally fine in every part. We have a chance to see something of Paul's weakness as well as his strength. We find him at times not quite sure of himself, or of the truth concerning some situation. He makes it plain in such cases that he is just giving his opinion, and is not expressing a decree of the Lord; but at other times he is so certain of his ground that he speaks with authority, believing that he is speaking with the voice of the Lord. At some points, as in some of Paul's references to women modern readers have been inclined to think that Paul might have been expressing his own opinions.

But in the main Paul reveals himself as a wise counselor, and except in matters in which customs have changed with the world's progress, or to put it more correctly, in which Christianity has brought about progress, as in the elevation of women to an equal status with men, Christian experience confirms Paul's judgment. It is as true as it was in Paul's time, that corrupt living and sexual immorality bring unhappiness and tragedy apart from their destruction of the soul itself.

Paul found it necessary to rebuke immorality very sharply on of Camp Davis, Young People's League 7 p.m.

When the chief executive returned from a recent month's vacation in the south his personal physician, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, said he would send the President through another physical examination to make certain he had thrown off the effects of a series of winter colds, flu and bronchial trouble even though the President appeared to be in excellent shape after his rest.

For House of Representatives

EVERY VOTER IS ENTITLED TO KNOW EVERY CANDIDATES PLATFORM!

- I favor an all-out support by legislation of measures necessary to the War Effort and full provision for returning service men and women.
- I favor the repeal of the sales tax; this tax was levied as an emergency tax during the depth of the depression. There was a solemn pledge made to the people that it would be repealed. This promise should be kept. It is now in every sense of the word a "nuisance tax."
- I favor the strengthening of the City of Wilmington's Fireman and policeman Civil Service Bill. This should be done immediately, so as to remove these public servants from any political influence or pressure on the part of anyone.
- I favor a fair and conservative extension of our city limits; provided, that the people who live in the affected areas can be guaranteed by the time the Legislature meets in 1945, that public utilities such as fire protection, police protection, city water, sewerage and garbage collection will be furnished. I will not support any measure that does not provide that these utilities shall be furnished before any tax on property in the affected areas is levied and collected.
- I favor the creation by law of a "Juvenile Welfare Commission" for New Hanover County, said Commission to be composed of at least five persons; one member each to be appointed by the following: The Ministerial Association of New Hanover County, the County Parent-Teachers Association, the City Council, the County Medical Association, and the County Commission. This "Juvenile Welfare Commission" shall have general supervision of all matters pertaining to the welfare of juveniles in the City of Wilmington and throughout New Hanover County. The Juvenile Detention Home and the County Juvenile Court will be created under this act. The City Council and the County Commission in joint session shall appoint a Juvenile Judge for the Juvenile Court; and he shall be appointed only upon the majority recommendation of the Juvenile Welfare Commission.
- I favor a reduction of the State Personal Income Tax within reasonable limits; for our Federal Income Taxes are heavy and are likely to grow heavier.
- I favor legislation that will remove the County Board of Health and its functions from political control. This vital and essential welfare service should be placed beyond the realm of publicity seeking and power grasping politicians.
- I believe in home ownership of all public utilities, for by this method only can fair power rates be guaranteed to the consumer. The intelligent and courageous fight for lower gas and light rates made by our former Mayor Hargrove Bellamy should be carried to a successful conclusion.
