By WHITNEY MARTIN

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 6.—(P)—“I’d like to have seen any of these expert signal stealers try to steal Mr. McGraw’s signals,” Eddie Brannick was saying, “he’d have them so mixed up they were.”

It was raining and the New York Giants exhibition game had been called off, so Eddie had plenty of time to talk on a favorite subject. The Giant secretary practically grew up under John McGraw, whom he never mentions without the “Mister.”

“Mr. McGraw,” he continued, “might be fooling with a couple of bats or doing something with his hands to give the impression he was giving signals, when all the time he was telling someone down the bench to give the signals, and what to signal. The other team never knew where the signals were coming from.”

“And I’d like to see some of the smart traders today up against Mr. McGraw,” he continued. “He never got fooled. I remember once I was walking down the street with him and he said, ‘Eddie, I’m going to pull one on Jack Hendricks. I’m going to trade him John Kelly.’”

Hendricks was manager of the Reds. Kelly seemed to be going good, and I asked Mr. McGraw why he was going to get rid of him. He said: “I’ve been watching him in batting practice, and he’s been missing fast balls a foot. It’s his eyes.” Well, he traded Kelly for Ed Roush, and Kelly only lasted a year or two longer.

“Mr. McGraw knew what was going on at all times. He’d walk into the locked room and see some player chewing a big wad of gum, and he’d know the fellow had been drinking and was trying to kill his breath.”

“Mr. McGraw always ran his

PRO GRID TEAMS START DRAFTING COLLEGE PLAYERS

Chicago Cardinals Get First Choice and Take Charlie Trippi

NEW YORK, April 6.—(P)—With more hope than confidence, the National Football League set about replenishing its player rosters today by means of the annual draft of college players, after devoting an entire morning to wrangling about questions of eligibility for selection.

Once the draft was begun, Charlie Trippi, former Georgia half-back who starred last fall for the Third Air Force team of Morris Field, Charlotte, N. C., was chosen as the No. 1 prospect. Trippi, now stationed at Miami, Fla., was chosen by the Chicago Cardinals, who won first choice by the flip of a coin.

The Cardinals, the Pittsburgh Steelers with whom they were combined last fall, and the Brooklyn Tigers were tied for lowest rank in the league standings and thus eligible for first pick.

Pittsburgh, selecting second, picked the subject of most of the morning’s controversy, Paul Duhart of Florida and the Green Bay Packers. Duhart, who decided to play pro football last fall after being discharged from the Army, came under a special ruling. The league rule is that no player can be signed until his college class has been graduated. Since Florida had no football team last fall, the Packers were permitted to sign Duhart.

Today the league voted that Duhart and a few other players in the same category, must go on the draft list since his normal college career would end this year. It was decided, however, to waive a rule that does not permit a club to trade its first or second choice men in the draft until the player has completed one season, and to permit the trading of these players only to other clubs for which they had played. Thus the Steelers can send Duhart back to Green Bay in a trade, but not to any other team.

The first choices of other clubs were: Brooklyn, Joe Renfro, Tulane; Boston, Ed Prokop, Georgia Tech; Cleveland, Elroy Hirsch, Wisconsin; Detroit, Frank Szymanski, Notre Dame; Chicago Bears, Don Lund, Michigan; Washington, Jim Hardy, Southern California; Philadelphia, John Yonakor, Notre Dame; New York, Elmer Barbour, Wake Forest, and Green Bay, Walter Schlinkman, Texas Tech. Except for Szymanski, center, and Yonakor, an end, all the first choice players are backs.

The long process of drafting 30 players for each club took up the entire opening session of the annual meeting, resumed after a sudden postponement in Chicago last winter. By tomorrow the club owners hope to get around to such matters as the projected Brooklyn-Louisiana merger which will reduce the circuit to ten clubs for the 1945 season.

ARENA PRESIDENT IS HELD RAMPANT

NEW YORK, April 6.—(U.P.)—Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine insisted today that Ned Irish, acting president of Madison Square Garden, had told him betting was becoming rampant at the Garden. He was testifying at the open hearing into basketball gambling.

Irish, in testifying had denied that he told the commissioner “any such thing.”

