OUTRANS DENIED

"The policy of housing Negroes at the University is determined by the Board of Trustees and the public sentiment of the community," and indicated that it didn't appear though it would be altered. He said that the conversion by saying that an international house, similar to one on the University of Chicago campus, which houses all races of students, has been proposed. Charles C. Henderson of North Carolina's construction department, and recently that Negroes are not on veterans' housing problem because it has no Negro veterans. He said he had been that at least 10 are attending summer sessions and living in cramped quarters in Evanston's Negro YMCA.

Edwin B. Jourdain, only Negro member of the Executive City Council, who for many years has fought Jim Crow set up at the heavily endowed institution, said he stands to see that NHA stand by its promise to withhold priorities which would be used for segregated housing.

Mississippi to vote." Speaking to obtain signatures of 10,000 Mississippians on a petition which will be sent to the senate to request that Bibbo be unfit to hold the high office of United States senator, the congress also is urging all Negro veterans of World War II to join the fight to oust fascism in this country just as they did in Japan and Germany.

Just prior to Mississippi's Democratic primary, James E. Jackson, SYNC director of special projects, spent several days in the state distributing leaflets that particularly urged veterans to vote. The leaflets carried a reminder: "We are the only who had Hitler bow, don't forget old Bibbo, just like Hitler's friend, Tojo, Bibbo, too has bowed."

Only 10 per cent of the population of voting age cast ballots in Mississippi, the congress declared, and it is a disgraceful record. It is a disgraceful record of the failure of the poll tax system and the out-right refusal of officials to permit Negroes to register and vote.

VET BEATEN, EYES GOGGED BY GEORGIA COPS

got to the door of the police station, he struck me again and knocked me unconscious. After I came to, he came to myself, he hollered, 'Get up, white boy, get up, get up.' He started beating me in my eyes with the end of his billy. I finally got up, and when I got up, he pushed me into the jail house and locked me up. I could still see for a few minutes as I can remember, because I was hardly conscious.

"A few minutes after he locked me up, he came in a third time my purse. He went back out and locked the door. I picked out a cot and lied down.

"A few minutes after he locked me up, he came in a third time my purse. He went back out and locked the door. I picked out a cot and lied down.

"I woke up the next morning and couldn't see. Someone brought me my breakfast to the bed. After that, a policeman came to the door and opened the door and told me to come out. He said, 'Let's go up here and see what the judge wants.' I told him that I was blind. He said, 'Feel your way out.' I did not make any move to come out, so he walked in and led me to a sink and told me to wash my face, and said that I would be all right after I washed my face. He then led me up to the judge, and the judge said to me, 'You were talking sand on the bus last night, weren't you?' So I said to him, 'No, sir,' and I told him what happened. After I told him what happened, he said, 'We don't have that kind of stuff down here. After he said that, the policeman spoke and said, 'He wrung my billy out of my hand, and I would drop him.' That is how I know it was the same policeman as had beat my eyes out.

"After that, the judge spoke and said, 'I fine you $50.00 or 30 days on the road.' I said that I could pay the $50.00 but I did not have the $50.00 at the time. So the policeman said, 'You have some money there in your wallet.' He took my wallet and took all I had out of it, which was a total of $10.00, and took $1.00 from my watch pocket. I had a check for $694.73, which was my military pay and soldier's deposit. He said to me, 'Can you see how to sign this check?' I told him, 'No, sir.' So he gave it back to me after that.

"He took me back and locked me up in the jail. I stayed in the jail for a few minutes and after a few minutes he came in and asked me if I wanted a drink of whiskey. I took a drink of whiskey. I could probably feel better. I told him, 'No, sir.' I did not care for any. He went and got some kind of eye medicine and came back and poured it in both my eyes. He went and got a hot towel and spread it across my head. I stayed there for the rest of the day until about 5:30 that evening. I could tell about what time it was because I asked a policeman and he told me it was late. I do not know if it was the same policeman. At that time he came in and got me and told me that 'We're going to take you to the hospital.' I did not hear anyone else in the room.

"He took me to the Veterans' Hospital in Columbia, S. C. When I got there, the doctor was not at the time, so he had me on a bench. A nurse took my name and asked me where I was from and everything, so I told her I was from Winnboro, S. C.

"The doctor came in and he questioned the policeman and asked him what was the matter. The policeman told him that I was raising a disturbance on the bus and drunk. The doctor asked the policeman was I drunk then, and he said no. So the doctor had an attendant carry me in a room, and the attendant undressed me and put me to bed.

"About 5 or 10 minutes after I was in the bed, the nurse came around and started giving me shots in my arm. 'One of the contract men came around one day and said to me they were going to take out a pension for me. I believe that the doctor who cared for me was named Dr. Claiborne. I told him what had happened to me. He made no comment, but told me I should join a blind school.

"I stayed in the hospital for two months. I went in on the 15th of February and came out on the 15th of April. My sisters were down there, they brought they discharged me while they came down there, they brought me back up to New York to my father's home in the Bronx, where I am still staying."

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, who was a war correspondent and special observer for the War Department

A Lifetime in Flames

Why take chances on burning up a lifetime's effort in a single terrifying hour when it's so simple to insure against any possible mishap. Your home and family can be absolutely protected from ANY disaster at but a few pennies a day. We'll show you how.

YOUR LOCAL AGENT
BANKERS FIRE INS. CO.
DURHAM, N. C.

visited Negro troops in both the European and Pacific theaters during World War II stated:

"For sheer bestiality and fascist terror the terrible story told by young Woodard is without parallel in all my experience. This man served his country for four years, fifteen months of that time in the South Pacific where he managed to live through and accept all of the horrors of jungle warfare only to return to what he had been told was a grateful nation. Here in the homeland he'd fought to guard protected by was given a taste of that gratitude by southern policemen who maimed him for life."

Dr. Chester W. Chinn, well-known eye specialist who examined Woodard's eyes at the request of the NAACP declared that there was absolutely nothing that medical science could do for the vet. "The boy's eyes are completely hopeless," stated Dr. Chinn.
