TEEN-AGE TOPICS

The Fourth of July was a day of fun and enjoyment with most of the boys and girls in Goldsboro. Every one tried to go to some beach, lake or some recreational place in order to get a little cooling off for a few minutes.

Some took time out and went to Kingston to hear Buddy Johnson and his orchestra. Others just stayed home and took life easy in the back yard. Well, we are glad to know all enjoyed the day and came home without an accident.

Miss Dolly Best is spending some friends. Col. Earl Jackson has retired in Wilson with relatives and enlisted in the Air Force and is now stationed in San Antonio, Texas. Well, Miss Rutha Heath is not so full of smiles nowadays. The summer playgrounds at Greatland School, North Goldsboro, and School Street School, Little Washington section will get under way on Tuesday, July 5, with hours 9 to 12 in the morning and 3 to 6 in the evening.

E. A. Thornton will be supervisor of the playgrounds with two workers at each playground. Mrs. Elizabeth Powell and family, Donald, Earle, Joyce, and Walter, Jr. of Washington, D. C. are visiting Mrs. Powell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. King Jones at 503 Alvin Street.

"Give me a tub I can splash in," smiles this happy tot. He's in mommy and daddy's tub and can splash to his heart's content, the National Patent Council reports, because of a recently patented "tub-a-tot" that keeps him from slipping down under the water. He sits in a harness held by suction cups that may be attached anywhere inside the tub. His mommy can sponge him with one hand and hold the soap in the other without danger of Hugo squirming out of control.

NDA HEAD URGES ENACTMENT OF U. S. HEALTH BILL

Testifying before a Senate subcommittee on health last week, Dr. Charles M. Thompson, National Dental Association legislative chairman, placed the Association on record as endorsing the administration sponsored health measures now pending in the U. S. Congress.

Calling President Truman's proposed health legislation the most comprehensive of such measures to come before the Congress, Dr. Thompson noted that S-1679, HR-4312 and HR-4313 would afford a high quality health service for the people of the United States. These bills are currently being considered by committees in the Senate and House.

In a discussion following his formal presentation, the Chicago dentist was commended by the Senate subcommittee for his recommendation that Federal government take precautionary steps to prevent curtailment of medical and dental training in the nation. He pointed out to the committee that after the first war many institutions expanded their facilities, at great expense, only to lose trainee-atten-tioned its assistance to former GIs.

Dr. Thompson advised the committee that his organization favors a national health insurance plan and a public health program which take into consideration the needs of all citizens, irrespective of race, religion or any condition of life. The NDA representative especially urged the committee to incorporate the strongest possible minority safeguards into any bill that it reports.

The NDA's legislative chairman will give a full report on Congressional health bills at the 36th annual convention of the National Dental Association which is to be held August 8 to 12 at Kansas City, Missouri.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

NEW YORK (ANP)—With the Daily News reminding on its 30th birthday, one of the "now it can be told" incidents is worth repeating. First called the Illustrated Daily News, the name didn't click and the publishers cast about for a real name. Uptown at 135 West 135th street, George W. Harris was publishing a weekly, the NEW YORK NEWS. This was what the new paper wanted.

So dickering began with Harris and various sums were proffered him for outright sale of that coveted name. Sums reported ranging from $5,000 to $25,000 were offered the doughty Harvard graduate, who stood firm and refused to part with the name—at any price.

Consequently, the new paper became the Daily News—and prospered, while Harris' sheet faded—eventually being gobbled up by Father Divine. Much advertising for the daily paper found its way to the Harlem publication through mistaken addressing causing embarrassment and inconvenience all around.
