Following the installation of the officers the business meeting was held during which time the club voted to purchase one projector-reading machine to be presented to the naval hospital at Camp Lejeune. The club had at one time hoped to purchase two machines, but due to the cost was unable at this time to purchase but one, although they plan to raise funds for this purpose by holding a tag day in Wilmington during the early color bearing.

The club will send representatives to Camp Lejeune on the last Saturday in January when they will take home-made cookies and new magazines to the patients in the naval hospital there.

Junior Sorosis Plans Tourney During February

North Carolina Junior Sorosis, Federated Junior Woman's club, at its regular meeting held this week at the clubhouse, voted to hold the annual birthday party in the form of a bridge tournament, which is open to the public, on the evening of Tuesday, February 12.

Three new members were voted into the club at this meeting, they were Mrs. Morris I. Potter, Mrs. Elliott O'Neal and Mrs. John Jones. The group voted that the February business meeting be held in the form of a dinner to be held at 7 o'clock in the Sorosis clubhouse followed by a class in parliamentary procedure.

At the close of the business meeting Mrs. A. B. Love, of "Senior" Sorosis, made an interesting review of the book, "The Peacock Sheds His Tail" by Alice Tisdale Hobard, the book, a historical and romantic novel of the reforms, revolutions and struggles for liberty of the Mexican race, was most interestingly reviewed.

Reece - Powers Vows Spoken

ST. PAULS, Jan. 8.—Miss Rachel Elizabeth Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avery M. Powers of St. Pauls, became the bride of Quenton Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Reese of Heller, Kentucky, on December 22 in Regan's Methodist church. The Rev. O. L. Hathaway, pastor, officiated at the dour's ring ceremony.

Mrs. J. P. Powers of Barnesville and Miss Judith Powers, sister of the bride, presented the nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin made with fitted bodice buttoned down the back, sleeves ending in points over the wrists and skirt extending into a train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of net and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli centered by a purple orchid.

Mrs. Alton R. Fales attended her sister as matron-of-honor. Her dress was of white lace similar to that of the bride, and she carried a nosegay of roses and chrysanthemums. Misses Kathleen Powers of Orrum, Frances Powers of Red Springs, Judith Powers of St. Pauls and Virginia Musselwhite of Lumberton were bridesmaids. Their gowns were in pastel shades of lace and net.

Master David Britt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Britt, carried the ring on a satin pillow.

The bridegroom was attended by Alton R. Fales of Wilmington as best man. Usher-groomsman were Matthew Powers, Henry Thompson of Allenton, Preston Powers of Barnesville and Muldrew Powers of Hoffman.

The mother of the bride wore a black crepe dress with corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Reese was graduated in 1943 from Flora Macdonald college, where she was a member of Zetaian and William Bartram scientific societies. She is a member of the faculty of Bethesda High school in Durham.

The bridegroom received an honorable discharge in October after having served three years in the Pacific Theatre. Since his return to the states, he has been employed with the Heller Coal and Coke company in Heller, Ky.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and special guests were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were greeted by Muldrew Powers, Mrs. Roscoe Tolar presided over the register, and Mr. Tolar directed guests to the dining room, where punch and cake were served by Misses Frances Powers, Joyce Britt and Colleen Parker. Mrs. Z. A. McCall poured punch.

The couple will be at home in Bethesda, N. C.

Cape Fear Garden Club Hears Talk By Dr. Metcalf Of N. C. State College

The Cape Fear Garden club, at its regular meeting yesterday, had as special guests the local nurserymen who were invited to hear Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, head of the department of Zoology and Entomology of North Carolina State college, speak.

