4. To refrain from broadcasting programs originating abroad.

One of Petrillo's demands, Lea said, would "compel the broadcaster to pay financial tribute to the American Federation of Musicians for broadcasting transcriptions where no service whatever is performed by members of that organization.

"Another demand was made that, under penalty of boycott, a station which permitted noncompensated musicians to participate in musical. educational or cultural programs would be required to pay the Federation an amount equal to the compensation which would have been paid had members of the organization performed the service, even though they performed no service whatever." The union recently requested stations to ban broadcasts in this country of musical programs originating in other countries, except Canada.
