Women's Corps Needs Dental Technicians

Women who have completed high school and have had training as dental laboratory technicians, dental chair assistants, and dental hygienists are needed to fill these positions in the Women's Army Corps.

The Wilmington Army Recruiting station announced yesterday that qualified women will be assigned to their respective positions directly upon completion of the six weeks of basic training given to all members of the Corps.

Applicants interested in the fields but who have not had training for such in civilian life may be recommended for the three-month course at the Army's dental technicians school. Graduation from the intensive course will lead directly to an assignment as dental technician.

War Bond Sales Began At Tobacco Warehouses

WHITEVILLE, Aug. 22.—Sale of war bonds at booths located in Whiteville's six tobacco warehouses began yesterday as a part of the North Carolina war bond program being sponsored in all North Carolina towns having tobacco markets.

Highlight of the first week of sale will be the appearance here Thursday of Clyde R. Hoey, who will deliver an address from the Atlantic Coast Line plaza at 11 a. m. Tobacco sales for the day will be geared to the address so that all farmers and towns people will be able to hear Hoey's address.

GOP Leader Says Labor 'Resentful'

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(P)—Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican national chairman, said today that labor unions throughout the country are becoming "resentful" of what he termed the "high-handed tactics of the Hillman-Browder faction of the New Deal."

Brownell told a press conference the recent resignation of the members of two Utah CIO locals from Sidney Hillman's CIO Political Action Committee "is symptomatic of a nationwide resentment."

JOB APPLICANTS WAIT ON BOARD

Fifteen applicants who took civil service examinations for police and firemen positions August 15 are awaiting correction of test papers, to be made some time this week.

C. W. Shackelford, secretary of the city civil service commission, reported yesterday that nine men took the examinations for policemen and six for firemen. There were no women applying.

At the latest count, he said, there was a shortage of seven officers in the police department. No shortage was revealed in the Fire department by Chief J. L. Croom. Shackelford said there were five firemen needed a while ago, but evidently the list was filled from the reserve list of eligibles.

At the meeting scheduled for this week, the civil service commission, in addition to discussing routine business, will correct examination paper of the 15 and will place the ones who passed on the eligible list.

Members of the commission are E. M. Berry, chairman; Dr. J. E. Evans, representing the medical association; the Rev. Earl L. Bradley, representing the ministerial conference; Norwood S. Westbrook, firemen representative; and Schackelford, secretary and also representative of the policemen.

Col. Paul Younts Returning To State

Col. Paul R. Younts of Charlotte, former state commander and past national vice commander of the American Legion, who is well known here and throughout the state, is now enroute home after many months of foreign combat service. Judge Henry L. Stevens of Warsaw who is presiding at the current term of civil court here reported this morning.

Col. Younts has been stationed in the Pacific as deputy chief of staff of the 13th AAF.

He has been decorated with the Legion of Merit and the Air Medal in the present war.

Home Making Talks To Be Started Today

The first of a series of talks and demonstrations on "Home Making" will be given at the Fifth and Orange USO this morning at 11 o'clock.

The instructor will be Miss Mary Elizabeth Groverman, home economics teacher at New Hanover high school. She will speak on "Food and Nutrition." The course is under the direction of Miss Ann Mason, county home demonstration agent.

The instruction is open to wives of servicemen and residents of the community.

29 Divorces Given In Superior Court

Twenty-nine suits for divorce were granted in the first two days of this week's civil term of Superior Court, with Judge Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of Warsaw, presiding.

A mistrial was ordered in two cases, those of Alice C. Tart vs. Herbert F. Tart, and Mozelle Penny Dupree vs. David Edward Dupree, because of withdrawal of jurors.

Two of the divorces were granted on grounds of adultery of the defendant. The cases were Rhudor E. Bowers vs. Nordica L. Bowers, and W. L. Pederson vs. Frances Ann Pederson.

Cases completed yesterday included: Matthew A. Foreman vs. Mary Dixon Foreman; Jessie H. Casteen vs. Walter Casteen; Laurence Wellington Carroll vs. Katie Elizabeth Raynor Carroll; and James H. Brown, Jr., vs. Charly Bell Brown. Brown was ordered to pay $16 a week for support of his four children, ages 11, seven, eight and four, who were turned over to the custody of their mother.

USO CLUB PLANS 4-STATE NIGHT

The garden of the Fifth and Orange USO will be the meeting place tonight for the sons and daughters of four of the Middle Atlantic states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Civilians and military personnel from this area are invited to hear an official from each state bring greetings and tell of natural resources and industrial achievements in the state.

It will be "old home week" for some of the guests as they are grouped together under their state banner.

Walter Kelly, director of the Fourth and Ann USO, will act as master of ceremonies. He has arranged a state quiz that will make even a New Yorker take notice to answer the questions. Prizes will be given to one person from each state who answers the quiz correctly.

Entertainment by professionals and amateurs will be included on the program. A prize for the best amateur number has been planned, and a door prize of a telephone call home will be given the holder of a lucky number.

Mrs. Wallace West will be hostess in charge of the reception committee.

A letter from the respective governors will be an important feature of the program. Exhibits from each state will be shown at the gathering, to which the entire community of Wilmington is invited.
