Bride-Elect Entertained At Luncheon

Miss Isabel McIlwain, bride-elect of this week, was honored by Mrs. George Frederick Tienken on Saturday at a luncheon and beach party. Miss McIlwain will be married to Kelly W. Jewell, Jr., this Saturday.

At 1 o'clock guests motored to Wrightsville Beach where luncheon was served. The table was attractively decorated with a center arrangement of flowers and the colors of pink and white were carried out in the appointments. Miss McIlwain's place was marked with a gift of crystal. After swimming and attending the boat regatta the party returned to the dining room where refreshments were served.

Guests included: Miss McIlwain, honoree, Miss Newell Pendleton, Miss Jean Blanchard, Miss Ethel Pendleton, Miss Mary Daniel Carr, Miss Cornelia Holden, Miss Barbara Sanderson, Mrs. Lansing Brown, Mrs. William McGlaughon, Mrs. David Brittain and Mrs. Robert Blomme.

If you have trouble ironing sheer blouses in warm weather because they dry out quickly, try this: Iron those blouses over a cloth wrung out of warm water. This method prevents wrinkles from being pressed in when the cloth is placed over the blouse.

TEEN-AGE TATTLE

By Winifred Harriss

Whether the sun shines or the rain pours, the beaches continue to serve as a magnet for the many fans of bowling, bingo, and water sports. Seems as if Saturday night can jump a wee bit ahead of the rest of the date—occasions as far as meeting the gang or seeing the people we know getting about. As we ventured to the various spots of entertainment last week-end, we encountered a good many of the crowd.

A step or so in the bowling alley, a great big "why... howdy!" from the direction of the fountain, and there stood one of the greatest beachcombers that has yet been! The greeting came from that character working behind the counter, Randy Oglesby. Randy rode across the old familiar trestle late Saturday afternoon, and began improving their "nuscies" at one of his jobs of soda-jerk.

After a bit of conversing, I discovered that Randy and Tinker Brinkley had turned "cement-mixers"—catch that—as they hustled bags of cement around down at Jacksonville Beach in sunny Florida. The same old singing Randy, with his mooking all, headed south again after a two-day visit here, back to Tinker and his improved knowledge of the beach-combers association at Wrightsville.

Incidentally, Randy had slipped out the word on a big reunion of that famous association, Wrightsville members exclusive, when Hershah Rogers got his Army discharge in about another year. For Hershah must be there to complete the character crowd. Hershah is now stationed on Okinawa.

About the others... Elwood Braatz is living the Army life on the other side of the world. He is stationed in Japan, while Jim Braatz is living down in Charleston.

A little later I spotted Neel Patrick and J. C. Price in the bowling alley; and seated in one of the booths I recognized Mary Anne Jenkins and Hugh Evans, Cooter Lewis and Carl Williams. Carl is now stationed at Decatur, Georgia, and has been his for two weeks. At present Carl is stationed at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, and pulled a week-end pass. He signed up with Ronnie Walker a couple of weeks ago, traveling first to Fort Bragg and then down to Fort Jackson.

While there I also saw Frank Bradley and Jimmy McCarl; and as we were leaving, we saw Shirlyene Conrad and Ebe Godwin, Betty Belcher and Decatur Blanchard. Decatur came in over the week-end to visit Ebe and it was fine seeing him back this way for a while.

As I was heading down the beach Sunday afternoon, I recognized Archie Walker about to go back to town. Archie is attending summer school at Carolina and happened to be able to get home over the week-end.

Yes, it looks as if everybody just heads towards the beach, especially when the week-end gets around. Sunday night as we passed Station One, Chubby Paul hailed us and we stopped to talk to him. Chubby is stationed up at Fort Bragg, as well as a great gang of hometown fellows; and he had been in town over the week-end, leaving late Sunday night. He has been getting none quite frequently, and it has been swell to see him back over the week-end.

All the "Cats" are due to bring out their checkbooks and get a sharp pencil and start checking off that soldier of soldiers, Moolie Ayash. For Moolie is with an M. P. outfit in Korea and has been for the past six months, with six more to go.

Not long ago two Wilmington boys stationed in Korea hopped on a train for a short trip. As they settled back, their eyes fell on the M. P. striding down the aisle of the coach, and they jumped up to welcome Moolie!

Another hometown contact in Korea has been Football Smith. The great news has even reached us 'way over here that "Foot's" and Moolie have gotten together! By the way, rumors have it that ol' Football will be hitting the States around the latter part of July, so he should be home pretty soon.

Also in Korea are Everett Von Oesen, who is stationed near "Smurfit" Ayash, George Von Oesen, and Lonnie Williams, who is driving jeeps all over Korea, and ing up heading towards home station Chang Yu. Lonnie expects to be home about December, receiving his discharge that month or the first part of January.

It was Monday night, and as the clock ticked on to 7:45 Cooter Lewis began to get more and more excited. She and Betty Anne Simon had their bags packed; and as the late afternoon sun sank, they headed for the train station. Amidst hearty good-bys, the two jumped aboard, and Cooter was off on her first trip to New York city.

