

Mildred Coley, J. A. Kramasz Married Here

St. Mary's pro-cathedral was the scene of a beautiful wedding Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock when Miss Mildred Kathleen Coley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jennings B. Coley, became the bride of Joseph A. Kramasz of Chicago, Ill.

The Right Rev. Father M. F. O'Keefe officiated before a background of palms and ferns. The altar was graced with baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons, and candelabra holding white tapers.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Rosa Picot, organist, presented a program of nuptial music, and Mrs. Herbert J. Farrar, soloist, sang "Ave Maria" and "Because." The wedding march from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was used for the professional and Mendelssohn's march from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" as the recessional.

Stephen Szydlowski of Chicago, Ill., was the bridegroom's best man. The ushers were Charles Wahab, E. C. Flora, Whis Hufham, Jr., and C. M. Langley.

Mrs. Whis Hufham, Jr., sister of the bride was matron-of-honor. She wore a gown of white taffeta with sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, featuring an embroidered midriff and bouffant skirt. On her head she wore a small Juliet cap of white net. She carried an arm bouquet of red carnations tied with red satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Misses Lottie Kramasz, sister of the bridegroom, Edna Eagle, Margaret Guyton, and Violet Register. Their gowns and flowers were identical to that of the matron-of-honor.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white slipper satin made with a sweetheart neckline enhanced with tiny seed pearls, leg-of-mutton sleeves ending in calla lily points over the hands, fitted bodice with covered buttons down the back, and a full skirt extending into a long train. The full length veil of bridal illusion and lace was worn with a Juliet cap of satin. She carried a white satin prayer book showered with a white orchid and streamers.

Mrs. Coley, mother of the bride, wore a black velvet dress with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds. The paternal grandmother of the bride wore a black crepe dress with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Matthew Skrzyniarz, sister of the bridegroom, wore a two-piece dress of pastel aqua trimmed with silver sequins and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds.

After the wedding, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at St. John's Tavern. The rooms were beautifully appointed for the occasion. The bridal table was centered with a lovely three-tiered wedding cake flanked by candelabra holding white tapers. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Frank Lucas, Misses Jeanette Smith, Ann Campbell, Elizabeth King, and Lottie Farrar.

Later the couple left on a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home temporarily with the bride's parents. For traveling the bride wore a dusty rose dress-maker suit with brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of white orchids taken from her prayer book.

The bride was graduated from New Hanover High school, and since her graduation has been employed by the Southern Bell Telephone company. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Julia Kramasz of Chicago, Ill. He was recently discharged from the Army after thirty-two months in the Pacific Theatre of Operations.

Since the announcement of her engagement, the bride has been honored with a number of pre-nuptial courtesies. Among those entertaining for her were Misses Violet Register, Edna Eagle, Margaret Guyton, and Mrs. Joseph Craig, Mr. and Mrs. C. Laurence Shaw entertained at their home in Longwood at a cake cutting, after the rehearsal on Friday evening, for the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

