Advertisement for FOLSOM COMMUTES TAYLOR SENTENCE. Text: 'FOLSOM COMMUTES TAYLOR SENTENCE MCGILL, Ala. — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People learned this week that Governor James E. Folsom has commuted the sentence of Samuel Taylor, Negro youth convicted for the rape of a white woman from death to life imprisonment. The NAACP carried the Taylor case on appeal to the United States Supreme Court, asking reversal of the decisions of Alabama courts on grounds that Taylor was beaten by police and coerced into confessing to the crime in a 4-1 per curiam decision, the 10th court affirmed the decisions of the Alabama District and Circuit Courts. An NAACP petition requesting hearing of the case by the Supreme Court was denied by that body. Cash receipts from farm markets for the first four months of 1949 totaled a little less than last year. Quality of products marketed was up but prices were down. Alabama's farm population has decreased by about 10 per cent in the past 18 years.
