

Winter Park School P.-T.-A. Opens Season

The Winter Park Parent-Teacher association met Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium for the first session of the new school year and was presided over by the president, Mrs. R. W. Galphin, opening with the singing of Onward Christian Soldiers.

Rev. T. H. King, pastor of the Winter Park Baptist church, led the devotional stressing the contact with God and obedience to His will that we may assume our individual responsibilities as well as those of cooperative nature. He urged the enlistment of all parents represented in school and stressed then the importance of being efficient members of the Parent-Teacher association. "A richer, fuller life for our parents, children, community and God will be the reward," he said.

Members were disturbed not only by the presence of water on the school grounds but also in the basement of the building. Due to the presence of five inches of water in two classrooms located in the basement, children of two grades are meeting elsewhere. The accustomed efficient service rendered by the cafeteria is hampered by the reason of damage caused in the kitchen by the water. Realizing the unsanitary conditions and a threat to the health of the pupils and teachers, a committee was appointed to consult with the proper officials that the cause for above conditions may be removed.

The report of Mrs. H. J. Ottaway, delegate to the parent-teacher institute held in Greensboro, was heard with interest. Teachers of the school, old and new, were welcomed. Mr. Berry, principal, introduced the following teachers who are new to the

WACs Attend Paris Sile Openings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures
PARIS—At the first well attended fashion openings here, the salons have played host to many English designers, fashion writers of all nations and groups of Wacs who admire the clothes, as well as GIs who discuss the mannequins.

Paquin emphasizes shoulder lines by important use of the yoke in innumerable ways.

In contrast, Lucien Lelong's emphasis is on the draped front neckline.

Paquin's suits, afternoon and evening dresses have interest concentrated on neck yokes and berthas by use of contrasting material and by outlining wide shoulder lines with metal embroidery. Skirts are full with pleated front and back.

Fur skins decorate dresses and suits. Seal, beaver, silver fox and less costly pelts appear as patch pockets and tiny collars. Velvet is used for collar, belt and pocket trimming.

Nipped-in natural waistlines and suit jackets that fall well below the hip line form the theme. Street dress lengths are just below the knees.

Raglan and dolman sleeves are shown and modified leg o' mutton sleeves are used in afternoon dresses.

A pastel green tweed suit carries sheared beaver cuffs reaching above the elbow and giving the appearance of gauntlets.

Paquin, like Lelong, is lining many coats with fur and putting quilted silk and satin linings of brilliant hue in others. But while Paquin sticks to the slim bodice, wasp waist and flaring skirts in most coats, Lelong is deliberately giving many coats a bulky look.

Spectators are impressed by Paquin's unusual odd color combinations. A rich hostess gown of emerald green bodice has a flowing skirt of red-purple and is caught at the waist by a garnet red belt and a front held by deep red garnet buttons.

Purples and browns dominate his collection, just as black is the primary color in Lelong's.

Women with tiny waists are the only ones who will have an easy time in Molyneux clothes. While his collection is not as dramatic as some, he emphasizes the importance of the silhouette with smooth, sophisticated understanding. Shoulders are square without exaggeration. Bodices are form fitting and pockets of all types are important.

But where only one trend is noticeable in each of the other large collections a wide variety of styles is shown in the Molyneux models. One interesting note is the use of flat fur such as leopard cat and sheared lamb for full-length coats with sharply contrasting use of bulky fur such as skunk or opossum.

His skirts are shorter, generally, than those of the other collections. Most of them are full with pleats except one slim, straight model similar to a Lelong specialty of the season.

One of the most striking models in the collection is an angora wool housecoat with huge dolman sleeves striped brilliant orange. And if couturiers have anything to say about hats they are going to be small, even though many of them are high. Feathers are in as well as all other types of trimmings and there are just as many brims as pillboxes in the collections.

Scout Leaders Conduct Meet At Wilson Hut

The Girl Scout Leaders association held its monthly meeting Wednesday morning at the Woodrow Wilson hut with Mrs. Henry Emory presiding.

Mrs. B. M. Jones, Jr., executive secretary, Girl Scouts, reported on the Day Camps held at Greenfield Lake during the month of June. In a report of the activities at established camp, Dorothy Wells, field secretary, Girl Scouts, stated that Wilmington girls attended Camp Traillee a total of 93 camper weeks—an average of two weeks per camper. A Junior Camp committee is being organized to give the girls a part in planning next summer's camping program. This committee will include representatives girls from Day Camp and Camp Traillee.

Troop camping was discussed, and plans started for a week-end camping trip for the leaders to be held at Buena Vista on September 28. Fishing, boating, and other out-door activities will be enjoyed by the leaders and their children during the week-end.

Following the business meeting a training session was held on the nature program field. It included ways to interest girls in nature, how nature can be related to other troop activities, and new things to do on hikes. Games, songs, references, and program consultants in the nature field were given to the leaders. An exhibit of spatter prints and ink pad prints of leaves was displayed, and these methods of recording leaf collections were explained.

The only mechanical devices known to man which reduce friction between two moving parts to the lowest common denominator are anti-friction ball and roller bearings.

It wasn't until 1764, two years after a secret treaty had been signed, that the people of Louisiana learned that the territory had been transferred from France to Spain. The U.S.S. Arkansas, launched in 1911, was the fourth battleship by that name. Three United States and one Confederate battleship bore the name of Arkansas.
