PERSONAL NOTES

Mrs. Melinda Vandergrift has gone to New York City to visit her children.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jeffries of 618 South East Street, honored their niece, Mrs. Joseph Darden of New York City by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, 415 East Cabarrus Street, on Friday evening, October 25th. Fifty guests enjoyed the occasion. Members of the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jeffries, the host and Mrs. T. J. Jones and the guest of honor. The house was beautifully decorated with fall cut flowers. Mrs. Mildred Keeney led the guests to the dining room where a delicious buffet supper was served. Immediately following the reception the bride and groom left for New York City. The bride is the former St. Clair Pitts.

OMEGAS TO SPONSOR NATIONAL NEGRO ACHIEVEMENT WEEK

RALEIGH — National Negro Achievement Week, November 3-10, will be observed locally by the local chapter of Omega Psi Phi fraternity. Several events have been planned in connection with the observance of Achievement Week. Arrangements have been made to present speakers at the chapel exercises of Shaw University, St. Augustine's College and Washington High School.

Through the courtesy of THE CAROLINIAN and radio station WRAL, a part of the radio program, "Negro News of the Week," will be devoted to the observance of Negro Achievement Week. M. D. Williams, Principal of the Crest-Garfield school and Basileus of Iota Iota chapter, will be speaker.

On Sunday evening, November 10, at seven-thirty, a public program will be presented at the Davie Street Presbyterian Church. Dr. Harry T. Penn of Roanoke, Va., one of the outstanding Negro leaders of this section, and a capable and versatile orator, will be the speaker for this occasion. Dr. Penn recently ran for City Councilman in Roanoke, Va., and barely missed becoming the first city elected Negro official in the South. Since his great fight for city councilmen, the demands for Dr. Penn's service as a speaker have been great.

Music for the occasion is being arranged by Mr. C. L. Williams.

Achievement Week Activities were worked out by the Public Relation Committee of Iota Iota chapter. Members of the committee are: Robert S. Turner, Chairman, F. P. Payne, L. C. Rivers, Charles Walker, S. G. Parham, C. L. Williams, and W. O. Yarborough.

4-H CLUBBERS HEAR ADDRESS BY HON. JOSEPHUS DANIELS

The Chapel was filled to capacity Wednesday morning by the Wake County 4-H Clubbers, teachers, farm agents and experienced farmers as Hon. Josephus Daniels pointed out the expanding opportunities which lie ahead for all—whether farmer or artisan. He urged the parents to learn in a practical way the things which the children had already demonstrated. He urged a training of the head and hand together to bring about startling effects in our social order. In a measure he referred to the glorious Roosevelt Era and the Alphabet Age stating it had changed the I. O. U. in farm language to F. S. A.—Farm Security Administration and that the F. S. A. had caused to flow in the coffers of North Carolina $12,000,000 to be used by tenants and sharecroppers to own farms and become more independent. All were urged to "Allow no person to do for me what I can do for myself."

Mr. Daniels was presented by Mr. John W. Goodman assistant director of the North Carolina State College Extension Service.

Misses Shirley Terry and Geraldine Thorpe of Apex 4-H Club and Edward Pretty and Calvin Dozier of Fletcher's Grove, gave outstanding performances in Waste Paper Salvaging and homemade paint respectively.

Practically all the 4H Clubs in the County were present.

Awards were made for the following achievements — Gardening, Cows, Poultry, Cotton Production, Pig and Pork Production, Sweet Potatoes, Room Improvements, Garden Improvements, Department during the short Courses, Tobacco, Corn, Food Preparation, Peanuts, Handicraft, Wild Life, Exhibition at State Fair and Jr. Cattle Show, held at the State Fair grounds, Sept 10, and Thrift.

Dean F. P. Payne offered a welcome to the 4H-ers from the University, while Rev. J. A. Nimmo Jr., offered the invocation. Mr. W. C. Cooper, 4H Club specialist of Greensboro, S. C. made a portion of the awards. The prizes from the Junior Cattle Show were presented by Mr. A. E. Brown, Raleigh District Manager for the North Carolina Mutual Life Ins. Co.

Dinner Time At Shaw Nursery—No parents should be worried about their children at the Shaw University Nursery School. The camera caught these two tables at the nursery during the mid-day meal showing the children well into their meal. Mrs. Irene C. Scales is the supervising teacher. Well balanced meals, rest periods, stories, music time, and numerous other routines at the nursery school day ends at 3 o'clock when parents come to take the children home.

Book Week Exhibit At St. Monica's School

The public is cordially invited to visit St. Monica's School on Sunday afternoon, November 3rd from 1:00 to four o'clock, to see our Book Week Exhibit.

Catholic Book Week is observed from November 3rd, to the 9th. The purpose of this observation is to acquaint the children and the public in general with Christian reading material. We know that there are thousands of books on the market today which should never be read by our youth or by the adult since we can read only a limited number of books during our life time, why not read the BEST? The reading of clean, interesting, and fascinating books is an inspiration to hundreds of Christian educators, thus the true Christian philosophy of life. Help us to make the theme of Catholic Book Week — "Pillars of Freedom — Christian Books" a reality by reading books which are written by Christian authors. A careful survey has been made by and as a result we have a varied selection of books which will give you hours of wholesome and intellectual recreation. Many of these excellent books can be obtained at the Richard B. Harrison Library.

JONESBORO NOTES

To the surprise of Miss Dessie M. Williams who was in the hospital for treatment, was Lee Snow friend, Mr. Paul Cheek of Ohio, whom she met the first week visiting hour to see her. While he was in the army he was in Japan, walked in the hospital on the first week visiting hour to see Miss Williams. Mr. Cheek, Mr. Jones, Miss Dessie Lucas and a friend of Mr. Cheek, all of Canton and Waynesboro, Ohio, also two children Miss Nigel Matthews and Mr. Julius Matthews from Carthage.

Miss Williams is now at home and doing fine.

Miss Bettie Lee Mercer who is a student of Mary Potter Academy, Oxford, for girls in Oxford, is now home convalescing from an illness that have kept her in bed for quite sometimes. We are hoping her a speedy recovery.

Rev. Mr. Bessie Bute of Washington, D. C. and formerly of Jonesboro, is spending a while with his mother, Mrs. Hannah Bute also of Jonesboro.

Rev. Mr. Bute has been away Night, November 4. The name of the from home for about seven years. His friends were very glad to see him.

Little Miss Pearl Jones, six year old daughter of our pastor is improving quite splendidly.

There will be a Halloween party at the Jonesboro School Friday night.

JOHNNIE'S desire to tinker with doorbells, radios, electric irons—may be the first expression of an inborn talent. A capacity for earning that should be encouraged.

Much progress has been made in integration of Negro workers in crafts and trades, and today there are more than 3,300 electricians. High wages and protective security more than compensate for time spent studying new techniques and obtaining professional efficiency.

Every year, thousands of potentially successful men and women are forced to quit school because an unexpected emergency may necessitate their supplementing the income of a widowed mother. Accumulated savings, intended for education and training, are quickly wiped out . . . and another bright boy or girl must turn to the low-pay "traditional" jobs.

Tragic? Yes, but it can be prevented by insuring the future now. Your N. C. Mutual underwriter will gladly show you how.
