

YOUNGSTERS GET TASTE OF SCHOOL

Party For Children, Parents, Acquaints Both With Sunset Park School

A novel introduction to days ahead was afforded some 75 youngsters in the Sunset Park school district last week as teachers of the school, joined by members of the Parent-Teacher's association, sponsored an afternoon-long pre-school party.

Intended for parents as well as the children who will enroll in the school next fall, the party served to acquaint the children with school life, and to advise mothers on some important "do's and don'ts" with relation to their children's education.

At the children there were stories, singing and a motion picture. For the parents there was an informative discussion on psychology, children's behavior, child training in obedience, and dependency. Mothers were informed on regulations governing organization of their children.

The program was directed by Miss Puffer, principal; Mrs. E. P. T. A.; teachers, Mrs. W. P. Jordan, Patricia Allen Burrus, Billie Odessa Parker and Mrs. J. C. Stearns, Washington University scientist.

Junior High Band Slated For Greenfield Concerts

TO BEGIN APRIL 28

Picked Musicians Of Public Schools To Offer Late Spring Series

The 50-piece Junior High school band, made up of players from eight New Hanover county grammar schools, will present a series of one-hour band concerts from the Greenfield Park bandstand starting April 28, it was announced yesterday by Richard Dodson, director.

The concerts will begin at 4 p.m., Dodson said.

Last week the Junior High band earned a Rating II, "excellent," in the district music festival held at New Hanover High school. If Junior High bands competed in the state contests in Greensboro, the Rating II would entitle the band to a place there.

Thane McDonald, professor of music at the University of North Carolina, said of the band which was organized for the first time this year, "For a young band this group shows excellent training and is certainly capable of amazing tonal power." Average age of members of the band, Dodson said, is 11 years.

At the present time the players from the different schools in the county assemble at NHHS twice a week, after school hours, to practice. Members of the band are:

Trumpets — Charles Caudill, Emerson Head, Philip Jones, Freddie Holmes, Charles Hollis, Don Piver, Ed Bullard, Fred Kelly, L. G. Harris, Bobby Ellis, John Brindell, Charles Robinson, Nathan Bird, Billy Aman, and Gene Witherspoon.

Clarinets — Betty Ann Piver, George Cain, Bobby Cook, Claire Brownlee, Iris Ellis, Ken Murphy, Leroy King, Ray Buck, Wiley Brown, Jimmy Williams, Maurice Emart, Bobby Orrell, Peggy Larsen and Suzanne Shepard.