Valentine testified today that Irish had sought a conference with and said he feared a “scandal.” He reiterated his testimony that Irish had sought a conference with him concerning gambling. Irish testified that he had sought no conference, but Valentine said he had a photostatic copy of an order he sent out for the meeting.

Valentine repeated his testimony that Irish told him gamblers were becoming particularly bold in connection with hockey and basketball games and boxing events and congregated in the lobby, in the aisles and around the arena and occupied some of the boxes.

Irish, also told him, Valentine testified, that gamblers were trying “to corrupt basketball players and coaches by having them toss games.”

Valentine pointed out that these were not Irish’s words but that he had taken notes.

FORMER RESIDENT CAPTURES NAZIS

One of the interesting stories to come out of the breakthrough by the Americans from the Roer to the Rhine was revealed recently when a battery of the 557th AAA Battalion, commanded by Captain Frank M. Fagan, formerly of Wilmington, captured a Nazi ack-ack outfit nearly intact.

The story was printed in “Rail-splitters,” unofficial Army publication of the division to which the 557th is attached.

Entering Kemp one morning, the company noticed a movement and noises coming from the other side of a hedge and found an 88 mm. flack battery pulling out. Captain Fagan deployed his men as infantry, the Army publication disclosed. The Germans, realizing they were trapped, surrendered.

The story in “Rail-splitters” told how the enemy had destroyed two of their six guns, but Captain Fagan’s men captured two officers, 50 enlisted men, four 88’s and rifles and pistols to arm a complete battery.

Mrs. Fagan now lives in Brookline. While the officer was stationed at Camp Davis, soon after the organization of the balloon barrage there, he and his wife lived with Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Marshburn, 2307 Chestnut street.

CITY FIRE LOSS TOTALS $4,939

Total fire loss in Wilmington last month fell $1,746 below the figure for March, 1944, it was reported yesterday by Fire Chief Luddie Croon.

March fire loss amounted to $4,939 in comparison to $6,685 in the corresponding period last year. Total value of buildings and contents where fires occurred was $78,100, which was covered by $30,650 insurance.

He disclosed that Inspector L. R. Frost has made application for pension after 35 years of continuous service.

Cherry Pointers Win National GG Finals

Special to the Star

CHERRY POINT, April 6.—Three hard hitting Cherry Point pugilists reached the height of amateur success Wednesday night by winning three titles in the National Golden Gloves finals at Chicago.

A capacity crowd of 20,752 fans watched Sgt. Elbert Highers, of Oneida, N. Y.; Staff Sgt. Lavern Roach, of Plainview, Tex.; and Sgt. Howard Brodt, of Utica, N. Y., fight their way to the lightweight, welterweight, and middleweight crowns respectively.

Brodt and Roach completely monopolized the victories along the Eastern Coast, both winning bouts in Charlotte, Washington, and New York before going on to capture the Chicago diadem.

Highers won his Chicago chance by virtue of wins at Charlotte and Washington, before being decisively won by Edward Murphy of New York by Edward Murphy. However, Murphy was injured during the bout and Highers was chosen to represent the Eastern coaches at Chicago.

Coach Johnny Abood, Flying Leathernecks, completely swept the Carolinas, taking five titles in Charlotte, Golden Gloves Finals. Along with Highers, Roach and Brodt, Featherweight Johnny Byrnes and Light-heavy Joe Rindone emerged victorious.

Highers defeated Bernard Paige in three fast rounds to cop the 135 pound title, and Roach coasted to an easy win over Gilbert Gargola in the welterweight group. Brodt won a definite decision over

Major League Catching Records Near Collapse

CAMP LEE, Va., April 6.—(P)—Several major league catching records, defying time and receivers alike for many years, apparently are as near collapse as Germany’s self-style supermen.

Four veteran receivers who appear to have golden opportunities to write their names in big league record books are Al Lopez and Virgil Spinks, of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Rick Ferrell, Washington Senators; and Frank Hayes, Philadelphia Athletics.

Lopez, the fiery Latin, is nearing the record for the number of major league contests caught. The present record of 1,790 was set by Leo (Gabby) Hartnett while catching for the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants from 1922 through 1941.