Betty Ann, who is now living in New York, has been visiting Cooter for about three weeks. So when she started back, she took Cooter with her for a ten days to two weeks' visit! It was mighty fine seeing Betty Anne back in Wilmington; and we're hoping she'll be back again soon.

Early Saturday morning groups of young people set out for the mountains, and Camp Kanuga. Among those going for two weeks or a month were Laura Harriss, Norman George, and H. B. Glover. Counseling up there for about another week or so is Sara Kay Jordan.

Recently Priscilla Harriss was a patient at James Walker Memorial hospital for a week where she underwent an operation for an eye correction. We're mighty glad to know that Priscilla's operation was a success and that she is getting along fine now!

So much for the news right now; and until Sunday, I'll be seeing you around!

Johnson-Merritt Vows Spoken

FW
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Livingston Merritt announce the marriage of their daughter, Marie James, to Wilmer Ray Johnson, June 22 at the First Baptist church in Wilmington.

Mr. Johnson is the son of Mrs. Dessie Johnson of Mt. Olive, and is now employed in the Auditor of the Atlantic Coast Line.

Mrs. Johnson, formerly of Rose Hill, has for the past year been employed with the John B. Hinant Construction Company.

The couple will make their home in Wilmington.

Miss McIlwain Entertained At Shower

Miss Newell Pendleton and Mrs. David Brittain entertained with a crystal shower on Wednesday evening July 9 in honor of Miss Isabelle McIlwain, bride-elect of Saturday. The home of Mrs. Brittain was attractively decorated with summer flowers for the occasion.

Upon arrival Miss McIlwain was presented a corsage of multi-colored flowers by her hostesses.

During the evening bridge was enjoyed by the guests, after which refreshments were served.

Guests included Miss McIlwain, honoree; Miss Daniel Carr, Mrs. Lansing Brown, Miss Marie Chinis, Mrs. William McGlaughon, Miss Mary Carr Southernland, Mrs. Nicholas Giechen, Mrs. Douglas Jewell, Mrs. Lloyd C. Allen, Jr., Mrs. George Tienken, and Miss Mary Wooten.

4-H Members Tour Manteo

Marry Wallace of the Pullen Bus company conducted a trip to Manteo and points of interest along the route. Members of the 4-H clubs, adult leaders and Extension Agent went to Manteo to attend the Lost Colony Pageant and hear the Westminster Choir. Enroute they visited the Old Edenton Court House and saw the famed old teapot. They visited the Wright Memorial at Kill Devil Hill, saw the old church and Fort Raleigh. They spent the night at the 4-H Club camp which was previously the Naval Air Base at that point.

Those who attended from Burgaw were: Frank Humphrey, Helen Bland, Jean Bordeaux, Shirley Thompson, Cliff Moore, Virginia Frederonka, Frank Bowen, Carl Wolfe, Barbara Carr, Grace Farrior, Teddy Carr, Jean Humphrey Stanley Farrior, Charlie Kendrick, Mrs. Bradford Hanchey, Mary Lee Burns, R. ## VFW Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, 2573, was held Monday evening in the Tide Water hall, Mrs. D. R. Langley presided.

A letter read by the president from the department auxiliary president asked that each auxiliary put on an extensive drive for membership during July. All eligible women are invited to become members.

A prize was presented to Mrs. J. W. McIntire for having secured the most members since April.

An auxiliary member from another city was reported to be in a local hospital, and auxiliary members were asked to visit her. It was reported that the way and means committee chairman Mrs. Caroline Sutton, will take orders for Wallace Brown Christmas cards, sold by the auxiliary.

Refreshments were served after adjournment of the business session.

Adult Group To Sponsor Melon Party

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Trilliums Easy to Grow in the Garden
Distributed by Central Press Association

Trilliums are among the most beautiful and showy of the wild flowers and are easy to grow in a wild flower garden. There are a number of handsome species, and the large blooms last for a considerable period.

If trilliums are desired in the home garden, the bulbs should be purchased in early fall from nurseries which specialize in them. Even though these gorgeous flowers are a temptation when found growing wild in the woods they should not be picked in the interest of conservation. The blossom stem of trillium grows from the energy stored in the bulb from the previous year. As the flower, stem and foliage fade, the bulb stores up plant food for the succeeding year. If the flowers are picked it will be many years before they bloom again.

Contrary to general belief, trilliums are not difficult. As their foliage dies after early blooming, it is suggested that they be planted among ferns whose foliage will cover the bare spots.

The Painted Trillium, one of the most beautiful, is illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. After it has bloomed it bears a scarlet fruit in late summer. The root of the trillium is short and fairly thick, as illustrated. The large flowered species, such as the Grandiflorum, should be planted six to eight inches deep. This type should be planted in shade or partial shade. Best planting time is early autumn. Cover over with a light mulch of leaves for the first winter.

No broad rules can be set down to meet the requirements necessary to the growth of wild flowers. Drainage is of utmost importance as most plant roots abhor "wet feet."