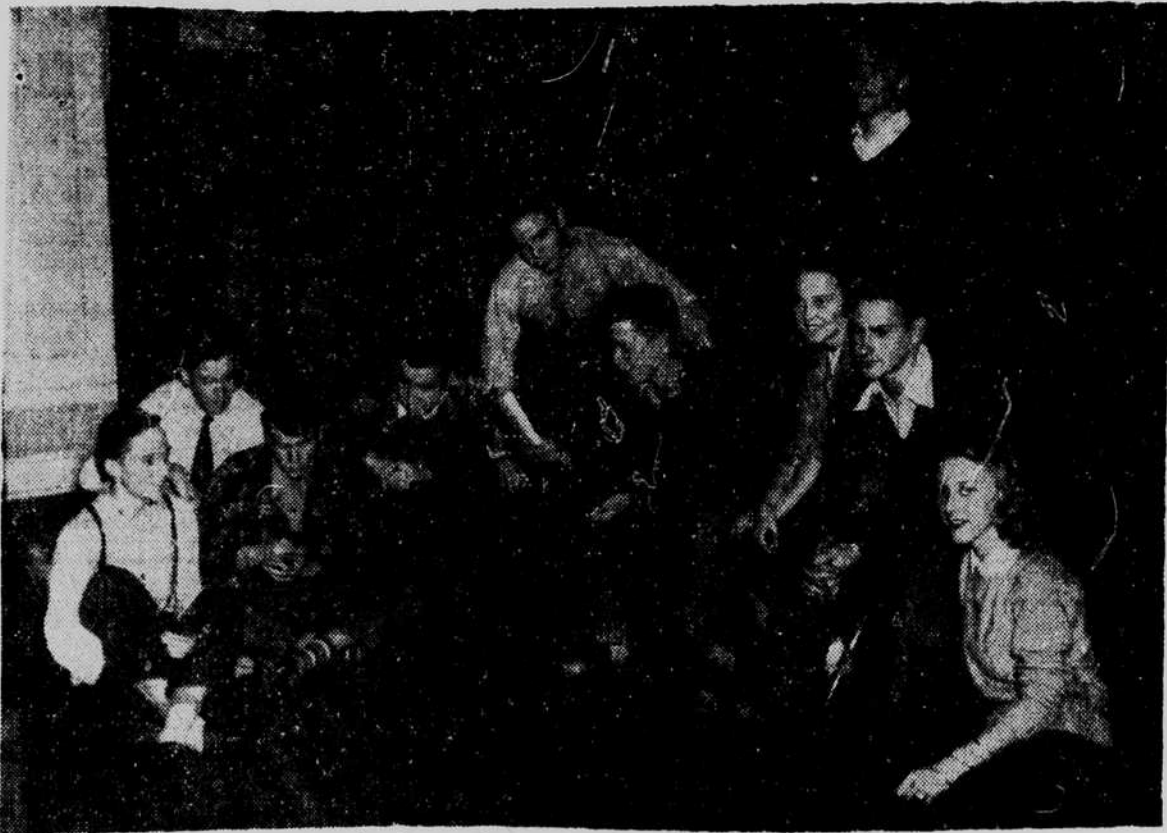

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Matthew Skrzyniarz, Miss Lottie Kramasz, and Stephen Szydlowski, all of Chicago, Ill.

Handsome Is As Handsome Does

By ALICIA HART

You need more than one string to your bow in order to compete with the beauties who today are also doers. It isn't at all surprising any more to find girls lovely enough to capture "crowns" who can boast a few eyebrow-raising accomplishments besides.

An outstanding example is this year's "Maid of Cotton"—the Mississippi-born Gwin Barnwell. She will soon begin the kind of whirlwind tour of the south and mid-west—climaxed in May at the Memphis Cotton Carnival—which every girl dreams of making. She was named to represent King Cotton to the nation by representatives of the National Cotton Council, the Cotton Exchanges in New York, New Orleans and Memphis and the Cotton Carnival Association.

SCIENTIFIC CAREER AHEAD Besides being pretty and well-born, which helped Gwin cop this honor, she is a doer. She designs and makes many of her own crisp cotton dresses. As a hobby, she started modeling in clay with such success that her friends are insisting she exhibit her work. Back from her tour, Gwin will resume her studies in bacteriology and chemistry, because the goal ahead of this modern southern beauty is a career in industrial micology.

All of these points are made to prove that prettiness is only one facet which today's charmers are flashing. They are cited, too, as a warning that good looks won't be enough now that the beauties are pulling so many accomplishments out of their hats.

Make the most of your looks, to be sure. Also make the most of

Chairman Of German Communist Party Favors Merger Of Labor

By JAMES F. KING

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—(P)—Wilhelm Pieck, German communist chairman, said in an interview today that his party advocated a merger of workers, including "penitent" Nazis, into a strong single political party to socialize and rule the country as the best guarantee for peace.

The white-haired leader criticized the denazification policies in both the U. S. and British zones in defending his invitation to repentant Nazis to join the communist party.

lishment of a central German socialistic government, corresponding to the "characteristics and mentality" of the German people with direction of the country's internal and foreign policies in the hands of trade unions and workers. While upholding Russia as "the only true democracy," Pieck pounded the desk in denouncing "those reactionaries who make slanderous remarks that Moscow dictates our policy."