Appearing behind the plate in 115 games in 1944, Lopez pushed his total to 1,714 games, only 76 short of Hartnett’s mark. Lopez also has a chance to tie Bill Dickerson’s record of catching 100 or more games for 13 years. The past season was the senior’s 12th.

Ferrell, like Lopez in his 17th season in the big leagues, needs 104 games, having caught in 1-686 contests. Last year Rick was behind the bat in 96 games. Even if he fails to disturb Hartnett’s mark, Ferrell is almost certain to break the American League record of 1,722 set by Ray Schalk of the Chicago White Sox.

Iron Man Hayes, who shared the spotlight with Ray Mueller of the Cincinnati Reds last year by catching in all of his team’s 155 games, needs to catch the A’s first 61 games this season to surpass Mueller’s two-year record of 217 consecutive games. Hayes handled the last two contests for the St. Louis Browns in 1943 before bagging his 155 straight for the Mackmen. Last year both he and Huelner topped George Gibson’s previous record of 133 straight in 1909.

By batting .301 in 54 games last season, Davis became the first National League catcher to hit .300 or better for 10 seasons. Davis homered in his last at bat of the 1944 season to climb above the .300 mark. The 40-year-old seasoned campaigner is one short of Dickey’s major league standard of 300 seasons.

ing on several hours. I can’t tell you how many have been shot down. . . . But the total compares well with any other battle in the Pacific.”

On Okinawa, the Marines in the north gained up to nearly three miles in their advance up the isthmus which joins the southern and northern halves of the island. Resistance was scattered.

But the infantrymen in the south, attacking the main Japanese defense line before the city of Naha, met heavy enemy resistance supported by artillery. Naval guns and carrier planes hit the enemy lines with shells and bombs throughout Friday.

Nimitz announced that in capturing the Kerama islands off the west coast of Okinawa, invaded six days before the major landing, American forces killed 539 Japanese and captured 168 prisoners.

American infantrymen were virtually stalled in their drive on Naha.

Front dispatches said that the Japanese launched their biggest counter-attack of the campaign Friday afternoon.

The Army troops were some five miles from Naha but the final drive to overrun the capital city and two airfields in the area would not be easy, the front dispatches indicated.

The enemy was fighting back with guns and mortars hidden in hill caves, just as they did on Saipan and in the Philippines. Observers speculated that a tedious and bloody job might lie ahead of the American 24th Corps infantrymen who will have the job of rooting them out.

Heaviest fighting centered about a triangular cluster of three hills some four miles north of Naha. The Americans were headed south along a narrow isthmus toward the hills and the capital city, which lies in smoking and reportedly almost lifeless ruins from air and naval bombardment.

Planes joined the assault on Japanese hill defenses with bombs and rockets.

(Tokyo broadcasts recorded by United Press in New York and San Francisco said the Americans were reinforcing their landing forces and that more than 300 small landing craft were lying at anchor off Okinawa.)

(BBC quoted unofficial reports that strong Russian forces had stormed into the southeastern quarter of Vienna and were fighting house to house through the industrial suburbs.)

German broadcasters, evidently preparing the German public for bad news of the Vienna battle, said the envelopment of the city had become a simpler task for the Red Army following the fall of Bratislava on the Danube to the east.

On the extreme southern end of the front, Tolbukhin had crossed the Austrian frontier and pushed his flank to within 75 miles of the Italian border, Moscow dispatches said.

Three tankers and two small freighters were sunk or damaged in the Pescadore islands and parked planes were set afire at the Toyohara airdrome in Formosa.

In addition to the ships hit in China waters, Allied fliers sank or damaged 17 freighters or small coastal vessels in Borneo and Celebes waters.

On other Philippines land fronts the 40th Division captured the Silay airdrome and sent patrols to the Alicante airdrome on Negros island.

Byrd Places Second With 139; Followed By White With 140

ATLANTA, April 6.—(P)—Byron Nelson, the Texan who migrated to Toledo, Ohio, took a six stroke lead over the field in the $10,000 open Iron Lung Golf Tournament today as he added a par 69 to yesterday’s 64 for a 133 total at the halfway mark.

