

BAPTISTS SEEKING $150,000 CHURCH

The congregation of Temple Baptist church plans to build a new church costing $150,000 as soon as building conditions permit. Louis O. Fonville, general chairman of the new building fund drive launched a few days ago, said yesterday.

The first report meeting of solicitors in the campaign will be held Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the church annex. All workers are urged to make reports at this time. From all indications Mr. Fonville said, splendid progress is expected to be noted at the meeting.

"The Rev. W. J. Stephenson, our new pastor, has made hundreds of friends in and out of the church since coming here," Mr. Fonville said.

"He is doing an excellent job and since taking over the pastorate December 1 has had 32 new members to join the church. In calling, the Rev. Mr. Stephenson we felt that we were calling a pastor who would lead us through our new building fund program."

"Our church and Sunday school are filled to capacity each Sunday," Mr. Fonville stated.

He added that the congregation has high hopes of raising $10,000 more in the current financial effort by Emphasis day on Easter Sunday. A number of friends of the church, he continued, have already expressed their desire to have a part in the new building program.

House Group Considering Control Of Beer Permits

RALEIGH, March 14.—(AP)—A subcommittee of the House Finance Committee today began consideration of approximately 30 local bills seeking to control the issuance of beer and wine licenses, but took no action.

Spokesmen for bills providing that county commissioners could, in their discretion, refuse to issue wine and beer licenses in Vance, Swain, Granville, Northampton, Avery, Madison, McDowell and Duplin counties were heard today.

Henry T. Powell, mayor of Henderson, told the subcommittee that Vance county faces "an intolerable situation." He said that police officers attribute 95 per cent of their arrests for public drunkenness to wine.

MENTHO-MULSION

Captured Nazi Recalls Love, Life In Brooklyn

BY ROBERT MEYER

WITH THE U. S. 90TH DIVISION, in Germany, March 14. —(AP)—The German lieutenant sat in a prisoner of war enclosure and repeated over and over "it was a beautiful place, Brooklyn."

On his chest he wore the iron cross; on his finger the class ring of Fordham University.

Nine years ago this same officer, Hans Detels, sat in a little room overlooking the East river in Brooklyn, and wondered about his future. In those days he didn't realize that future would make him a prisoner of war in his native land of an invading army from America—where he got education, earned money, played on sunny beaches and found love.

The slim, blond, 40-year-old Detels was captured by the 90th Division near the Rhine.

"I left my home in Hamburg when I was 18 and went to the United States for adventure," he said. "I earned enough money working for a cabinet company to get an education at Brooklyn Academy. In my spare time I taught gymnastics to German boys at the Ninth street YMCA."

"I remember Sunday afternoons when friends and I used to practice handstands out on the beach at far Rockaway."

Detels drew two snapshots from his wallet remarking, "this one is New York as it looked from my window. There is me upside down on the beach."

Detels said he enrolled at Fordham in 1932. He recalled the excitement of football seasons but didn't remember the players.

He graduated from Fordham and returned to Germany in 1937 to study medicine at Hamburg and Vienna. He was drafted into the Wehrmacht and wounded on the Russian front in 1942. Later he saw service in Norway and France.

He shyly drew another snapshot from his wallet and showed a picture of his former sweetheart whom he met while attending Fordham. He said her name was Anna Lo Monaca, Brooklyn.

"It is a long time since I have seen Anna," he said. "I heard from her last in August and December and I know she will be happy to learn that I am still alive. Maybe some day I will come back to her."

Millions Switch To Mutton Suet Idea For Chest Cold Aid

Relieves Muscular Aches and Pains, Chest Muscle Tightness

Many mothers all over America are switching to this idea of getting fast relief for these chest cold miseries. They are simply following Grandma. For years she counted on mutton suet to help carry her home medication to do its pain-easing work on nerve ends in the skin. No wonder so many more now welcome Grandma's idea as improved by science—Penetro, with its multi-medicated formula in a base containing mutton suet—that acts both as counter-irritant and pain-reliever when you spread it on, and as a soothing aromatic when breathed in. And so today Penetro hurries along new help in the old reliable way—help that eases painful misery, lessens coughing, loosens phlegm, soothes chest rawness—so that you can rest more comfortably and give nature a chance to restore vitality. That's why millions are switching to Penetro today—why druggists are recommending it. 25c, double supply 35c. For your family's chest cold miseries, be sure you get white, easy-to-use Penetro.
