Alleged 'Racket King' Injured In Show-down

TWIN CITIAN

Nathaniel Foy Comes Out Second Best In
Sunday Morning Fight

WINSTON-SALEM — Nathaniel Foy, alleged local "racket king" was critically injured in a gun fight here last Sunday morning and at CAROLINIAN press-time was waging a gallant fight for his life at the Kate Bittling Reynolds Memorial Hospital.

The fight, which took place in the 1400 block of North Cherry Street, was reportedly staged between Foy and Woodrow Wilson Fowler, who is also being treated at a local hospital for injuries sustained in the battle, which turned the block into a "second front" as local residents prepared to attend Sunday morning services.

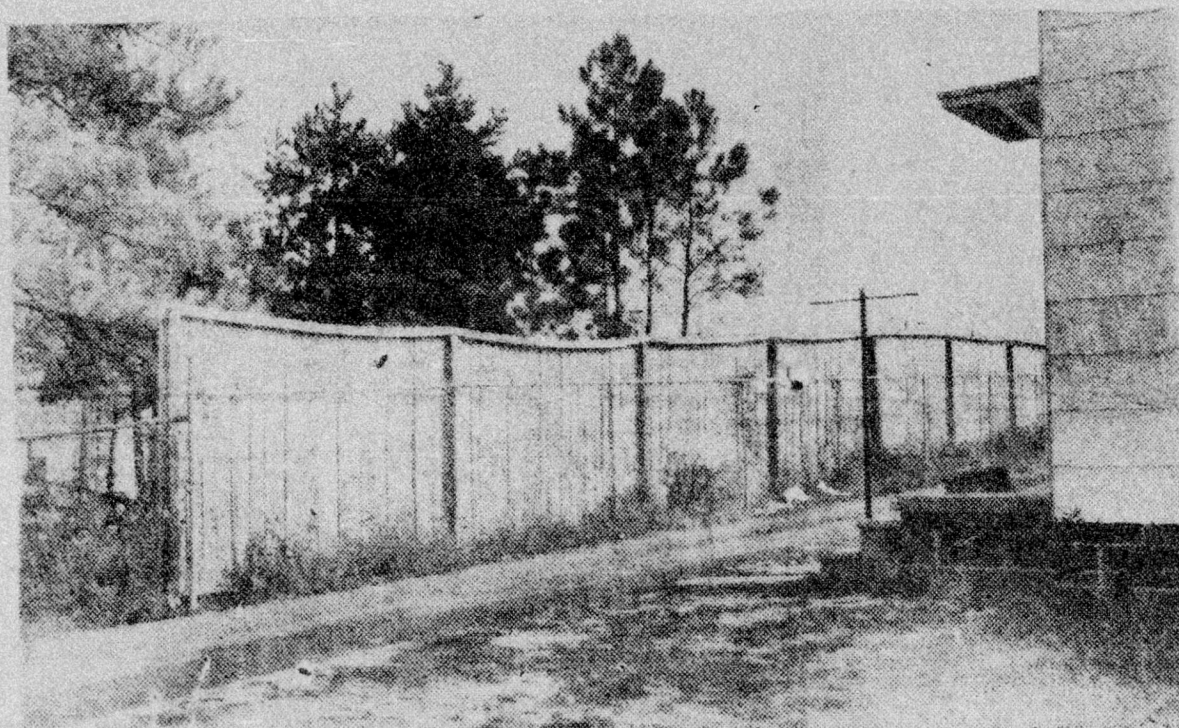

ARRESTED 70 TIMES
Foy, who is said to rule as a "racket" top man here, has been arrested 70 times in the past 22 years, police records show, and has been imprisoned on charges ranging from bootlegging to assault.

Cause of the argument which led to the gun battle in which Foy received grave injuries and Fowler sustained bullet wounds in the neck, head and body could not be determined.

Foy, whose appearance and demeanor belie the fact that he has spent a major portion of

RALEIGH -- A CITY OF FENCES

THIS ONE STILL STANDS—After court action this week ordered the removal of one "spite fence" in Raleigh, the one pictured above, placed between the new Washington Terrace Project for Negroes and the Longview Garden development for white habitation, still stands with the possibility of action being staged for its removal. Wake County Tax Collector C. C. Rich was ordered to alter a nine-foot fence built between his property and that on Mrs. Virginia Peebles to a 3-foot height in keeping with a city ordinance after action had been taken to have the monstrous obstruction removed. A complication involving rental-ownership ordinances make action on the above fence improbable.

