

NEED FOR USED CLOTHING GREAT

The need for the used clothing we are collecting through our churches and schools," W. R. Doshier, local chairman of the National Clothing Collection, said yesterday. "Dramatically emphasized by the following item from the Lost and Found column of the leading newspaper in Belgrade, Yugoslavia:

Between the line of this advertisement lies a grim story—a story which applies not only to the Yugoslav woman who offers "Ample Reward" for the return of a patched old shoe, but to millions of men, women and children in the war-ravaged lands abroad, he added.

To them, Mr. Doshier said, the loss of a worn shoe, tattered coat or dress, frayed shawl, is now a catastrophe comparable to that which the experienced five years ago when Nazi invaders ruined their homes and stole all their belongings.

Such ragged and inadequate apparel is all they now have. Deaths from exposure now surpass deaths due to starvation, and the inroads made by epidemic and other diseases upon these unshod, half-clad multitudes is tremendous and steadily growing. Their rags and tatters are all they have to start the long, hard task of rebuilding their health, their lives—all they have in which to receive the freedom which now is theirs again—all they have in which to welcome and shape the peace which will follow complete Allied victory, he continued.

"No new clothing, shoes or bedding needed blankets and bedding will be available to them until their shattered textile mills and looms are operating once more. Their only chance of obtaining desperately needed apparel and bedding depends on America and America's surplus material to relieve the tragic needs of these millions of innocent war victims.

The drive is the only used clothing campaign to be conducted this spring. It is to serve all volunteer war relief agencies and the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in their program of overseas relief.

policeman and his family reside at 1009 South Sixth street. The new candidate declared he was proud of his past police career. During 1942 and 1943, he said he experienced some trying times with the heavy traffic in Wilmington being directed by his five-man squad. "Taking into consideration the small squad and what we had to do and as much as we had to do, I am proud of this record."

Other candidates include George H. Brinson of 406 North Fifth street, Kingsley Lee King of 705 South Fourth, W. E. Yopp of 1207 Market, Robert S. LeGwin of 812 Chestnut, W. Give the old traffic cop a chance," he said. "He will appreciate it."

Needs Clothing

"Somewhere in Poland" the photographer came upon this barefooted mother and her baby, wrapped in an old curtain to keep warm. Millions are worse clad in war-devastated lands abroad. You can help save them from sickness and death by giving serviceable used clothing, shoes, and bedding to the United National Clothing Collection.

Shipyard Employees Give $30,607.66 To Red Cross

Employees of the North Carolina Shipbuilding company contributed $30,607.66, which amounted to 122.4 per cent of their $25,000 quota, to lead all industrial or other divisions in the recent War Fund campaign of the American Red Cross here, officials in charge of the drive said yesterday.

In addition, the company itself gave $10,000, it was reported.

Three concerns allied with the local shipbuilding industry—W. & J. Sloan, the U. S. Maritime Commission office and the Shipyard cafeteria—also contributed a total of $1,040.

The campaign at the shipyard was launched on March 15 and continued through March 30 with interest unusually high throughout the year. One unit, the Employment office, reached and surpassed its quota on the opening day and practically all the approximately 50 departments attained their goal with many going far beyond the original amount asked. Officials in charge of the campaign termed it one of the best ever conducted there.

One of the features of the shipyard's participation in the War fund was the appearance of Sgt. William Strayhorn, of Wilmington, former engineer-gunner in the Eighth Air Force who spent six months as a prisoner of war of the Germans, at two rallies on March 23. He told of the great services rendered by the American Red Cross to men in service, especially those so unfortunate as to be taken prisoner. Latest tabulations from headquarters of the campaign show that New Hanover county residents contributed more than $127,985 to the Red Cross to surpass the $88,000 quota by approximately $40,000. In addition, many reports are yet to be received from various groups.

Operators, Miners May Settle Dispute

the recent trend of up-and-down maneuvers.

The operators, after first deciding to stay away from this morning's negotiations and to submit the case, as stated, to the WLB, changed their minds and attended. They decided to send a letter to the board instead.

Gloomy predictions were quickly reversed by this statement from Van Horn:

"At our meeting this morning, three subcommittees were appointed to deal with technical questions under consideration. They reported back and all reported progress.

"We are sending a letter to the war labor board in lieu of the meeting (with the WLB) this afternoon. We recessed the conference until 11 a. m., Monday.

"The three subcommittees will continue in session and report back at that time and we have the belief that a contract can then be concluded."

The Greeks believed that if a young woman bathed in certain sacred pools her yearnings for offspring would soon be gratified.

As late as 1880, two-thirds of America's homes were still heated with wood.

M-69...the Fire Bomb that falls on Japan

1...THREE MONTHS BEFORE PEARL HARBOR, the Army Air Forces asked Chemical Warfare Service to devise an incendiary bomb better than Germany's best. Through National Defense Research Committee the job was assigned to Standard Oil (New Jersey) and other technicians, working with Chemical Warfare Service...

2...M-69 WAS THE BOMB finally developed. Length, 19 inches. Weight, 6 1/2 pounds. In appearance you could easily take it for a piece of raincoat from the corner of your house. It is so simple it is manufactured in plants which once made fireworks, bed springs, wall paper. Yet it is one of the most destructive fire bombs ever used...

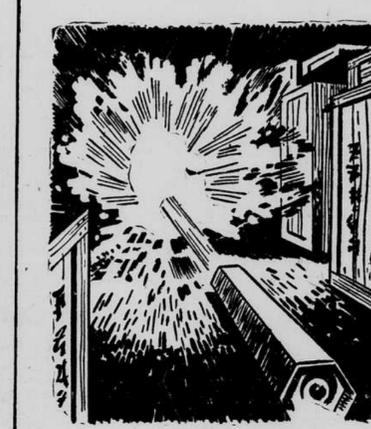

3...TODAY, AT GREAT B-29 BASES, big 500-pound "clusters" of these bombs are loaded into U.S. planes bound for Japan's industrial centers. Heavy enough for precise aiming by the world's best bombardiers and bomb sights, each big "cluster bomb" holds up to 60 of the M-69 incendiaries.

4...DOWN NEAR THE TARGET, each big bomb opens to free its load of M-69's. Each M-69 carries enough of a special jellied gasoline to make a sticky, flaming "pancake" 1/4-inch thick and 3 feet across...ejecting fiery globs which stick to and burn fiercely on any surface they may hit.

5...THE M-69'S STREAMING TAIL slows its fall to 225 to 250 feet per second—fast enough to pierce the factory roof; slow enough to keep the incendiary bomb from destroying its own mechanism on impact. One of M-69's most effective qualities is its ability to carry fire inside the target...

6...ON THE FACTORY FLOOR a 3 to 5 second time fuse allows the M-69 to fall on its side before it literally "shoots" its searing, clinging charge of flaming jellied fuel up to 100 feet. As a U.S. General has said... "All the Japs can look forward to now is the destruction of their war industries!"

ON MARCH 16, 1945... Standard Oil Development Company received the Army-Navy "E" for production achievement. Development work on the incendiary bomb described above was cited, as well as other chemical weapons developed in conjunction with the Chemical Warfare Service. Since then 3 more have been added.
