

Bookmobile Important To County Residents

Is the bookmobile proving its worth? After almost getting the city budgeteer's ax last week, the mobile library has become increasingly important to the readers out in the county and library officials are expecting an even bigger year than last, Mrs. Emma MacMillan, librarian avers.

A look at the report of the bookmobile for an 11-months period ending June 30, will convince anyone of its popularity.

The 11-months year for the library, Mrs. MacMillan explained, was adopted this year to make the fiscal year run concurrently with that of the city government.

A total of 43,648 books were circulated by the mobile unit in that 11-months period, the report showed. This is almost as many persons as live outside of Wilmington.

This figure is far greater than the number of books circulated by the branch library at Lake Forest. This unit shows a total of 21,573.

At the library in the City Hall 78,847 books were circulated, not quite double the amount circulated by the bookmobile.

At Maffitt Village school the greatest number of volumes were checked out, from the bookmobile. Some 9,676 were dispensed at that point.

Washington Catlett school followed with 5,561.

The entire library, including branches and bookmobile circulated 144,068 books during the 11 months Mrs. MacMillan said.

Schedule for the bookmobile, which travels over all the county, is as follows:

Tuesday, Vance building, Maffitt Village, 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Wednesday, Castle Haynes, 9:30 to 10 a. m.; Oakley Road, 10:30 to 11 a. m.; Colonial Village, 11:30 to 12 noon; Riverside Apartments, Adams, 2 to 3 p. m.; Jefferson, 3:15 to 4:30 p. m.; Thursday, Washington Catlett school, 9:30 to 10 a. m.; Winter Park, 10:15 to 10:45 a. m.; Seagate, 11 to 11:30 a. m.; Wrightsville Sound, 11:45 to 12 noon; Wrightsville Beach, Lumino, 12:15 to 1 p. m.; Station 1, 1:30 to 4 p. m. Friday, Carolina Beach Road, Langley's Store, 10:15 to 10:45 a. m.; Rapers Store, 11 to 11:30 a. m.; Carolina Beach City Hall, 1 to 4 p. m.

BOYD ELECTED VP AT MEETING

Other Officers Named At Airport Managers Association Convention

Henry Boyd, Jr., was elected vice president of the Southeastern Airport managers association at the second meeting of the organization held yesterday in Columbia, S. C.

Boyd, manager of Bluethenthal Airport, was named with two other officers. They were O. L. Andrews of Greenville, S. C. president; and J. Hampton Manning, Augusta, Ga., secretary-treasurer.

The meeting yesterday in Columbia followed the initial meeting in Greenville, S. C. on June 4th. At that time a temporary chairman was appointed and it was agreed to elect officers at the Columbia session.

Speakers for the meeting were Charles E. Hanst, chief of the airport management of the second region of the Civil Aeronautics association, and C. E. Jones, former state highway commissioner of South Carolina.

Fourteen airport managers of N. C., S. C. and Ga., were present in addition to guests and visited Capitol Airport, serving Columbia and Lexington county.

The airport managers voted to meet sometime in October in Savannah, Ga.

Production of glycerine, ingredient of cosmetics and explosives, reached an all-time high of 69,000,000 pounds in the first four months of 1947.

The Hanover Iron Works showroom at 112 North Water Street showing the Lennox Aire-Flo basement type oil-fired winter air conditioning unit. The duct work on top of furnace, with streamers at air outlets, shows principle on which rotary blowers in furnace casing operates. The other model is the smaller Lennox utility model which operates on the same principle.

Hanover Iron Works Busy Installing Heating Systems

The Hanover Iron Works are now working at top speed installing Lennox Oil Aire-Flo heating systems before the next winter rush begins. They would advise all home owners who plan to change their heating systems or need repair work done to same, to contact them at once so arrangements can be made to complete the work before the cold weather arrives. Horace King stated, "The stock of equipment and material on hand now is sufficient but any strike would immediately affect the source of supplies of raw materials."

The asphalt shingle shortage is now about normal. This company now has a good supply of asphalt shingle roofing, roll roofing, asphalt paints and asphalt products. The asphalt felt which is used in built up roofing can be secured in limited quantities.

The weather-tite door saddles made of cast aluminum, now available at Hanover Iron Works, is one of the best on the market. This door saddle will keep out rain, cold air, and when door is open a flush surface on top is the unique advantage of this type of door saddle. These saddles are on hand and available for immediate delivery.

The kitchen ventilating fan is an item that rapidly becoming a must with new home builders. Fitting snugly on an outside wall, this fan exhausts objectionable kitchen odors along with grease which collects while preparing meals. Items such as this pay for themselves in a very short time by reducing decorating costs and cleaning. An ample stock is on hand at present and they invite your inspection.

There are few buildings constructed today without some sheet-metal work going into the building in one way or another and the Hanover Iron Works are set up to handle all of your needs in this field.

Horace King would like to have everyone come by and visit his new office and shops at 112 North Water Street and see for yourself the display of equipment and material on hand. You are always welcome at the Hanover Iron Works.