Two Cities Studying Cost Of Hiring First Negro Firemen

WINSTON-SALEM — Winston-Salem, like Durham, is faced with the conclusion that employment of Negro firemen would be prohibitively expensive proposition, according to figures submitted this week by the local City Manager, C. E. Perkins, city manager, declared in a report submitted to the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen here that a minimum of $12,294 would be needed if Negro firemen were employed in a single station of the local Department.

While the contention both in Durham and in Winston-Salem is that the $10 to $12,000 and upward figure is prohibitive, it is noted in Negro circles that the amounts are comparative "drops in the bucket" compared to the service the first race firemen employed and their successors would render. In many cases, the amounts needed to employ three to four Negro firemen is much less than that now paid high-ranking city officials. This report, similar to one filed a year ago in Durham, is based on the expenses to be encountered should these cities decide to employ Negro firemen and train them in the segregated quarters which

Family Trouble

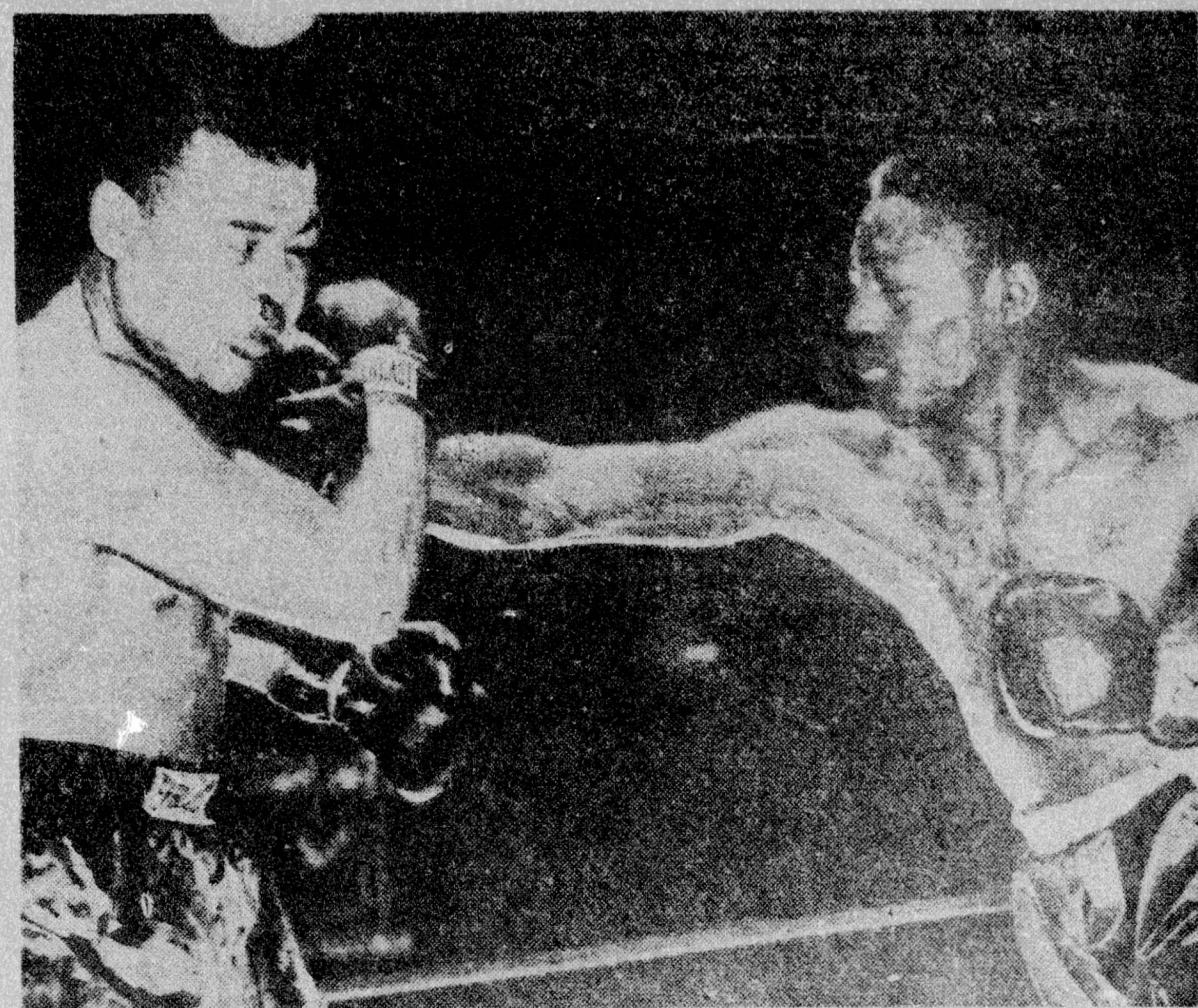

SANFORD — An argument over a car owned by Mrs. Evelyn McCant and staged between Mrs. McCant's husband, Harry, and her father, Grant Watson, led to the slaying of the father-in-law and the bloodhounds on the trial of the son-in-law.

