

Rabbi Thurman Addresses Meet Of N. C. Sorosis

The April business meeting of North Carolina Sorosis was held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Sorosis clubhouse with Mrs. C. Wayne Spencer, president, presiding. Routine reports were given, outstanding among these reports was that presented by Mrs. L. L. Motte, finance chairman, announcing that Sorosis was now free from debt, the debt of remodeling of the clubhouse some years ago has been paid up.

One new member was voted into the club, Mrs. G. C. Scott. A short discussion on the Federal Education bill was held by the members, after which the announcement of the annual business meeting to be held on May 3 was given at which time all officers and chairmen of the various departments will present their annual reports. Following the business session Rabbi M. M. Thurman was presented to the club by Mrs. Spencer.

Rabbi Thurman spoke briefly on Dumbarton Oaks. His speech in part follows:

What is commonly referred to as "Dumbarton Oaks" is the result of the exploratory conversations on international organization held at Dumbarton Oaks, Georgetown, Maryland by representatives from Great Britain, Russia, China and the United States. These conversations continued for seven weeks, beginning on August 21, 1944 and ending on October 7, 1944. The first phase of the conversations, between representatives of Britain, Russia and the United States took place from August 21 to September 28; the second phase, between representatives of Britain, China and the United States was held from September 29 to October 7.

The Dumbarton Oaks Proposals are recommendations by the representatives of the four participating nations for the establishment of an international organization for the maintenance of peace and security. The proposals were made to the four nations for official acceptance according to each nation's system of government. These proposals are now being studied by the four governments and are being discussed by the peoples of all countries.

Noteworthy, therefore, is the far-visioned request submitted in a declaration of principles drawn up by the General Federation of Women's Clubs that a Commission of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms be included in the set-up of the United Nations organization to be established at San Francisco, beginning April 25th, so as to "guarantee the consideration of individual injustices which lead to war, and the protection of sociological rights of human beings essential to spiritual as well as material growth." Allow me to commend the officers and membership of the General Federation of Women's Clubs for their vision and courage and profound understanding of our unpostponable tasks and inescapable duties in creating a world order of peace, security and justice for all the children of men. There can be no hope for an enduring peace unless there is a re-conversion of the human spirit. All the most perfected, practical machinery in the world for maintaining peace will not avail until within men, as well as nations, there is created the spirit of the will to peace, justice, and the recognition of the essential worth and dignity and sanctity of human personality.

Unfortunately, the Dumbarton Oaks Proposals, as did the Covenant of the League of Nations, lacks the prophetic passion to stir and capture the universal spiritual and ethical values inherent in the soul of men. The making of an enduring peace is a challenge to these values. The Proposals provide the machinery for the possible prevention of future wars, not for the establishing of universal peace; they provide for the suppression of international violence after these occur, not for their prevention; they provide a mechanism calculated to rectify and adjudicate international strife, not an instrument to eliminate the basis of strife and violence and war. Unless justice and righteousness are enthroned as the capstone of the aim of any organization that proposes to achieve it, the world can have no hope for a permanent peace.

Despite the admitted tentativeness and incompleteness of the Dumbarton Oaks Proposals, we Americans can acclaim the temper in which they were drawn. The competent representatives and statesmen of the four Allied nations testify to the faith that resides in the human spirit and be-

Local Churches To Aid In Clothing Collection

Arrangements for the collection of used clothing for use by millions in war devastated lands in each of New Hanover county's 99 churches were nearing completion yesterday under the direction of Wilbur R. Doshier, chairman of the United National Clothing Collection here.

The campaign, which was opened April 1, was recently endorsed unanimously by the Wilmington Ministerial association.

Mr. Doshier asked each of the churches to appoint a committee to carry out three important functions. First, these groups are to encourage the fullest possible donation of used clothing, shoes and bedding; second, each is to contact merchants and others to procure boxes and, third, the committee will be in charge of the sorting and packing of the garments for shipment.

"The success of this campaign, one of the most important of its type ever conducted here, depends in great measure on the churches," Mr. Doshier said. He added that he expects their fullest cooperation in placing New Hanover high on the list of North Carolina counties in meeting this great call.

Milton sometimes had more than 300 words to a sentence in his writings.

Speak our undying conviction that men and nations can and will cooperate to free the world of the devastating scourge and curse of war.

We should welcome the Proposals as marking a most significant and hopeful step forward in human striving to answer the question long ago propounded by the Prophet: "Have we not all one Father? Hath not one God created us all? Why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother?" (Malachi 2).
