ESCAPES LYNCH MOB; INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Carrollton, Ga. (ANP) — The Carroll County Grand jury last week indicted Eddie Brown, 28-year-old farmer, in the slaying of George Andrew Boyd, 28-year-old white farmer, on June 27. Judge Samuel J. Boykin set the trial for July 24 with Solicitor General Luther M. Wyatt, of LaGrange, Ga., directing the prosecution.

The case involved national reaction after Brown was captured on June 29 when a mob formed at the county jail and demanded that the Negro be turned over for lynching.

Brown claimed upon interview that the slaying was accidental and that he was so frightened that he rolled Boyd's body into the river where both were fishing. Brown later took Boyd's car into Carrollton and traded it for another automobile before abandoning it near a creek. The death weapon, a shotgun, was recovered.

Petitions from over the nation have scored the holding of the trial at Carrollton, because of the increased racial tension in the area. Judge Boykin overruled a hearing on the charge when adequate protection for the prisoner was promised by the Georgia state patrol.

Houston (ANP) — The last will and testament of Mrs. Georgia H. Muldrew, late teacher at Wheatley High school, is being contested by her brother and sister, C. A. Brown and Mrs. Ettie L. Lamb. Hearing on the will comes up in court in September.

Charges made by the couple have thrown this city into an uproar as citizens denounce them for besmirching the name of their dead sister, who was head of the physical department of Wheatley for more than 20 years and who also headed the same department in the recreation department of the city. Loved and respected by every one, Mrs. Muldrew held a high place in the affection of citizens.

According to the provisions of the will, all premiums of her insurance policies, a considerable sum, her home and all the furniture go to A. B. Byers, a letter carrier. To Mrs. Green, a teacher also, Mrs. Muldrew left all her personal effects and her interest in property owned in Wood (Continued on page 8)

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NNPA) — The Justice Department said last Tuesday that the mass killing of eight prisoners and the wounding of five others at a Glynn County prison camp, near Brunswick, Georgia, July 11, is under "active consideration" by the Department.

This was the only comment the Justice Department would make but sources within the agency gave broad hints that the department has made considerable headway in investigating massacre.

GRIM, UNSMILING K. I. DELEGATION PRESENTS CHECK

By P. BERNARD YOUNG, Jr.

Aboskie, N. C. (NNPA) On a small team at the end of a winding, muddy, and gutted road near here, human decency at long last prevailed early Thursday afternoon when a grim and unsmiling delegation of Kiwanians presented a check to Harvey Jones, for $3,200 as a make-good gesture to the youth who won and then "lost" the Cadillac sedan offered as a prize in a contest by the Aboskie Kiwanis Club.

In only one stage of the event did any of the Kiwanians show pay cordiality toward the winner. When Dr. Charles W. Armstrong of Salisbury, N. C., president of the Kiwanis International, was introduced to Mr. Jones, he shook hands with the former Navy steward's mate.

HARNETT COUNTY HAD ITS INTERRACIAL EXPERIMENT WITH A DIFFERENT TWIST

By WILLEY A. "SCOOP" JOHNSON
Carolinian Managing Editor
As told by William Steele
After having read about the up state Negro and white children living together, playing together, eating together and sleeping together, William Steele of Harnett County, Box 2, Rt. 171 near here, walked into the office of the CAROLINIAN to cite his experiences about the mixing of the two races in these parts.

According to Mr. Steele, the son of his wife's sister, Linwood Larris by name, age 12, resides with his mother in Baltimore, but comes to Harnett County to spend the summer with his aunt and uncle (The Steele's). Linwood has a playmate in Baltimore, a white boy whose name is William Waybright, age 10. Mr. Steele says these two youngsters have been playmates ever since they have been old enough to know each other. They too, play together, eat together and sleep together many nights, in Baltimore, of course. He says these two boys are almost inseparable. One seldom sees one without seeing the other. A modern young demon and Pythian.

STRENGTH TO KILL FILIBUSTER

In commenting on the House action, Mrs. Sarah H. d'Avila, Executive of the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax pointed out that this is the fourth time that the bill has passed the House by an overwhelmingly favorable vote. Each time a Senate filibuster has killed it. "In this Senate the Republicans together with Northern Democrats who have always stood by the bill have enough strength to break any filibuster. I am gratified at Senator Wherry's statement of support. I feel sure that the Senate can once and for all end the abomination of poll tax as a prerequisite of voting in federal elections," she said.

WASHINGT. — The measure Mr. Bender expressed belief that the 80th Congress will have the honor of enacting this legislation and restoring the constitutionally guaranteed right of representative government to all citizens of the United States.

Came this year for Linwood to spend his annual vacation in Harnett County with his aunt and uncle, Little William Waybright wanted to accompany him. He had never been south of Baltimore.
