LAZARUS REALLY DEAD THIS TIME

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — Lazarus, the headless rooster, is now a part of the past. The fowl, who lived 19 days and 2 hours minus his head, will be stuffed and exhibited in the church of his owner and benefactor, Mrs. Martha Green.

When death came to Lazarus, who was first known as Butch, last Friday, Mrs. Green threw up her hands and cried: "Praise God! Lazarus has not been deprived of life by human hand. The Lord has taken him."

Quite ironically, when the headless rooster's end came two city animal regulation inspectors were at Mrs. Green's home to order him destroyed and a crowd of neighbors had gathered to protest. Lazarus had been strutting around during the proceedings but all of a sudden he stopped and hung his neck and died.

Mrs. Green said, "I got down on my knees and prayed. I prayed for America. I know God put that rooster into the world and let him live for a purpose. I prayed that God might forgive us for what we had done."

The Los Angeles house wife bought the rooster at the market April 2, a short time after his head had been cut off. She was astounded when he stood and tried to crow as she was about to clean him in the kitchen sink. He was kept alive by being fed milk and other light food through an eye dropper.

KAPPAS ESTABLISH FIRST MISS. UNIT

ALCORN, Miss. (ANP) — The Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity established its first undergraduate chapter in Mississippi at Alcorn A. and M. College here recently. It initiated 15 new members.

C. A. Ladner, polemarch of the southwestern province, presided at the meeting. Also speaking at the ceremony was Billy Burnell, a fraternity member of Houston, Texas.

Charter members of the new chapter are Sidney S. Boose, Osber Hicks, N. Jones, P. Robinson, Roscoe Pickett, Edward Steele, Riley Williams, John H. Jefferson, Eldridge Jones, Charles Hunter, J. Gilmore, John C. Berry, G. Ulmer, C. Carter, and Henry C. Pinkney. The chapter's advisors are M. S. Ray, B. V. Johnson and Lt. C. Dickson.

Aims, Problems Of Press Told At Publishers Meet

NEW YORK — (ANP) — The aims and problems of the Negro press were described before a session of the American Newspaper Publishers association's convention in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel here last week. Making the talk was Thomas W. Young, president of the National Newspaper Publishers association and the Guide Publishing company in Norfolk, Va.

Young pleaded for closer relations between the two bodies, often that was well received by the ANPA members. In his address, he recalled that the Negro press dated back 122 years to the first Negro paper in the country, "Freedom's Journal," founded by John Russwurm in New York. He said that the press now numbers 134 weeklies and one daily.

"Today our papers consider that a major purpose for their being is to protest and expose every condition inconsistent with the democratic concepts we all treasure," he said.

A second function is to report the news, good and bad, of peculiar interest to colored persons, much of which is ignored, incompletely recorded or sometimes distorted by the general press.

"A third purpose is to inspire members of this minority groups to higher aims and greater deeds by heralding accomplishments of Negro individuals, groups and institution, and by publicizing the good deeds of that increasing number of people of good will, both north and south."

He pointed out that although Negro insurance companies do the greatest volume of business and represent the largest capital investment of Negroes, the Negro press is the biggest manufacturing or producing business actively conducted by Negroes.

He closed with a plea for closer ties between the two newspaper organizations.

"Our belief is that if this closer relationship and exchange could be achieved, the Negro press would be better able not only to fulfill its own mission, but also to make a more worthwhile contribution to the maintenance of a free American press and to its wholesome development."

Sweet potatoes are an important source of raw material for starch manufacture.

NIGERIAN FARMERS FORMING UNON

ALEGE, Nigeria (ANP) — The Nigerian Farmers' union called a mass meeting here recently of all farmers and all others interested in farming.

Questions discussed were the operations of the Nigerian Cocoa Marketing board, 1949-50 cocoa prices, the swollen shoot disease which is affecting many cocoa trees, prices of palm kernels, palm oil, pepper, rice and other products. Also, the attitude of some European firms towards the farmers, the trade guard, banking facilities for farmers, and the wages which may be demanded by the peasant union of farm laborers.

Curly Head In Minutes

With the coming of Spring, the trend in hair-styling is toward a short, softly curled, simple hairdo suitable for life in the great outdoors. Today this is easily accomplished at home with the new fast-curl capsules. The capsule is dissolved in a glass of water into which the comb is dipped, then combed through the hair before setting in pin curls. No previous curling is necessary. Here a charmer views her "Curly Head," the result of her efforts with one of these quick, new home hairdressing aids.

DAR HEAD RAPS ANTI-BIAS BILL

By SAMUEL F. PERRY III

BOSTON, Mass. (ANP) — One of the curious statements made during the public hearings on the legislative bill to prevent discrimination in education was that of Mrs. Ever natural Upton, regent of the local Daughters of the American Revolution.

In a legislative report at the concluding session of the DAR's annual 55th State Conference, Miss May Blake, regent of the Bunker Hill chapter, stated emphatically that the educational anti-discrimination bill was vicious.

The viciousness of the bill, in the language of Miss Blake, was due to the fact that "it falsely claims when members of minority groups have failed to pass entrance examinations that the opportunity for general education and professional, business and skilled careers are denied them by private institutions because of race, religion, color, or national origin. Perhaps the recent statement of the Duke expelling the refusal of several student to accept DAR awards in past years."

SHAW GRAD PAYS 41-YEAR OLD LOAN

A letter and a check received by Shaw University this week from one of its graduates, paying with interest a loan of $35.00 made to him forty one years ago, demonstrates the worthiness which the current United Negro College fund drive emphasizes.

The check was made for $149.80 "to pay the note with interest at the rate of eight percent." The debt had long been forgotten by the school but not by Dr. Edward S. Portis of Albany, Georgia.

Dr. Portis' letter stated, "In the year I was graduated from Leonard Medical School of Shaw University, I ran short of funds before the close of school. President Meserve arranged a loan of $35.00 for me, which I am now repaying."
