

Teen-Age Tattler

By WINIFRED HARRISS

Easter Day broke over a grey city and the early morning was filled gloriously with the joyous singing of Easter carols. Whether the group was cooled by the river breezes blowing softly in from the Cape Fear as they stood atop the high tower of St. James' church, or touched by the chilling gusts from the ocean as they sang on the sandy shore at the sunrise services on the beaches; the carolers welcomed the day of Resurrection with the beauty of song.

Today, as every Easter each year, is marked by the traditional fanciful Easter parade as boys and girls, men and women, and even the tiniest of children, don new outfits, fuzzy hats, plain hats, loud ties, conservative suits, bright socks, straw bonnets, spectator pumps, patent-leather heels, the new dress — all take their place in the colorful and fashionable gatherings.

Let's think about what a beautiful occasion today is—the celebration of the Lord's Resurrection—and pause a minute to realize how fortunate we are. And as the day wears away—be glad you're young!

FASHION SHOW

Now, while we're speaking of clothes, too, we find a pretty big date coming up on our social calendar. . . the fashion show presented by the Aurora Tri-Hi-Y on Tuesday night at the Community Center. This group of girls has worked with some of the girls at NHHS as modelers, and are planning to bring you one of the most entertaining of all evenings. We'll talk more about this show on Tuesday, so remember that the night is Tuesday night, and it's the Fashion Show at the Community center! The project is being put on for the purpose of obtaining funds for the World Restoration Fund; so a slight admission will be charged and everybody's welcome! And I'll be here in the models, and details of the show!

And now for a look back over the last couple of days.

The ole hometown takes on a familiar air as we recognize more of the past NHHS students wandering around each day. It should seem good to have all the college folks back home over the weekend.

While downtown the other day, I noticed quite a few of the returned filling places in the drug store booths, waiting for friends or just talking to a gang of people at a favorite gathering place. Jene Ingram was busy going over old times with Betty Davis. Jene is here from the University of Georgia in Athens, where she is a freshman.

Does Wilmington seem a wee bit more crowded? The hometown gals from W. C. have arrived!! It's mighty swell seeing Jane Head, a student there, home again; and we also welcome most heartily her visitor and old Wilmingtonian, Ann Adams. Ann, who is attending Peace college in Raleigh, now calls Newport News, Virginia home—but we should enjoy seeing her back here!

More hailing from W. C. are Sarah Anne Eaton, Donny Muselman, Jayne McDams, Barbara Sternberger, Katharine Harriss, and many others.

I stopped to talk with Patsy Hardwick for a while Friday, and she joined the chorus of those "mighty glad to be home!" Patsy hustled home from G. C. for the Easter holidays along with Shirley Brown.

I saw Katharine Rhett and Lewis Hackler the other day. Katharine is home for a few days from Stratford in Danville, Virginia. Gretter Duffy, who is a student at Blackstone college this year, was hustling around downtown as well as Helen Boushee, who is home from Hollins college. Elizabeth Marye has arrived from Stratford and Jane Sprunt has come in from Briarcliff Manor in Edgewood Park N. Y.

Mary Elizabeth Westbrook is here from Wake Forest, and Tommy Head and Graham Barefoot have also come in from that school.

Elizabeth Evans, Finkle Marlowe, and Bettina Marable have arrived from Queens college near Charlotte, and it's fine seeing them here again.

Heading this way from the western part of the state for Easter holidays were Liston Mullis, Charlie Mitchell, and John Codington, students at Davidson.

I saw Sally Trulove, who came in from Salem college, walking with Betty Lou Morrow; and farther down the street I saw Edith Crowley, who arrived last week from Peace college.

Dalziel Sprunt, who is attending the Hill School in Pottsdam, Pennsylvania, was also here for a few days.

I saw Bobby Calhoun, who has returned to Wilmington from the Presbyterian Junior college, talking with Lynn Kirk and standing near Bobby Kester and Norris Monk, who are here in Wilmington for a while from Newport News.

Joe Gray grabbed a choo-choo from the ole hometown to spend a week end leave from Uncle Sam's sailor boys. Joe came in yesterday from the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, Maryland, where he is stationed. It's really swell seeing Joe home again, too!

Edwin Shain decided to look over the old familiar sights here, so he straightway hustled home on navy leave from Anacostia, D. C.

Mighty glad to see all of you people back home!

One of the fellas that's not going to make it home this time is George Clark, who is attending Sewanee. George is hustling up Chicago way to see how Catharine Sonderman is getting along up in Illinois. Well, we'll see you both in a few weeks when schools are out! (Hot Dawg!)

A dozen or so people are breathing a little easier as declamation finals fade into the past; and with them go the nervousness and sighing of "whew! I remembered most of it, anyhow!" Last Wednesday night the curtains in the high school auditorium swung closed on the 2nd round of the annual presentation of recitations sponsored by the local Lions club for twelve high school students competed for the four group prizes. Vigorously clapping for the winners Adair Simkins, Robert McCarl, Betty Lou O'Master, and Frank Bradley was an audience of ardent listeners.