He Was Real Mad

GREENVILLE — All they said when they heard about the arrest of John Frank Green, 21, this past week-end for the murder of his wife, Victoria, 17, was "he must have been real mad." The reason everyone is concluding Green was angry is because he used an ice-pick, a hammer and a glass bottle in the assault. The variety would have been accepted, perhaps, had it not been for the fact that the victim had six holes in her scalp, presumably made by the hammer; 24 ice pick wounds, known to have been made by the ice-pick; and five cuts, presumably made by the bottle.

Green is being held for trial in the next session of the Pitt County Superior Court.

THEY NEVER COME BACK

"THE END OF AN ERA": The Brown Bomber Joe Louis who made an unsuccessful attempt to regain the crown takes it on the chin from Ezzard Charles, who walked off with the heavyweight championship at a 15-round bout at Yankee Stadium. In the ring's most dramatic fight since Gene Tunney outpointed Jack Dempsey, 34 years ago, the 35-year old Cincinnati boxer won the crown by acclamation.

NAACP Prexy's
Protest Honored

CHARLOTTE — A protest lodged here earlier this week bore fruit on Wednesday when School Superintendent E. H. Garinger announced that white school children would not be allowed to accept free passes to the Southern States Fair. These passes had been offered exclusively to white children in total disregard to Negro children here.

A protest was entered by Kelly Alexander, president of the NC State Branch NAACP, who termed the action "dis-

RALEIGH — The State Highway Commission this week voted in executive session to set up a rehabilitation center for Negro youth at the Goldsboro State Hospital. The center, similar to the one now being utilized for white youth at Camp Butler, N. C. should be ready for occupancy during November. It has been stated.

ALL NEGRO STAFF
An outstanding feature of the proposed Goldsboro center is that the facility will be staffed entirely by Negroes with the single exception of the executive head. Scheduled to be employed at the center are teachers of colleges and university level as well as doctors

ST. AUGUSTINE'S TEACHER TO DO WORK ON CANCER

RALEIGH — Dr. Harold Trigg, president of St. Augustine's College announced here this week that a year's leave of absence had been granted a member of the St. Augustine's faculty to allow him to do cancer research work. According to the announcement, Fred W. West, Jr., professor of Chemistry, is to engage in cancer research work at the famed George Washington Carver Foundation in Tuskegee, Ala. under a $10,000 grant from the Daymon Runyon Cancer Foundation of New York.

Professor West is a graduate of Hampton Institute and holds an M.S. degree from The Carver DURHAM — For the first time in several decades a charge of horse stealing was heard by a local court this week when 17-year-old Winifred Evans was convicted of stealing a valuable saddle horse from Faircloth Farms and was bound over to a higher court under a $500 bond.

Young Evans told the Recorder's Court judge who heard the case that he had been in an argument with his father and had decided to leave home and go to Raleigh where he would sell the horse.

New School

ROXBORO — The new Person County High School for Negroes opened here Monday with an enrollment of 400 students. It was announced this week by R. B. Griffin, superintendent of county schools.

The new school is fire-proof throughout and is of modern design. When completed, it will have cost an estimated $200,000. George L. Harper RALEIGH — Barriers sustaining Negroes from using city-owned and operated Devereaux Meadow Field and Stadium fell with a resounding crash here this week when the local Board of Education voted 4 to 2 to allow an all-Negro attraction use of the field on Thursday night, October 12. The Meadow is administered by the Board on which Attorney F. J. Carnage is the only Negro member.

The action of the Education Board, meeting in executive

FAMILY REUNION: Mrs. Ruth Stevens, holding her one month old son, Jesse, a North Carolina widow, who came to New York to find work and couldn't remember the address of the rooming house, where she left her six children, is reunited with her brood again. Warren Hull, who conducts the CBS "Strike It Rich" program brought the family together after a two-day separation in the big city. Mrs. Stevens had one dollar left on arrival, but walked off with $500 during the broadcast reunion.

ROBERT S. JERVAY PLACE—Above is an artist's sketch of a unit of the new 250-unit Negro housing project to be erected on the southside of Wilmington.

Covering a four-block area, the development will be one of the most beautiful and modern to be found anywhere. It will cost approximately $2,000,000. Nearly 1,000 persons will be housed there. Name for R. S. Jervay, late Negro printer and newspaper publisher, the choice of a name is viewed by many as recognition of the high character the honoree and of the field in which he operated. — Photo Courtesy Wilmington Housing Authority.