Dr. Metcalf was introduced by Dr. Boot. In discussing his subject, insects on the garden, Dr. Metcalf said there are two kinds of gardens, one for flowers and one for vegetables—a garden is where plants and animals live together as a community, it is one for individual plants, individual animals, with soil and sunlight making up that garden, all being important factors. A garden must have insects if it is expected to live and flourish. There are three kinds of insects, the good, the bad and the indifferent; each gardener must learn to recognize the good insect, destroy the bad and ignore the indifferent, but if you wipe out all the insects, illustrating his meaning by bees, and birds, we would no longer have a garden, there would be no more fruits, no more flowers, all life matter would completely disappear. He went on into detail describing the harms and benefits of the various insects and stated that there were between 12,000 and 15,000 different kinds of insects alone in North Carolina, a few hundred being injurious but only 150 odd as of a serious consequence.

During the discussion Dr. Metcalf held an informal clinic on the various specimens of shrub disease shown on the specimens brought by members.

During the business session Mrs. J. B. Cranmer, recording secretary, presented her report and Mrs. W. E. Curtis, treasurer, reported for the month previous.

Three new members were voted into the club during the morning Mrs. Sally Hill and Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Marbury.

Mrs. Gerdes, president, announced the February meeting would be held on Tuesday the 12th with Mrs. J. S. Fisher of Williamsburg, Va., as guest speaker. Mrs. Fisher will use as her subject: Flower arrangements of the 18th Century. The exhibit for February will be on bulbs and members are reminded to bring arrangements of these flowers to this meeting.

Mrs. J. Henry Gerdes, president, presided over the meeting and the Rev. Mortimer Glover, rector of St. James church, opened the meeting with a short prayer.

Sylvia Hirschberg Becomes Bride Of Robert Weinberg

LUMBERTON, Jan. 8.—The marriage of Mrs. Sylvia Lyons Hirschberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Lyons of New York city, to Robert Weinberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Weinstein of Lumberton, took place in New York on December 27. The bridegroom recently received a discharge after over three years' service, two years of that time with a headquarters squadron of the 74th Service Group of the Ninth Air Force in the ETO. He was graduated from Wake Forest college, practiced law here and served as solicitor of Lumberton Recorder's court before entering the army.

Miss Nell Boone Crofton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ben Crofton, and Stephen McIntyre, III, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen McIntyre, Jr., entertained some 80 members of the younger set at a New Year's Eve dance at the USO huts. Assisting in receiving were their parents and Miss Minta McIntyre.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barrington entertained at "open house" honoring their newly-wed son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hill Barrington, Jr., of Chapel Hill, and their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. John Eugene Gunter.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Best and were presented by Mrs. Barrington and Mrs. T. F. Parker to the receiving line composed of the honorees and Mrs. Claude McDaniel of Red Springs.

Mrs. O. O. Dukes poured coffee, which was served with cakes and mints by Mrs. W. Osborne Lee, Mrs. John Rankin, and Mrs. C. N. Pridden.

Misses Lois Carlyle and Mary Ann Hood were hostesses to 32 young folk at a dinner party on Christmas Eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ertel Carlyle. After the turkey dinner, served by Mrs. Carlyle and Mrs. J. J. Hood, the group attended a movie.

Miss Celeste Walters And F. E. Corley Wed

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 8.—Miss Celeste Walters, daughter of Mrs. Mary Walters of Chadbourn, and Furman E. Corley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Corley of Lexington, S. C., were married in the First Baptist Church of Columbia on Dec. 23. The pastor, the Rev. J. L. Heirs, officiated. M. Berry Seay, organist, and Wesley Wilkes, vocalist, furnished the music.

Miss Kathryn Wingard, the maid-of-honor, was dressed in sky blue with corsage of gardenias. The best man was Eiford Coughman.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Joe Thompson of Chadbourn, was at first in a suit of ash blue, with which she wore an orchid corsage.

After returning from a trip to Silver Springs, Fla., the couple are at home temporarily on Route 4, Lexington, S. C. Mrs. Corley is a graduate of Orrum High school and was recently graduated from the South Carolina Baptist Hospital school of nursing in Columbia. The bridegroom, recently discharged after three years' service in the Army, holds a position with Mayo's Clothing Store in Columbia.