Big brother Jimmy was heartily congratulating little brother Robert on his first place award as others crowded around these four!

Adair Simkins gave "Spartacus to the Gladiators" by Elizabeth Kellog and competed against Sara Fried, who gave "Jane" from "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington and Iris Ellis, who recited "Mrs. McWilliams and the Lightning" by Mark Twain.

Robert McCarl gave the prize winning "Death of Captain Wascow" from "Ernie Pyle's 'Brave Men'" competing against Arnold Taylor, who gave "From Old World to New" by Raymond Dandelle and Clinton Wilson who gave very amusingly "Dot Lettie Box" by Wilson McDonald. Betty Lou O'Master, junior-senior girls' winner, impressed the audience with her interpretation of "The Ultimate Catastrophe" by Ruth McKenny as she won over Lorraine D'Lugin's recitation of an excerpt from "Rebecca" by Du Maurier, and Betty Britz's rendition of "The Constitution" by Herbert Wenig. Frank Bradley captured first place among the junior-senior boys by his recitation of "The Famine" taken from "Hiawatha" by Longfellow. He placed over Jimmy Singleton, who gave "The American Nation" by Theodore Roosevelt and Frank Murphy, MRS. LEON M. TODD, JR.—The former Marilyn Farrar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart K. Farrar of Batavia, New York, who was married at the First Presbyterian church in Batavia on March 22 in an afternoon ceremony. Mr. Todd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Todd of Glen Arden, Wilmington.

Todd-Farrar Wedding Vows Are Solemnized In Presbyterian Church, Batavia, New York

Miss Marilyn Farrar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart K. Farrar of Batavia, New York, and Leon M. Todd, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Todd of Wilmington, were married on Saturday, March 22, at 4 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church in Batavia. The Rev. Wylie W. Young, pastor of the church, officiated using the double ring ceremony.

The chancel of the church was decorated with a background of Easter lilies and spring flowers flanked with tiers of candelabra bearing white cathedral tapers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with a bertha collar and carried a bouquet of white carnations and freesias centered with a white orchid. Her veil of imported illusion was caught to a wreath of orange blossoms.

The maid-of-honor Miss Patricia Coyne of Joplin, Mo., schoolmate of the bride, wore a gown of orchid faille and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and iris. The bridesmaids Miss Alice Blodgett of Swatmore, Pa., cousin of the bride, Miss Ann Noonan of Newark, Miss Mary Lee Campbell of Pelham Manor and Mrs. Kenneth C. Blodgett of Chapel Hill, wore identical gowns of aqua faille and carried pale pink carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his father, Leon M. Todd of Wilmington as best man and his usher

Richard Rogers Addresses Meet Of B. & P. Club

The Business and Professional Women's club held its regular meeting in the dining room of the Friendly cafeteria Friday evening at 6 o'clock, with Ruth Humfrey presiding.

Dorthea McDowell gave the devotional services and let in the reading of the club collect and the flag salute.

Mary Henri Lennon was program chairman and introduced as her guest speaker, Richard S. Rogers, who spoke briefly on the topic of the month "Ways to Become Budget Wise." Mr. Rogers expressed his opinion that women were in dire need of more and better business training and more practical business experience; that, with this training they were a greater asset to their business, their employer, their country, their community, and their home. He explained the practicability and necessity of budgeting and he emphasized very strongly the importance of constant savings, pointing out the fact that it was the regular savings, even though in small amounts, that increased the bank account.

After the program, few business matters were discussed and reports from the committee chairmen were heard.

Special music of the evening was a solo "Look For The Silver Lining" by Sallie Betts Knox, accompanied by Helen Dobson.

Special guests of the club were members of the Senior Girl Scout Troup No. 24, known as the Glamorous Dozen, the membership being limited to one dozen. These Scouts are under the leadership of Madoline Spragens and her assistants, Lula M. Riley and Christine McDougall. During the evening, the club presented the Scouts with a flag. Those Scouts present were: Ann Pearce, Jacqueline Williams, Joyce Taylor, Janet Taylor, Dorothy Armstrong, and Nancy Shelton.

Other guests were: Mrs. Ellen Gilliard, Mrs. Edna Parker and Miss Sybil Mazur, of Detroit, Mich.

The attendance prize was awarded by Mary Lillie Davis and won by Delores Farrow.

New members welcomed into the club's membership were: Sarah Layton, Lula M. Riley and Christine McDougall.

WHY A "Registered" Jeweler?

Your best assurance of true value and beauty in diamonds and jewelry comes from a jeweler with unquestionable integrity. The reputation of a REGISTERED Jeweler firm is passed upon by a Board of outstanding Retail Jewelers. A REGISTERED Jeweler must pass established examinations in the fundamentals of Gemology—the science of all precious stones and metals—and in new scientific methods of grading diamonds.

Now you can be sure to be safe when you select a diamond because you benefit by our scientific study of Gems through the American Gem Society.

To maintain the title of REGISTERED Jeweler requires yearly "customer-protection" examinations.
