

MANY FACING TAX DATE ON JAN. 15

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Many Americans have a little business to transact with Uncle Sam by January 15. That's the last day for filing final estimates of 1945 income tax and for making the last quarterly payment of estimated tax.

save themselves additional work. In that case, the return will serve both as a return and a declaration, and a separate declaration need not be filed. Other tax estimators also may file a regular return (form 1040) on or before January 15 instead of a declaration and clear up their tax situation for 1945.

'BLUE DISCHARGE' ABUSES CHARGED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A report on what a subcommittee calls abuses in connection with the so-called "blue discharges" issued by the Army will be filed with congress this month by the House Military committee. The committee disclosed today that it has for several months been investigating "blue discharges" under the direction of Rep. Durham (D.-N.C.), head of a special subcommittee. "Blue discharges" are neither honorable nor dishonorable and are so designated because they are issued on blue paper. They generally are issued, committee members said, to men found "incompatible" but who do not rate a dishonorable discharge, and make no reference to the character of the man discharged. The committee said a major complaint has been that "thousands of discharged soldiers have been deprived of their rights" under the G. I. Bill because they hold "blue discharges." While the G. I. Bill's benefits and applicable to all ex-service personnel discharged under "other than dishonorable" conditions, committee sources said it has not worked out that way in actual practice. As an example of what he called "the carelessness with which the Army has issued these discharges," a committee member said 32 per cent of all "blue discharges" examined on review were changed to honorable discharges. While only a court martial can order a dishonorable discharge, the committee said in a statement, "blue discharges" are issued by boards of officers, without judicial proceedings but subject to review by a discharge board. "There have been many cases in which blue discharges have been given to men suffering from mental disorders," a committee member said. "Certainly a man whose discharge results from the fact that he is not mentally suitable should not be made to suffer the onus of a blue discharge."
