NEW SOPRANO WELL RECEIVED AT A. AND T.

GREENSBORO—Elliabelle Davis, a comparative new-comer to the American concert stage, proved beyond a shadow of doubt that she belongs in the same bracket with such great exponents of vocal art as Paul Robeson, Marian Anderson and Dorothy Maynor when she won the hearts of her audience in a recital at A. and T. College last Wednesday night.

DRAMATIC VOICE

The gifted, young soprano's dramatic voice was strong and clear. Her enunciation and phrasing were flawless, and while her program was an unusually difficult one, the talented artist performed with an effortless poise that was in itself a thing of beauty. Miss Davis is really on her way up in the world of music, and from her concert at A. and T., it is easy to say that she is truly a singer of great promise.

Cooperation Pays ON A TELEPHONE PARTY LINE TOO

A telephone party line, like anything shared by two or more persons, serves most profitably and pleasantly when each person is considerate of the other.

Cooperation on a party line means:

- making sure the line is not in use before attempting a call
- allowing time between calls when you have several to make
- being brief
- yielding the line in case of emergency
- being sure the receiver is replaced when the telephone is not in use

Being a good neighbor in your use of the line invites the same consideration for you and makes the service better for all.

BEN FRANKLIN HELD THE KEY TO MODERN ELECTRICAL LIVING

(Born February 17, 1706)

C-R-R-R-A-S-H! That's the kind of noise that Ben Franklin heard when he tried his famous kite experiment in 1752. He proved that electricity by lightning and by friction were the same. His experiment kept enthusiasm high among the scientists who were studying electricity.

'Poor Richard' as Ben was called, would have been astounded at today's electrical miracles. Little did he dream that some day people would have me as their handy electric servant, always ready to do their bidding... for only a few pennies a day.

It is a far cry from Franklin's day to this, and it is a far cry from the way people used to do things, as compared with the ease with which they do them now—electrically.

All you have to do today is just Plug In—I'm Reddy.
