BRITISH CAPTURE THAZI IN BURMA

Calcutta, April 10.—(AP)—British 14th Army troops mopping up Japanese remnants in central Burma have captured Thazi, an important road junction town 14 miles east of Meiktila, a southeast command communiqué said today.

Armored units which pushed south of Thazi ran into several Japanese light tanks and knocked out one of them. In other operations in the Meiktila area, British and Indian troops wiped out a number of enemy gun positions and inflicted heavy casualties on the disorganized enemy.

Rocket-firing RAF Beaufighters attacked Japanese bunkers in the Thazi area in close support of the advancing ground troops.

The communiqué said that an enemy pocket of resistance in the Legyi area, 24 miles south-southeast of the Pakokku bridgehead across the Irrawaddy had been cleared.

Warplanes of the Eastern Air Command ranged over occupied areas of Burma.