Sammy Byrd, of Detroit, the former New York Yankee outfielder, slipped into second place with the best round of the day, a four-under-par 65 which gave him 139.

Orville White, Winston-Salem, N. C. pro, shot his second consistent 70 in a row to land in third place. Three players whose winnings on the winter circuit have been scanty were in a deadlock for the next spot with 141’s. They were Joe Kirkwood, Philadelphia; Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va.; and Joe Zarhardt, Morristown, Pa.

Slamming Sammy Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., and Jug McSpaden of Sanford, Me., runners-up to Nelson after the first round, fell behind today. Sneed, after going out in a ragged 39, recovered with a 34 coming in which gave him a two-day total of 142. McSpaden’s 75 landed him in the 144 bracket with several others.

Jimmy Hines of Amsterdam, N. Y., shooting a 69 today was tied with Sneed at 142. Ed Furgol, Moline, Ill., also had a 142 to lead the amateurs.

Nelson started out today with a 33 on the first nine, gathering three birdies and one bogie, but he faltered coming down the stretch and took a two over par 36 on the back nine. He bogied Nos. 14 and 16.

Byrd got his 65 with 14 pars and four birdies, a chip shot from the edge of the green on No. 6 for a birdie two featuring.

Denny Champayne, Orlando, Fla. amateur, scored a hole-in-one on the 145-yard sixth.

trality between Japan and the Soviet Union,” it said, “has contributed not only to peace and stability in the East Asiatic situation but also to the welfare of all mankind in a world engrossed in the greatest turmoil in history.”

Opinion here hardened in the belief that one year could not elapse before Russia was in the Pacific War—possibly if not probably because of a mad dog attack by the Japanese Manchurian Army on Siberia.

Dispatches from Moscow said nothing to conflict with this view. Stockholm, recalling that the Japanese Naval attaché in the Berlin embassy is due to arrive in Stockholm soon, suggested that, both in view of the impending collapse of Germany and the danger of war with Russia, Japan wanted to build up its legation staff in Sweden as a key neutral country.

German broadcasts said that Russia’s denunciation of the neutrality pact was decided upon at the Big Three Crimea conference but added that it changed nothing from either the political or military viewpoint.

PHILLIES HELP DEDICATE FIELD

CAMP LEE, Va., April 6.—(P)—The Philadelphia Phillies of the National League today helped Camp Lee dedicate its athletic field which bears the name of Sgt. Henry Nowak, former pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was the first National League ball player killed in action in World War Two. Nowak died of wounds received in Belgium on New Year’s Day.

The Phillies, playing before a crowd of 10,000 soldiers and a number of high ranking officers, defeated the Camp Lee Travelers, managed by Ted (Specs) Garbee, former Lynchburg, Va., Piedmont League pilot, 4-2.

Vernon Kennedy and Charley Sproull held the soldiers to six hits while Jim Hopper, bought by Pittsburgh from Toronto before he entered the Army, gave up 12.

Brig. Gen. George A. Horkan, Commanding Officer at Lee, threw out the first ball to Herb Penock, Phils’ Manager to open the game, and the National Leaguers quickly started to work by grabbing a one run lead in the second inning on hits by Nick Goulish and Gus Mancuso.

They scored two more in the third after two were out on four successive hits by Jam Wassell, Rene Monteagudo, Goulish, and Mancuso. The soldiers came back with two counter hits in their half of the third, scoring on a double by Dave Phillee, ex-Chicago White Sox outfielder, and a long fly by Buster Maynard, former New York Giant and Richmond outfielder.

The visitors’ last run came in the sixth when Bitsy Mott singled home Granville Hammer after the latter had doubled.

The WLB set 3:30 p. m. tomorrow to hear the parties’ report. It then probably will arrange public hearings for next week.

Collapse of the negotiations may retard a back-to-work movement.

A UMW spokesman predicted full production by Monday, but a survey by the Solid Fuels Administration indicated that production today would suffer nearly as heavily as yesterday.

Before the mines could be taken over by the Government, the WLB would have to certify the dispute to President Roosevelt.

The board took jurisdiction last weekend after the bargaining conference had failed to reach agreement on a single issue in a month of negotiation. It ordered the principals to continue meetings this week and submit a progress report tomorrow.
